HYDE PUTS FIVE COMMITTEEMEN IN BEST PAYING JOBS

In Addition to This the Republican State Chairman Was Appointed State Bank Commissioner.

RECORD IS WITHOUT PARALLEL IN STATE

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—The Hyde administration, which came into power on a pledge of abolishing "peanut politics" in governmental affairs in Missouri, is establishing a record heretofore unparalleled in Missouri State affairs in placing in the best-paying jobs the members of the party's State political committee.

To a large extent, the present Republican State Committee members were chosen by Gov. Hyde, who, as the nominee for Governor, was given free rein in practically all districts in the selection of the committeemen. They were Hyde men, and now the Governor is rewarding them.

Five Committeemen Get Jobs.

In past administrations it has been the custom for two or three members of the committee to be appointed to State offices or to minor jobs in State offices. Gov. Hyde, who has been in office less than six months and who up to this time has not had the opportunity of filling many State jobs, has appointed five. They are:

Marr J. Foster of the Fifth District, to be chairman of the Kansas City Board of Police Commissioners at a salary of $3600 a year.

T. J. Hedrick of Buckner, Fifth District, State Warehouse Inspector at a salary of $4500 a year.

L. H. Breuer of Rolla, Sixteenth District, secretary of the Public Service Commission at a salary of $3600 a year.

Mrs. Alice Curtice Moyer Wing of Greenville, Thirteenth District, State Industrial Inspector at a salary of $2500 a year.

In addition to these the Governor, as one of the first acts of his administration, appointed J. G. Hughes of Macon, then chairman of the State Committee, to the position of State Bank Commissioner at a salary of $4500 a year. Hughes has since resigned from the chairmanship of the committee, though the Governor publicly stated he could see no reason why he should resign, and in fact caused Hughes to withhold his resignation for several months.

Hyde's Campaign Promises.

In his campaign for Governor, Hyde, in nearly every speech he made, charged that the Democratic administrations of the past had been characterized by "peanut politics." He declared that efficiency had been subordinated in the public service and that politicians had been rewarded for political services with public jobs. He promised to change the system, and to make efficiency, instead of politics the basis for appointments.

State Senator Receives Salary as Inspector Under Blue-Sky Law.

State Senator W. T. Robinson of La Plata has been enabled to receive $1100 in salary in the last three months, through the blue-sky division of the State Banking Department. In addition, Robinson has been paid $602 in expense money during that period.

The blue-sky department is under the direction of Bank Commissioner Hughes. Hughes is from Macon. Robinson is from La Plata, in the same county. Robinson was chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and was a staunch supporter of the Governor's consolidation job bills, among which was the finance bill, consolidating a number of departments under Hughes as Bank Commissioner, and increasing the salary of that job.

When a corporation desires to market securities in Missouri it has to obtain a permit from the blue sky supervisor, and if he is unacquainted with the company and its condition the Bank Commissioner may require the applicant to pay for an examination by a person chosen by the Commissioner. This examiner, under custom of the department, is paid $35 a day and expenses and the applicant is required to put up the cash with Hughes before the examination.

Early in Hughes' tenure as Commissioner, William D. Smith of Carrollton, for a time executive clerk to Gov. Hyde, made one trip for the department to Minneapolis, and George Wagner, a member of the Re-

ORDERS YELLED BY PARROT AND OWL'S WHISTLES JAM TRAFFIC

Calling of "Not So Fast—Go Slow—Stop" From Tree Confusing to Auto Drivers in Chicago Suburb.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 14.—All during Sunday, when thousands of automobiles were rushing through Evanston, a suburb, the drivers were disconcerted by orders from an unseen source. "Not So Fast—Go Slow—Stop."

Traffic was jammed for blocks, while irate chauffeurs sought to find the reason for the snarl. Finally the Chief of Police dispatched his reserves to solve the mystery. They found swinging in a tree a parrot, which was issuing the orders, while in a neighboring tree a pet owl was whistling, with the result that motorists were at a loss which order to obey.

After chasing the parrot and owl from their perches, the officers rounded up an organ grinder who had trained his monkey to climb into windows and pass out articles of value. The police intercepted the animal as it was descending with a valuable vase and a la vaillere it had stolen from a bedroom.

BROCKMAN SHOWS WHY HE HOLDS UP TWO POLICE BILLS

Cites Single Job Where Plumber and Contractor Both Ask for Operating Costs and Profit, $1092.59.

FINDS DISCREPANCY IN MATERIAL REPORT

Also Opposes Fees for 'Supervision' of Soulard Street Work When Inspector Is Paid Salary.

Philip H. Brockman, purchasing member of the Police Board, today made public itemized accounts to show why he is holding up payment of bills amounting to approximately $15,000 for repairs and alterations in police stations authorized by his predecessor, Thomas J. Sheehan.

The bills in question were those of P. J. Moynihan, a building contractor of 1916 Olive street, and the Dickie Construction Co., Syndicate Trust Building.

Moynihan's bill was presented to the Police Department March 11 and was for $4869.15. It was itemized as follows:

For labor and materials making alterations at the Seventh Street Station, Grand and Magnolia avenues, as per orders—
Iron work—Pauly Building Co.	$ 515.50
Sheet metal—Fred Harsch Sheet Metal Co.	34.00
Hardware, Schroeter Bros.	24.30
Lumber—Stephen J. Gavin Lumber Co.	152.61
Plumbing—A. A. Zertanna.	$102.54
Carpenters' labor, 41 days	410.00
Nails.	3.50
Liability insurance	24.30
	4426.50
Builders' profit—10 per cent.	442.65
Total.	$4869.15

Produces Plumber's Bill.

"It will be observed," said Commissioner Brockman, in commenting on the bill, "that Moynihan, in addition to charging the Police Department for liability insurance which he carries as protection for himself, charged a builders' profit of 10 per cent. Well, just look at this bill to Moynihan from Zertanna, who did the plumbing work, which comprised nearly two-thirds of the work in Moynihan's contract."

Zetanna's bill was accompanied by the following statement, dated Feb. 28:

A. A. Zertanna, registered sanitary plumber, 4237 Manchester avenue, to P. J. Moynihan.

Plumbing	$2452 60
Operating cost, 15 pct.	367 89
Profit, 10 pct.	282 05
Total	$3102 54

"You see," said Commissioner Brockman, "Zertanna charges 25 per cent for operating cost and profit on his work and Moynihan adds 10 per cent for his own profit. In other words, they want the Police Department to pay them 35 per cent, or $1092.59 for operating cost and profit. I'm not going to stand for it. Zertanna purchased his own supplies on the job and I presume that is what he refers to as operating cost. As a matter of fact, the supplies have not been paid for yet. Why didn't Moynihan, as the contractor, buy the supplies? What has Moynihan done to earn his 10 per cent profit except to try to collect this bill?

"Another thing I want to call attention to is the fact that Moynihan, in this bill, charged $10 a day for carpenters' work. He charged $410 for 41 days' work. That is according to the union scale of wages, but in nine other bills for carpenter work aggregating $478 he charged for the labor at the rate of $2 an hour. That is what I call inconsistency.

Letters of Sheehan Quoted.

"When Moynihan called on me to find out why I had not OK'd his bill I questioned him as to his authority for charging a 10 per cent profit, and he produced a letter showing that my predecessor, Police Commissioner Sheehan, had directed that he handle the contract on a percentage basis. I consulted the files and found copies of six letters sent out between Jan. 11 and Feb. 1 by James Maddock, the former Superintendent of Supplies, informing them that Sheehan, who was then acting purchasing member of the Police Board, had directed that work had been done on a percentage basis."

FIRST TASTE OF ICE CREAM STARTS IMMIGRANT FIGHT

Negro and Balkan Rub It on Each Other's Faces and Other Diners Try It That Way First.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Immigrant struggles with American food on Ellis Island reached a climax when Commissioner Wallis introduced ice cream to the 1700 diners last Sunday.

The first persons served were a Balkan native and a negro from East India. The negro liked it. He saw that the Balkan had a bigger piece, and he grabbed for it. The fight began. The faces of both got well smeared with cream.

Other diners, finding the cream cold, decided the stunt was to smear the ice cream on one another's faces. Several did this.

Then someone else tasted the ice cream, and, with a whoop, announced it was manna too precious to be wasted on countenances. The head steward said the same thing in eight languages. The face smearing ceased.

But the real genius of the meal took up his knife and a piece of bread and spread the new "butter" tenderly over it, and then all the rest enjoyed their ice cream that way.

Since Sunday the immigrants have liked ice cream so well that the steward now holds it back until the meat and potatoes are eaten, otherwise the ice cream is eaten first with considerable rioting.

A few months ago, when sugar was introduced, the first person to get the bowl took so much that he was mobbed. For many of the diners it was the first taste of sugar. Commissioner Wallis settled this difficulty by distributing two cubes of sugar apiece, wrapped in paper.

KABER'S SILVER FOUND IN HOME OF ACCUSED WOMAN

Plate Which Mrs. Kaber Said Was Stolen by Burglars Night of Murder Taken From Fortune Teller.

IDENTIFICATION OF KILLER IS EXPECTED

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 14.—Silverware, declared by Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber to have been stolen on the night her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, was murdered, today was in the possession of County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton. It was recovered last night from the home of a woman fortune teller, who said it was placed there by Mrs. Kaber three days before Kaber was stabbed to death two years ago by alleged hired assassins. Mrs. Kaber, her mother, Mrs. Mary Brickel; her daughter, Marion McArdle, and Mrs. Erminia Colavito, a midwife, are under indictment for first degree murder in connection with Kaber's death.

The finding of the silverware is declared by Prosecutor Stanton to be among the most important developments of the case thus far, as Mrs. Kaber has said it was stolen by the murderer of her husband.

Daughter's Story.

Miss McArdle was said to have told officers, following her arrest in New York, that her mother removed the silverware after Miss McArdle had pried open the buffet door.

Another important development in the opinion of Prosecutor Stanton is an alleged statement by the daughter of the fortune teller that she was in Mrs. Kaber's home when Mrs. Kaber gave a diamond ring and a watch which belonged to her husband to a man as part payment of a fee he claimed for committing the murder.

The fortune teller and her daughter corroborated a previous statement of Mrs. Colavito that Mrs. Kaber had given them an envelope containing $500. This, they said, Mrs. Kaber directed be given to Mrs. Colavito, who was to pay the assassins.

Identification of Slayer Forecast.

They also declared, Prosecutor Stanton said, that they could identify the men who actually did the killing, and who, they declare, frequently called at their home and threatened their lives unless they induced Mrs. Kaber to pay them $5000, which it is alleged was the price agreed on. Identification could be made, they said, of one of the men by a finger, the top of which was bitten by Kaber in the struggle when he was stabbed.

An automobile being held by the police was identified by the fortune teller as the property of one of the men for whom the police are searching.

Neither Mrs. Kaber nor Miss McArdle were present during yesterday's questioning of the fortune teller, her daughter, son and son-in-law. It was the first time since Mrs. Kaber's arrest in New York a week ago that she has not been submitted to a grilling.

Mrs. Colavito is to be arraigned today before Judge Maurice Bernon in Criminal Court on the murder indictment.

A temporary injunction was issued yesterday by Judge Powell, restraining Mrs. Kaber and Miss McArdle from disposing of their rights in property left them by the will of Daniel Kaber. The action was taken on petition of attorneys representing Moses Kaber, father of the murdered man.

FRENCH SENATOR WANTS TO KNOW WHEN EX-KAISER WILL BE TRIED

Date for Discussion of Question to Be Set When Briand Is Present.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 14.—Senator Dunplantier put before the French Senate today an interpellation of "what measures the French Government intends to take concerning execution of the treaty of Versailles relative to bringing William Hohenzollern, ex-Kaiser of Germany, to trial for his crimes against humanity."

The Senator asked that a date for discussion of his interpellation be fixed immediately.

Amid a tremendous tumult Alexandre Berard, who was presiding over the Senate, ruled that a date for the interpellation could not be decided until Premier Briand was present.

HYDE SAYS: "TELL WIDE WORLD MILLER WILL STAY"

St. Louis Legislators, Including One Taken in Poker Game Raid, Said to Demand That Police Board Head Be Ousted.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—Gov. Hyde, when asked by the Post-Dispatch today for a statement about rumors that Republican politicians were demanding that he ask for the resignation of Victor J. Miller as President of the St. Louis Police Board, said:

"There is no shadow of foundation for any report that I am about to remove Miller as chairman of the Police Board. Just tell the wide and waiting world there is nothing to it, for me, please."

Legislators Oppose Miller.

Members of the St. Louis delegation in the State Legislature, who are in attendance at the special session which began today, are said to have arrived with an expressed determination to "get rid of Miller." One of the most outspoken of these is Representative Razovsky. Another who dislikes Miler's methods is Representative Maurice Rothschild, who was one of the 10 politicians arrested in a raid at the Claridge Hotel in St. Louis June 4 when playing poker there.

Some of the St. Louis legislators are said to entertain the opinion that Miller's policies will make it impossible for the Governor to obtain further political honors, in the event he desired them. As a bludgeon over the Governor they have been talking about deserting the administration forces in carrying out the Governor's good roads program.

Says Protection Was Sought.

In a speech to the members of the Kiwanis Club at the American Annex last Thursday, Miller said he and the other members of the board were hampered considerably by threats when they went in. He said: "Men said they would look up our 'records,' but they could not find them. Business men of both political faiths wanted us to protect certain vice and gambling. We said to them just one thing, but that was enough."

SENATE DEMOCRATS TRY IN VAIN TO ROUSE REPUBLICAN IRE

Criticism of Administration, Taken as Challenge to Political Debate, Goes Unanswered.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Senate Democrats today launched at the Republican side what was regarded generally as a concerted effort to force a general political debate, but failed o draw a counterattack.

For more than an hour, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi belabored the Republicans for what he characterized as failure to get together; for the refusal of the majority in the House to accept the Knox peace resolution, and with charges of extravagance and failure to keep campaign pledges to reduce taxes.

While Senator Harrison spoke, Senator Underwood and others from the Democratic side of the chamber interrupted with questions by which they sought to emphasize his arguments.

Republican Senators listened to the arraignment but did not reply. When Senator Harrison had finished his attack on the majority in Congress he then turned to President Harding and attacked the recent appointment of Scott C. Bone as Governor of Alaska, making similar reference to A. D. Lasker, newly appointed chairman of the Shipping Board.

SENATOR WILLIS HOLDS UP APPOINTMENT OF OHIO MAN

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Opposition of Senator Willis caused the Senate Finance Committee to defer action today on the nomination of Charles H. Nauts of Toledo to be Internal Revenue Collector for the Tenth District of Ohio.

Senator Willis' opposition to the nominee was described in some quarters as the first break between the Ohio Senator and President Harding, whom Mr. Willis nominated at Chicago.

Senator Willis is opposing Nauts, it was said, because of Republican factional differences. The nominee was said to have the backing of Walter F. Brown of Toledo, the President's representative on the Government Department Reorganization Committee.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 14.—The sentence of Herbert Lebahn, president of the Port Washington Brewing Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., for violation of the prohibition laws, was affirmed yesterday by Federal Judges Baker, Page and Alschuler, of the Circuit Court of Appeals.

It is said that attorneys for the brewer will appeal the decision on the ground that Lebahn pleaded guilty to section 21 of the Volstead act not knowing its meaning. The section refers to maintaining a common nuisance.

FEDERAL EMPLOYES OPPOSING REORGANIZATION TO BE FIRED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Government employes who actively oppose the administration's Government reorganization plan will be dismissed, the President and his Cabinet decided today. The decision was said to have resulted from activities of some employes in spreading propaganda against the reorganization policy.

Specific orders are to be promulgated immediately by department heads. It is understood they will be aimed particularly at bureau chiefs who are said to have been bringing influence to bear on Congress to prevent a readjustment of their particular bureaus.

In the discussions at the Cabinet meeting the President and his advisers are said to have agreed that much of this opposition was due to a fear that the reorganization would result in abolishing many high-salaried offices.

LABOR LEADER ADMITS PART IN $350,000 MAIL THEFT

"Big Tim" Murphy According to Postal Authorities, Has Admitted Acting as Receiver for Stolen Bonds and Currency Taken in April Holdup.

$112,900 IN HOME OF FATHER-IN-LAW

Murphy, a Former Illinois Legislator, Told Story of Liquor in Trunk Which Resulted in Raid; Other Confessions; 8 Men Held.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 14.—City detectives arrested Paul Bolanti, a grocer, today, and found what they declare to be another $1000 of the $350,000 loot from the Dearborn Station mail robbery of last April 6. Eight men now are in custody, including "Big Tim" Murphy, former State legislator and now president of the Gas House Workers' Union, and Department of Justice agents and the police say that the case has now been practically cleared up. Murphy, who was arrested yesterday, is said to have confessed, and $112,000 of the loot was found hidden in a trunk at the home of his father-in-law, William Diggs, at 857 West Fiftieth street.

The arrest of Murphy's friend, Bolanti of 2505 Wallace street came just as "Big Tim," his alleged chief aid, Vincenzo Cosmano, and his chauffeur, Edward Guerin, were being made the objects of Federal warrants charging robbery of the United States mail.

The charges carry a penalty of 25 years in the penitentiary. Assistant United States District Attorney-General Northup, in asking for the warrants, declared he would request that the bonds of the three men be set at $100,000 each. Besides Bolanti, two of the other men who are said by the Federal authorities to have assisted "Big Tim" in the Dearborn Station robbery, are in custody. Their names are being withheld until the posts' inspectors have rounded up other alleged members of the holdup gang.

$112,000 of Loot Found.

The Federal action against "Big Tim" and his alleged accomplices follows the discovery of the $112,000 of the Dearborn Station loot in the home of Murphy's father-in-law, Diggs, anw with the finding of the additional $1000 in Bolanti's store, the postal inspectors believe they have made a good start toward the recovery of the whole amount.

The case against "Big Tim" seemed to be clinched, according to Federal authorities, when Assistant Attorney General Northrup announced that Guerin, personal chauffeur to the political boss and labor leader, had added his confession to those already made by Ralph Teter, postal clerk, and George B. Bradford, alias Hecker.

Plans for the robbery, according to Geurin, were laid in "Big Tim's" office. "Big Tim," according to all three of the men who have confessed, was the "brains" of the conspiracy throughout, promising his aids police protection and undertaking the delicate task of disposing of the spoils.

"Big Tim's" Career.

Murphy has had a stormy career. Born "back of the yards," he was a newsboy, fighter, political leader and union official. He broke into politics with the "Pipes" McDermott faction and, when "Pipes" went to Washington as a Congressman, he took his six-foot-two-inch follower along as private secretary. Murphy has since told friends that when they arrived in Washington neither knew much about Congress and his first job as private secretary was to go out and find what Congress was and what it did.

Following his retirement from Congress, McDermott ran for State Senator and put Murphy on the ticket for Representative. He was elected. Backed by his political prestige, Murphy organized the Street Sweepers' Union, which he later handed over to Cosmano upon organization of the gas workers. While in jail in connection with the Enright murder last year, Murphy called a strike of 5200 street sweepers and directed it from a jail cell.

Northrup, who was assigned especially to the investigation of recent Chicago mail holdups, declared today that "Big Tim" had not "one chance in a million of escaping the federal penitentiary."

Despite his reputation as an indi-

HOUSE 305 TO 61 FOR PEACE RESOLUTION; FIGHT LIKELY

Knox Forces in Senate Said to Be Solidly Behind Measure to Repeal War Declaration, Which House Members Look On as Repudiation of Original Action.

49 DEMOCRATS VOTE WITH G. O. P. IN HOUSE

Opposition to Porter Motion Crumbles on Roll Call, After Two-Day Attack in Which It Was Held Measure Did Not Safeguard Rights.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The Porter peace resolution, adopted yesterday by the House, today was sent to conference by the Senate for adjustment of the differences between the new measure and the Knox peace resolution adopted by the Senate.

The Senate voted formally to disagree with the amendment of the House, which struck out the Knox draft and substituted the Porter draft. Senate conferees named were Lodge, Massachusetts, and Knox, Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Hitchcock, Nebraska, Democrat.

Adoption of the Porter resolution, which would terminate the state of war with Germany and Austria-Hungary, came after two days of hard fighting, but the vote was decisive, 49 Democrats joining the Republicans for a total of 305 votes in favor, as against 61 opposing. Only one Republican, Representative Kelley of Michigan, voted against the resolution. All attempts to amend the measure failed.

How Resolutions Differ.

The Knox resolution differs from the Porter resolution in that it would repeal the declaration of war. Opponents have claimed that Congress ought not to repeal the war declaration, as it might be regarded as a repudiation of the war itself. Debate on the Porter resolution centered chiefly about the question of whether American rights would be properly safeguarded.

The effort of the Democratic leadership to hold the party in line against the Porter resolution crumbled on roll call. The crack of the gavel, ending debate, brought a sigh of relief to weary members.

Springing a surprise at the last moment, Chairman Porter of the Foreign Affairs Committee, in charge of the fight, presented Representative Bourke Cockran, Democrat, of New York, to make the closing argument for passage of the resolution. In the end, however, the New York member did not actually vote, as he was paired.

Congressman Kelley, chairman of the House conferees at work on the naval bill, with its disarmament amendment, made a bitter attack on the peace resolution, declaring Congress would live to apologize for its act, which he described as making peace with a mere clasp of the hand, after the fashion of professional wrestlers.

Democrats' Attack.

The principal attack on the resolution was based by Democrats on the ground that it did not properly protect American rights and that the United States, in attempting to negotiate a treaty with Germany and her ally, would sit down with feet and hands tied, and without being able to demand the rights won by war. Republicans held, however, that all rights were safeguarded.

Representative Garrett of Tennessee, acting Democratic leader; Connolly, Democrat, of Texas, and Flood of Virginia made the principal speeches against the resolution, all declaring that the chief argument in support of its adoption was that it would pave the way for greater trade with Germany.

Among the 49 Democrats who voted for the resolution were: Almon and Tyson, Alabama; Jones, Mansfield, Black and Blanton, Texas; Driver, Taylor and Parks, Arkansas; Hawes, Missouri; Huddleston, Alabama; Larson, Vinson, Crisp, Oversireet, Park, Upshaw and Lankford, Georgia; McClintick, Carter and Swank, Oklahoma; Dupre, Farret, Sandling, Wilson, Martin, Aswell and O'Connor, Louisiana; Quinn, Collins, Lowrey, Humphreys and Rankin, Mississippi; Southwick, Florida.

Congressman Rucker, Democrat, of the Second District, was the only Missourian voting against the Porter peace resolution, which passed the House yesterday. The only other Democratic representative from Missouri—Hawes of St. Louis—was recorded with the majority for the resolution. One Missourian, Shelton of the Fifteenth District, did not vote.

Carpentier Entertains Party of Society Women With Fast Boxing Bout

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and Several Friends Watch French Fighter Spar With His Training Companions.

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The merry thud of the gloves at the ends of Georges Carpentier's fast-moving arms, as they crashed into the anatomies of three sparring partners and the resultant "Ugh!" as the trio took the wallops, delighted the ears of a hundred or so privileged spectators at the Frenchman's Manhasset camp yesterday afternoon.

And the picture the European champion made as he flashed in and out, ducking, twisting, dancing about and shooting over his punches with almost unerring marksmanship, delighted the eyes of the assemblage.

The exhibition, given in the open-air ring out in the cow pasture, with the sun filtering through the apple trees and the perfume of clover in the warm air, was the best Georges has yet revealed since he started conditioning down on the North Hempstead turnpike. Not only the best from a pictorial standpoint, which appeals to some of the crowd (particularly the score or so women spectators), but the best demonstration of his skill and hitting power he has turned loose.

Of course, he wasn't showing everything he has. That is not to be expected. There are keen-eyed observers from Champion Jack's camp watching any move Georges makes—at least, whenever they get a chance—just as there are observers down at Atlantic City taking slants on the Frenchman's behalf.

But Georges showed enough to win the applause of the onlookers. Carpentier trotted from his home to the open-air ring at 3:30. The weather was so warm he didn't wear any of his two dozen trick bath robes, but was merely attired in his fighting costume of white gym shirt and blue trunks. He laughingly waved to the applauding crowd and flashed his white teeth as he vaulted into the ring.

Society Women View Workout.

It was a delightfully pleasant spectacle. Smartly clad women were sitting about in the grass in "ringside" positions. Among them was Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and a group of North Shore friends. Mrs. Whitney pulled a white veil down over her face to avoid sunburn. Critical correspondents by dozens stood close up to the elevated ring with poised pencils. Most of them had seen Dempsey work, but for many of them this was a first view of the French flash. Parisian friends with twisted-point mustaches and elaborate costumes gave their chum the "Vive." Little Descamps, grinning all over, was an amiable host.

"A French lightweight—Marcel Denys," announced Descamps as a black-headed, huskily built lad, hopped the ropes and squared off against Georges. The boy was fast. He tore right into the idol of France and swung rapid rights and lefts at him. Despite the fact that he towered over little Denys, Carpentier was able to duck under most of these or let them go by with a backward jerk of his head.

After one round with the lightweight, during which Carpentier outspsed and outpointed him, though Descamps vows little Denys is a bearcat in his own class, the next to come up and take it was Paul Journee, a blond six-footer who weighs close to 200 at the age of 22 and is a powerful mauler, built, in a general way, on the Dempsey style of architecture. In the first round of this affair Georges laid his jaw open to show how he could take some powerful socks, although, of course, Paul Journee's socking was nothing like Dempsey's, and the gloves were immense pillows. Then Georges feinted a few times with his left, tied Paul up in a bewildering knot, shot three lefts to the jaw and then a fast straight left to the stomach which brought a healthy "Houp" out of his big opponent. Again the apology—in French.

"Mixes It" With Journee.

In the second round with Journee the foreign champion both boxed with him and stood toe-to-toe and slugged with him. Although Georges never let himself go, Paul was all in and willing to call it a day when Descamps called "Time." And the rounds had run about four minutes each.

Italian Joe Gans then came from the apple tree shade and traded his stuff with Carpentier. Most of the first round was devoted to fighting head against head with Joe swinging right and left uppercuts for the jaw and Georges giving his attention to keeping that jaw from being reached—it wasn't—and as the Frenchman was fighting in a crouch with his under body drawn well back there was no chance of a shot at his stomach.

In the second round Georges cut loose a trifle and shook up the sturdy, swarthy Italian, once bringing a breath-exposition and a hearty grunt, "Oh, ho," from Joe as a right caught him amidships. Here the Frenchman put his apology into English. "Oh—sorry!" he exclaimed, in truly London fashion, as he touched Joe's glove.

Carpentier scarcely puffed through the whole fast set of five rounds, and leaped lightly into his bag-punching, rope-jumping gymnastics as soon as he doffed his big gloves.

The spectators, society folk and all, crowded up closely for this and applauded him vigorously as he whaled the bags with his flashy straight-shooting punches.

may seem to be a small item, but, just the same, I am going to watch the city's money just as though it were my own. I have a report here from an inspector who went over the plumbing work done by Zertanna at the Magnolia avenue station, and he states that where Zertanna's bill shows the installation of 340 feet of pipe, he found only 259 feet, and that where 50 brass nipples were charged for he found only 10. He also reports that he found only two cleanouts where four had been charged for; one coupling where five had been charged for, and four galvanized tees where five had been charged for. As a matter of business I am not going to pay for anything that the Police Department did not get."

Commissioner Brockman then took up the bill of the Dickie Construction Co., for the installation of a heating system, shower baths and other plumbing work at the Soulard Street Station last autumn. The entire bill amounted to $17,128.70, but $9000 having been advanced by the Police Department, a balance of $8128.70 remains unpaid.

Two Percentages Mentioned.

"In connection with this work," said Commissioner Brockman, "one of the items is for the installation of a furnace, the cost of which was $4432. That work was awarded by separate contract to the J. A. McBride Mechanical Equipment Co., 1607 Olive street. The Dickie Construction Co., having the general contract, charges 10 per cent of the cost of all the work, including the installation of the heating plant, and T. P. Barnett & Co., architects, charge 7 per cent for certifying that the work was done according to plans and specifications.

"Now I submit that I fail to see why the Police Department should pay the Dickie Construction Co. 10 per cent and Barnett & Co. 7 per cent on work done and guaranteed by the McBride company. Barnett & Co. has not yet certified the work. The company drew the plans and specifications for the contract.

"The Pauly Jail Building Co. sent in a bill for $174 for cell screens at the Soulard Street Station, but was informed by Sheehan's clerk, Maddock, to send the bill to the Dickie Construction Co. A copy of Maddock's letter to the Pauly company, under date of Jan. 24, reads: 'I am directed by the Hon. Thomas J. Sheehan, acting purchasing member of the Police Board, to return your bill with the understanding that you are to submit it to the Dickie Construction Co.'

"That was done in spite of the fact that on Dec. 11 last the Pauly Co. wrote to Police Commissioner Sheehan that the screening of the cells would be done after the Dickie Construction Co. had completed its contract so that the Police Department would not have to pay the Dickie Construction Co. 10 per cent on that part of the work.

Opposes Supervision Fees.

"The Police Department employs Henry Vickery as superintendent of construction and repairs at a salary of $150 a month and I believe that he is capable of supervising work such as was done at the Soulard Street Station, so I do not see why we should pay Barnett & Co. 7 per cent for supervision.

"So far as I have been able to learn the only evidence in the hands of the Police Department showing the Dickie Construction Co.'s connection with the installation of the heating plant at the Soulard Street Station is a copy of the following letter by Maddock:

"'I am directed by the Hon. Thomas J. Sheehan, acting purchasing member of the Police Board, to direct the Dickie Construction Co. to direct the J. A. McBride Mechanical Equipment Co. to proceed with the work of installing a furnace at the Soulard Street Police Station as per contract.'

"I have recommended to the board that these bills be held up. I have demanded that a substantial reduction be made in them before I will consent to their being paid."

Brockman also pointed out, in going over the bills, that one plumbing concern in a bill submitted Dec. 16 last charged 15 per cent for overhead and 10 per cent for profit. The same company in a bill dated Feb. 28 charged 10 per cent for overhead and 10 per cent for profit.

Commissioner Brockman, as was told exclusively in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch has announced that he hopes, by economies in the Police Department, to save $250,000 of the $3,494,000 appropriated for the department, and to return the saving to the City Treasurer at the end of the fiscal year.

A. F. L. CONVENTION TOLD TO LET IRISH PROBLEM ALONE

J. H. Thomas, British Labor Leader, in Address at Denver, Says Meeting Can't Solve Question.

COMMITTEE AT WORK ON A COMPROMISE

Issue Is Plan of One Group to Present Two 'Official Resolutions,' Calling for a Boycott Against British.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., June 14.—Warning it against any agitation that might disrupt the American labor movement, James H. Thomas, British labor leader, told the American Federation of Labor convention today that it could not solve the Irish problem.

"For 100 years we in England have been confronted with the problem of Ireland and, if we at home cannot solve that problem, let me ask, how do you, 3000 miles away, expect to solve it?"

Thomas addressed the convention as a fraternal delegate from the British Trades Union Congress.

"British labor," he continued, "has always stood and stands now for liberty. We stand for home rule for Ireland.

"For 100 years the people of Ireland have been deceived. For 100 years they have been fed upon promises—broken promises—by British statesmen. Now the Irish people are looking to you.

Warning to Delegates.

"I warn you against trying to create in their minds the feeling that you can solve their difficulties. You cannot."

Irish sympathizers among the delegates immediately demanded the right to question Thomas, who answered several questions regarding the acts of the military in Ireland. President Samuel Gompers then stopped further debate.

In answering Timothy Healy of New York, one of the leaders of the Irish sympathizers, Thomas said that "militarism may go on to doomsday but it will not solve the Irish problem."

Advocates of Irish freedom, at a mass meeting last night, appointed a committee which is attempting to draft a resolution that would be satisfactory to both the extreme and conservative groups of Irish sympathizers, it is learned.

When this committee started to work T. J. Vind of Chicago, secretary of the Labor Bureau of the American Commission of Irish Independence, served notice that two "official resolutions of the Irish Republic" must be incorporated in their resolution or he would act independently in presenting the documents to the convention.

The "Official Resolutions."

The "official resolutions" called for a boycott, not only on British-made goods, but on all products made by English capital, and the boycott of British insurance companies and similar firms. They also provided that the Executive Council of the federation shall immediately compile a list of English-made goods and firms backed by British capital, and send it to every one of the members of organized labor in the United States. Appointment of a committee of three by the federation to co-operate with the British trade unions to bring pressure to bear on the English Government to recognize Irish independence and withdraw troops from Ireland was also requested.

Vind declared that the resolutions were drawn by "high officials of the Irish republic," but declined to state whether Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," had taken part in their drafting.

Opposition to Boycott.

A large faction of the delegates have announced opposition to the "official resolutions," and have presented to the committee a resolution demanding recognition of the Irish republic by the United States, withdrawal of British troops from Ireland, and repayment by England of the $9,000,000,000 loaned to her by the United States. Four other resolutions of similar character haye been submitted.

The delegates opposing the boycott resolution declared that it would be detrimental to the labor movement and an affront to the members of the federation who are connected with local unions in Canada. Any resolution embodying a boycott, they assert, will be defeated on the floor of the convention.

Despite the protest of supporters of the "Official Resolutions," Irish sympathizers at the mass meeting declined to substitute them for all other resolutions.

MARRIAGE LICENSE DECREASE

Records of the marriage license office show that in the period beginning Jan. 1 and ending last Saturday the number of marriage licenses issued in St. Louis was 4109, compared with 4639 in the corresponding period last year, a decrease of 530.

The total number of licenses issued last year was 11,326, which exceeded all St. Louis records.

PRINTING FIRMS SIGN 5-YEAR OPEN SHOP AGREEMENT

Fifty-Eight Concerns Which Have Been at War With Unions Pledged to Adopt Non-Union Plan.

MOST OF LARGER FIRMS INCLUDED

The master printers of St. Louis, who have been in a struggle with the union printers and allied organizations since May 1 over the 44-hour week have organized the Open Shop Printers of St. Louis, pledged to operate on the principle of the open shop for five years, from May 18, 1921, to June 1, 1926.

Fifty-eight firms have subscribed to the agreement. They include firms that were formerly union and non-union. Most of the larger printing concerns are included.

Objects of Agreement.

The objects, as stated in the articles of association, are as follows:

The mutual assistance of its members, in upholding their rights to operate their plants upon the principle of the open shop; the securing of mutual advice, co-operation and assistance in all matters affecting open shop conditions; to secure and preserve equitable conditions in the workshops of its members, whereby the interests of both employer and employe shall be properly protected; the investigation and adjustment of any question in regard to labor conditions arising among its members, or between its members and their employes; to assist those desiring employment to secure same; to provide means of educating young men and young women to become good, true and efficient workers.

The association is given power to make such general rules governing its members in their relations with each other and with their employes as may be necessary to accomplish its objects.

On the subject of hours and wages the association "will not countenance any conditions that are not just, or which will not allow a workman to earn a wage proportionate to his productive capacity."

The open shop is defined as "a plant operating without a contract or agreement, written or verbal, with any labor union, and in which neither the owner, the superintendent, if any, or the foreman of any department are members of any labor union."

Managed by Nine Directors.

Management of the affairs of the association is in the hands of nine directors, elected annually, who elect from their members the executive officers of the association.

Whenever the board of directors receives a report that a demand from labor has been made upon a member it will be the duty of the board to take full charge of the controversy and it is provided that no settlement shall be made by any member without the board's approval.

The association, through the board of directors, may extend to any member involved in any controversy with labor the influence and support of the association and will furnish assistance in obtaining help when necessary. The board may obtain the co-operation of other members in assisting member involved in a controversy to get out any work which by reason of such controversy he may be able to do.

The struggle between the master printers and the unions began over the demand of the latter for the 44-hour week. The employers stand for the 48-hour week. Since the dispute began many of the employers have signed the 44-hour contract.

The employers announced on May 11 that they had agreed to operate on the open-shop basis for a period of one year from May 9, during which time they would make no contracts with labor organizations. The five-year agreement is an outgrowth of the one-year agreement.

SEA LION BORN IN THE AQUARIUM AT BATTERY PARK

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 14.—A sea lion was born in the aquarium, Battery Park, yesterday morning. The arrival of the newcomer was totally unexpected and no provision had been made for his reception.

Although sea lions and seals are at sea most of their lives, they are not born with the ability to swim, and do not approach the water for a month after birth. It is then necessary for the mother to give the young one of a few rudimentary lessons in swimming before he is able to take care of himself. All seals and sea lions bear their young on land.

The sea lions were in their regular pool, which is about 25 feet in diameter and four feet deep. In the middle of the tank is a small table on which one of the sea lions is able to lie when weary.

The night attendant at the aquarium discovered the presence of the little one when he noticed an unusual commotion in the pool. The mother sea lion was struggling to save her pup from drowning. Holding the little fellow in her mouth, she was leaping to attain the table, the only dry place in the pool, and finally, after a hard struggle, she deposited the young one safely on the rough boards.

But her troubles were not over. The male sea lion, perceiving the newcomer on his coveted camping ground, immediately attacked it, and the mother took up the defense. The mother won the fight. Later in the day mother and pup were removed to another pool.

MILITARY COURT PLAN APPROVED BY HAITI

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—With the approval of the President of Haiti, Secretary Denby has ordered transferred to the military authorities the jurisdiction of the Haitian civil courts over persons charged with instigating disorder, bloodshed or rebellion, or libeling members of the Haitian Government or the American marine forces of occupation.

The consistent refusal of the civil courts to convict persons accused of these offenses and the rapid growth recently of revolutionary propaganda, leading to fear of an uprising and sporadic revolutionary disturbances on the island, are given as the reasons for the step.

"Finding that no punishment followed their attacks upon persons and officials," a Navy Department statement said, "Haitian orators and writers have grown bolder and more audacious until denunciation has mounted almost to frenzy and partisans of all parties became so excited it was feared that popular outbursts might occur."

"It is believed that the knowledge that trial before an unprejudiced and untimidated court," the statement continued, "awaits offenders against the laws of libel and those who advocated disorder, will prove ample restraint to meet the situation and will prevent a repetition of the scurrilous, slanderous and incendiary utterances which have threatened to promote disturbance."

Hereafter persons accused of these offenses will be arrested by the marines and tried before a provost courtmartial, according to a proclamation issued by Col. John H. Russell, commanding the Marines in Haiti.

NEAR RACE RIOT IN VIRGINIA

Two White Men Held on Negro Girl's Charge of Attack.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., June 14.—Two white men are under arrest here today for an alleged attack on a negro girl last night, which at one time threatened to result in a race riot. Crowds of angry negroes were dispersed by the police and several hundred plain clothes men and civilians flocked to the negro settlement from all parts of the city.

SUN SAID TO SHINE IN MINE IN MEXICO ONLY ON JUNE 21

By the Associated Press.

SOMBRETE, Zacatecas, Mex., June 15.—Once a year, on June 21, sunlight penetrates to the bottom of the deep La Joya mine shaft at Sombrete, and illuminates it as though the infernal regions had been opened, according to the miners.

The phenomenon is thus described by Vice Consul Oscar Harper of El Paso, Tex.: The mine is on the line of the Tropic of Cancer. At noon, every June 21, the sun is vertically above the mine. The sudden blaze of light penetrating to the bottom of the 1400-foot excavation, where before all was darkness, alarms many of the native miners, who fear that they have opened up the infernal regions, according to the Vice Consul.

DROWNED GIRL'S BODY FOUND

The body of Miss Ethel Bennett, 16 years old, of 420 South Fourth street, East St. Louis, who was drowned Sunday in the Mississippi River at Trendley avenue, East St. Louis, was recovered at 11:30 a. m. today about 200 feet from the spot at which she sank in the water.

Three men were returning in a skiff from St. Louis, where they obtained grappling irons, when a gar rose to the surface of the water in front of the skiff. Almost immediately the body of Miss Bennett arose. It is presumed that the fish dislodged it. George F. Koerner, 28, of 316 Trendley avenue, East St. Louis, was drowned in an effort to save Miss Bennett.

St. Louisans Go to Convention.

Forty members of the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce departed last night for Dallas, to attend the second annual convention of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Accompanying the St. Louis delegation were representatives from the Springfield (Mass.), Bridgeport (Conn.), Marion (Ind.) and East St. Louis Junior Chambers of Commerce. Henry Giessenbier Jr., president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the sessions of the convention. Thurman W. Payne, treasurer, and A. G. Mungenast, secretary, also are St. Louisans. Mayor Kiel will attend the convention.

Body Found Hanging Is Identified.

The body of the man found hanging to a tree near Meramec Highlands Sunday was identified yesterday as that of John Miller, 60 years old, a former bartender, who had been staying at the Holland House, Sixth street and Franklin avenue. He had not been seen since June 4. Acquaintances at the hotel said he had suffered a paralytic stroke.

BULK OF $1,000,000 ESTATE IS LEFT TO ANN MURDOCK

HER MOTHER ALSO GETS $10,000

Widow of Former St. Louis Man Not Mentioned in Document—Niece, a St. Louis Girl, Gets $10,000.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Miss Ann Murdock, the actress, who severed her engagement with Charles Frohman, Inc., in December, 1916, because, as she said at the time, she "had not been at all satisfied with the choice of plays Mr. Hayman has been making for me," is named as the residuary legatee in the will of Alf Hayman, formerly manager and later president of the Frohman incorporation, filed yesterday in the Surrogate's court. To Mrs. Teresa Coleman, the actress' mother, Miss Murdock's real name being Irene Coleman—is bequeathed $10,000. Mrs. Rose Hayman, the manager's widow, who, according to the petition, resides at 57 West Fifty-eighth street, is not mentioned in the will.

The exact size of Hayman's estate is not given. Rose and Paskus, the attorneys who filed the will, say in their petition that he had no real property and that his personal estate would exceed $1,000,000.

An interesting change of heart on the part of Hayman between Aug. 2, 1918, and June 2, 1920, that reacted to the benefit of Miss Murdock is revealed in a codicil executed on the latter date. The body of the will signed Aug. 2, 1918, Hyman gave Miss Murdock a life interest in the residuary estate and directed that on her death $10,000 of the principal was to be given to the Actors' Fund of America and the remainder divided equally among Mount Sinai Hospital, the Montefiore Home, the Catholic institution for the blind and St. Joseph's Home for the Aged.

In the codicil, Hayman revoked the contingent bequests to the four charitable institutions and provides that his residuary estate is to be held in trust for Miss Murdock, who is to receive the income of it for life and to have the right to dispose of the principal by will as she sees fit. The codicil also revokes a former provision that Hayman made of the cancellation of all debts due him and substituted for William H. Rose and Benjamin G. Paskus, originally named as executors, Miss Murdock and the Bankers' Trust Co.

Other bequests made by Hayman in his will include one of $10,000 to Mrs. Corinne Bauman, a niece, of 5646 Kingsbury boulevard, St. Louis.

Hayman asks his executors in one provision of his will, to set aside $5000 for the purchase of a burial plot "near New York City," and for the erection of a monument to his memory.

At the home of Mrs. Hayman, his widow, it was said last night that "Mrs. Hayman was away and it was not known when she would return." Others, in addition to her, to whom Surrogate Foley issued citations to show cause why the will should not be admitted to probate, were Mrs. Blanche Meyer of 4236 Lindell boulevard, St. Louis, and Mrs. Rose Hochstadter, 270 Park avenue, sisters of Hayman, who are not mentioned in the will.

Miss Murdock is a granddaughter of the late George Deagle, who was manager of a theater known as Deagle's Varieties in St. Louis about 60 years ago. Her mother, known on the stage as Therese Deagle, was one of the first leading women employed by Charles Frohman, and her father, John J. Coleman, was for many years manager of the American Theatrical Exchange.

Miss Murdock made her debut in 1908 in "The Offenders." She was then 17 years old. A short time later she had a more important role with Romert Edeson in "The Call of the North."

Sister Living Here Says Will Is "Perfectly Satisfactory."

Mrs. Jacob Mayer of 4236 Lindell boulevard, who was Miss Blanch Hayman, Alf Hayman's sister, said today at her home that the terms of her brother's will, in which she was not mentioned, are "perfectly satisfactory." She said she would so reply to the Surrogate's citation. She and her sister, Mrs. Rose Hochstadter of New York, who is quite elderly, were Hayman's closest living relatives and were at his deathbed. He died May 14 in New York as the result of a general breakdown.

Mrs. Meyer, whose husband is retired, expressed no surprise at the legacy to Miss Murdoch, but declined to comment on it. She said there had been no family estrangement, but that the paths of their lives had simply diverged. She rarely heard from Hayman.

Hayman, she said, lived in St. Louis for only several years when he was a boy attending school. She was not familiar with the details of his theatrical career.

Mrs. Alvin L. Bauman of 5646 Kingsbury boulevard, who was Miss Corinne Bernheimer, daughter of Marcus Bernheimer, who developed Meramec Highlands, said today that she had never known of the friendship of Hayman, her uncle, for Miss Murdock. Her mother was a sister of Hayman. Mrs. Bauman was left $10,000 in the will.

Mrs. Bauman said she last saw her uncle in his New York office four years ago, for a few minutes as he prepared to go to the country. It was several years before that when she was last in his home. It is more than 30 years since Hayman was in St. Louis, she said.

"I know of no reason my uncle didn't leave something to his wife in this will," Mrs. Bauman said. "I am sure there was no trouble between them. I believe he must have made some provision for her.

Mrs. Bauman's husband is president and treasurer of the Western Wire Products Co. She is about 30 years old and Mrs. Meyer is about 56 years old.

LABOR LEADER CONFESSES PART IN $350,000 ROBBERY

vidual of considerable sophistication, "Big Tim" practically "talked himself into jail," according to Northup.

"We had no idea that Murphy still had any of the stolen money and bonds," said Northup, "until he practically told us himself. A trunk key started the whole confession. We ran across it while we were grilling Murphy yesterday."

Gave Them a Long Story.

The union leader was taken into custody in the afternoon by postal inspectors.

"We asked Murphy where the trunk was. 'I'd give you boys this key,' he said once, 'but I'm afraid you'd go and get stewed up.'

"Finally we made up our minds that trunk key was the key to our whole case, and we quizzed Murphy about it until he confessed."

"The key fits a trunk in my father-in-law's home," he told Inspectors A. E. Germer and Fahy, who had arrested him.

"You've got a case on me that far, all right," "Big Tim" is quoted as saying. "But I've been holding the sack for somebody else. I got the stuff, but I was not in the robbery. I may tell more about it later. Just now there's somebody I've got to protect."

The other alleged participants named so far, all of whom are held, are: Peter Guesenberg, 1527 North La Salle street, a clerk in the City Vehicle Department; Frank Guesenberg, 228 West North avenue, a brother of Peter; Samuel Simon, a peddler, of 1155 Cherry street; Ralph Teter, mail clerk; Bradford, a former mail clerk.

Teter and Bradford, it is claimed, were used by "Big Tim" to frame the holdups. The Guesenbergs and Simon are alleged to have been employed to dispose of the spoils of the robbery.

The Guesenbergs were involved in the case through the frequency with which Simon used new bills in doing his shopping on South Water street.

So much new currency attracted the attention of a bank cashier that he looked up the serial numbers of some of the bills. This move disclosed that they were part of the money stolen in the Dearborn Station mail robbery.

Simons was arrested by Detective Sergeant Jensen and Lovell of the Detective Bureau. He said he had obtained the money from the Guesenbergs, the police said. A little more investigation revealed that Peter Guesenberg was one of "Big Tim's" political proteges. Murphy was arrested quietly by Inspector Germer and W. T. Fahy at the offices of the Street Cleaners' Union.

Reason for the Call.

"What's the reason for the call?" he inquired.

"We have the goods this time, Tim," said Fahy.

The conversation then lagged for awhile. The door opened and Cosmano stepped into the office. He was arrested and taken into another room. Presently Murphy turned to his captors, according to the inspectors, and admitted:

"You'll find the stuff in my father-in-law's home over on West Fiftieth street. You've got a case that far all right."

Visit to 'Diggs' Home.

The raiding squad then paid a visit to the home of Diggs.

Murphy agreed to go out to Diggs' house and get him to waive his demand for a search warrant. In the meantime, detectives armed with proper authority had entered the house and had found $4200 in bonds and currency under Diggs' mattress. They had found no trace of the loot described in 'Big Tim's' confession.

The labor leader entered the house by the front door, called Diggs to a conference and talked to him, with Inspectors Farmer and Fahy, for several minutes. Then he led the way to the attic where the trunk, half-filled with money and negotiable securities, had been hidden under the eaves.

"Turn 'Big Tim' Loose."

Murphy was taken out of the house through the crowd that had become noisy and menacing.

"What's the pinch for?" and "Turn 'Big Tim' loose," were among the cries shouted at the raiders as they marched to their automobiles.

Through it all Murphy was protesting against the arrest of his father-in-law.

But, despite his argument, Diggs and his wife and their daughter, Mrs. Lucy Glenn, were taken to Secret Service Headquarters for questioning.

The Dearborn street robbery was spectacular. The five men who took part in it arrived at the loading platform in an automobile several minutes before the mail truck containing the registered mail shipment. The men alighted from the car, which they parked at the curb across the street from the platform, and stood on the sidewalk watching some boys in a ball game.

When the truck arrived they surrounded it and had unloaded a number of registered pouches before the employes on the platform were aware that a robbery was in progress. Clerk D. J. Colbert, inside the truck, saved part of the shipment by hurriedly shifting first-class mail sacks to cover one of the registered sacks. The robbers did not wait to make a close investigation. They sped south in Federal street and escaped.

It was widely reported after the robbery that "Big Tim" had been seen in the vicinity of the station at the time.

Inasmuch as he was then under indictment for complicity in the Pullman robbery, the report was not generally credited. The postal inspectors now say they will seek to prove that, although he probably took no part in the robbery itself, he supervised the operations from a distance.

Murphy and Cosmano were arrested several weeks ago charged with planning the $100,000 mail robbery at Pullman. Both were at liberty under $200,000 bonds in that case when rearrested last night.

A year ago the two spent several months in jail awaiting trial for the murder of "Mosy" Enright, "king of the gunmen," but when the State's principal witnesses disappeared, the case was dropped.

TARIFF BILL BLOW TO MEXICO

MONTERREY, Mexico.—Under the emergency tariff act which was recently passed in the United States an ad valorem tax of 30 per cent on all cattle shipped into that country for other than breeding purposes is provided. This duty is regarded by ranchmen in Mexico as a severe blow to the industry, for the reason that they have heretofore done a large business of shipping cattle to Texas, New Mexico and Arizona where the animals were grazed and fattened for market.

Quite a number of Americans have ranches on both sides of the international boundary and their herds have been moved freely from one side to the other. The new law also provides a heavy tax on sheep and goats and this will prevent many of these animals from being exported to the United States, it is stated.

WOMAN TESTIFIES SHE SHOT NEIGHBOR IN SELF-DEFENSE

Mrs. Brys Says Killing of Steamship Agent Followed Quarrel With His Wife Over Use of Porch.

DECLARES HE FORCED WAY INTO KITCHEN

Dispute Originated, She Assets, Over the Slamming of a Door Which Disturbed Family.

Mrs. Valeria Brys, 31 years old, of 1007 Cass avenue, a divorcee, told on the witness stand, in Judge Landwehr's court today, how she shot and killed Paul S. Kalucki, 51, a steamship and real estate agent, who lived in the flat adjoining hers, at 1005 Cass avenue, Nov. 5 last. She is on trial on a charge of murder, and her defense is that she was acting in self-defense.

Mrs. Brys testified, as did Mrs. Kalucki, that the shooting of Kalucki followed a quarrel between the women over their use of a common rear porch, and of the screen doors leading to it, which were so close that they overlapped. Each woman testified that the other woman was the aggressor, but both said Mrs. Kalucki called her husband, who took her part against Mrs. Brys.

Argued Over Slamming Door.

Mrs. Brys has two daughters, 13 and 11 years. She testified that Mrs. Kalucki slammed her (Mrs. Brys') screen door, and that when she went out, Mrs. Kalucki asked her to keep the door closed and out of her way. She said she asked Mrs. Kalucki to leave her door alone, and that Mrs. Kalucki then called her husband.

"He walked right in to my kitchen," Mrs. Brys testified, "and choked me, slapped my face and beat me. I was dazed. When he went out, Mrs. Kalucki called to him, 'Come back and make her shut her mouth.'

Fired Twice at Kalucki.

"When he started back, as I thought, to beat me again, I took out my revolver and fired twice at him."

Policemen testified that there were scratches on Mrs. Brys' face when she was arrested.

RAILROAD LABOR WINS FIGHT FOR FEDERATION WAGE AGREEMENTS

Board's Decision Against Roads, Which Desired to Negotiate With Each Craft Separately.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Labor won its fight for negotiations of agreement with the railroads by the Federated Shop Crafts acting for all employes comprising these crafts in a decision handed down by the United States Railroad Labor Board today.

Three test cases were recently brought before the board after a number of railroads had refused to deal with the federation but maintained their right to conduct negotiations and sign agreements with each craft separately. The board decided that an agreement between the Federated Shop Crafts and a carrier should, if the federtion so elected, apply to all employes comprising those crafts.

HOOVER APPROVES NATIONAL ECONOMIC SURVEY PROPOSAL

Secretary of Commerce Writes Indorsement of Mississippi Valley Association's Recommendations.

Approval of recommendations made by the Mississippi Valley Association at its last meeting for a national economic survey was expressed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover in a letter to Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois, president of the association, made public here today.

The letter in part follows:

"I believe with the association that the prosperity of the Mississippi Valley is very largely dependent on the efficiency of its transportation facilities. At the same time I think there is room for a comprehensive study of the problem in all its relations, so that the money expended on terminals, highways, waterways and railroads by private individuals and local, state and national authorities will be in accordance, so far as possible, with a well-ordered scheme of development.

"The necessity for such a survey covering the whole country has long been recognized, and if the association will endeavor to have one made, I feel sure it could be arranged."

36 WOMEN TAKEN, AND HELD WITHOUT BOND

Vagrancy Charges Will Be Preferred Against Latter After Health Board Examination—Police Auto Hit.

The women were picked up at Seventeenth and Market streets, Tenth and Locust streets, Sixth and Chestnut streets, Fourteenth and Chestnut streets and Twenty-first and Walnut streets. They were ordered held for the Health Department, which prevented them from obtaining release on bond. Houses were raided at Tenth and Pine streets, Seventh and Spruce streets and Eleventh and Pine streets.

Several Saloons Raided.

FIRST OF THE NEW FOREST PARK BEAR DENS DEDICATED

Ten Thousand Persons Attend Night Exercises of the Zoological Society in Celebration of Addition.

TWO MORE ARE UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Natural Scenery Idea Carried Out Through Art of Camouflage — Three Black Bears First Occupants.

About 10,000 St. Louisans found new beauties in the zoo at Forest Park last night, when the first of the new bear dens, man-made mountains of concrete, was dedicated and the whole grounds especially illuminated. It was "Zoological Society night" at the zoo, the one night in the year that the buildings are open after dark and floodlights are in operation. This was the third annual recurrence of the event, which may be made semiannual, beginning this year, because of its popularity.

The new bear den is built on a hillside just south of Washington drive. Molds patterned from the limestone bluffs of the Mississippi River below St. Louis were used to give it the surface appearance of a rugged, rocky country, while concrete shot in beneath the molds under pressure imparted great strength to it. Nothing but a placid moat separates bears and spectators, but that is enough, because of the hidden shelving wall of the moat. There is a single railing to keep adventurous children from the water.

Effect Entirely Natural.

Bits of evergreen and other foliage are sprouting up in crannies of the "rocks" and a grassy plain is being laid out before them. Behind them on the hillside, will be little lakes and wild gardens. Cool retreats inside the mass are provided for the bears, with a runway for the keepers. The whole effect is entirely natural and demonstrates the carrying of camouflage to a fine point.

Two dens more are under construction to the east of this one and will be ready in about four months. The total cost of the three units will be about $100,000. Five more are to be built next year or later and the bear tribe at the Zoo increased to about 50, the capacity of the eight dens. There are 17 bears there now. The consummation of the plan will see the dens stretching along the hillside in a long ellipse and it is considered that this will form another effective advertisement of the city. Denver, Colo., and Berlin, Germany, have similar dens, but without complete utilization of the camouflage idea.

Three black bears took up their residence in the new den yesterday. They are Joe, Frank and Bessie, 6 years old, who were the gift of David L. Remley. From their old-fashioned cages opposite the Bird Cage they were taken to the Zoo hospital for a disinfectant dip, that they might be immaculate in their new home.

Moved in Auto Truck.

They were transported in a small cage mounted on an automobile truck, without difficulty. Turned loose in their new dwelling, they sniffed, as though to avoid being thought too well pleased, grunted and settled down. Late in the afternoon they were all out on the flat rock spaces and obligingly posed for photographers.

Night came and a big floodlight was turned on the front of the den. Two of the bears thought that was going too far and retreated. Joe—or was it Frank?—lazily stretched out in the very center of the place, turned his back to the light and the admiring crowds, yawned and went to sleep. Once in a while, when small boys shouted exuberantly, he would turn and stare. Perhaps it was Bessie who decided to come out later on and appeared in a fissure coming out backward, but suddenly lumbered in again.

Up in the lion house not many of the cat tribe stayed in sight. A big African lion glared at the crowds from his den. Suddenly he jumped up, roared terrifyingly for several minutes and stepped majestically forth to quarrel in lion language with his neighbor.

"Miss Jim," the big elephant, was wide awake and on the watch for peanuts. It was a hot night for the hippopotamus, who stayed almost entirely submerged in his pool. The brilliant birds in the tropical bird house seemed sleepy. The sea lions and alligators were no where to be seen, but their pool was attractive under two low floodlights which made grotesque shadows on the islands. The big lake at the foot of the hills glistened under the moon and the fountain in its center chased rainbows all evening at the behest of reflected lights.

Dancing on Tiled Terrace.

Up on Sea Lion Plaza, a tiled terrace, a brass band played dance music, mostly slow waltzes, and many people danced beneath electric Japanese lanterns. There was a mass of spectators about the plaza.

Miss Edith Doyon opened the program with a Turkish dance.

George E. Djeckman, president of the Zoological Society, dedicated the bear den with an address in which he explained the tax system which assures the zoo adequate support. The Zoo tax is 2 mills on the $100 assessed valuation of all property in the city and on the merchants' and manufacturers' tax. This nets about $150,000 a year now, and the sum increases as property values increase. The Zoo is administered by the Zoological Board of Control, of which Dieckman is vice president.

The Zoological Society wants to increase its membership to 5000; there are more than 2200 members now. Secretary Vierheller of the Zoological Board of Control and Supt. Angermeyer assisted visitors last night with explanations. Among the city officials present were Park Commissioner Pape, President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service and several Aldermen.

The income of the remainder is to go to a brother, F. Alex Witte, and a sister, Cornelia Schmidt. F. A. Witte and Leo S. Rassieur are trustees. The amount of the estate is not indicated.

TWO DISTRICT FIRE CHIEFS NAMED TO FILL VACANCIES

Capt. A. J. Tofte Succeeds Late Andrew Coughlin, and Capt. Robert Haines Is in Barry's Place.

Fire Chief Panzer today announced the appointment of two district fire chiefs. Capt. A. J. Tofte of Company No. 14, Fourteenth and Market streets, was made chief of the Eleventh District, to succeed Andrew Coughlin, who died two weeks ago. Capt. Robert Haines was made chief of the Third District to succeed John Barry, 77 years old, who was made a night watchman because of his age.

Tofte, who is a close friend of Mayor Kiel, has been in the service 14 years. Under the civil service rules a district fire chief is required to have 15 years of service. Haines, who has been in the department for more than the required 15 years, has been a captain eight years.

Chief Panzer said the appointments had been made following a conference between himself and the Mayor and Director of Public Safety McKelvey.

Several weeks ago, when firemen were threatening to quit unless their hours of duty were shortened, the post of district chief was removed from the classified list.

publican State Committee, who since has been appointed Food and Drug Commissioner, made one to Texas. About that time the Legislature concluded its regular session and Robinson was at leisure until such time as the Governor might call the special session. He made six inspection trips and seven inspections, receiving a total of $1702, of which $1100 was salary and $602 expenses.

Robinson, who is a retired merchant, said that he saw nothing improper in a State Senator accepting employment of that kind from one of the State departments.

Hughes said he had chosen Robinson as a "business man and not as a State Senator" to send on the inspection missions. Hughes said the law did not permit the use of bank examiners on such work.

PROSECUTION SURE FOR MAN WHO CUT INITIALS ON WOMAN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Ill., June 14.—Prosecution of Glen Forsman on the six indictments against him was assured today, county officials said, by the arrest here yesterday of Mrs. Bessie Rogers, the chief witness against Forsman.

It was upon Mrs. Rogers breast that Forsman carved his initials, according to one of the indictments and it was because fear of further ill treatment by the man that she fled from this vicinity, according to Mrs. Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers, who is 20 years old, was found hiding at her mother's home last night and arrested on statutory charges. She told the Sheriff that she left town on advice of an attorney. Finally she decided to kill herself and wrote a farewell letter, she said. On the bank of the Wabash River she changed her mind and came to see her mother before dying.

She said that when she left Paris she went to Vincennes, Ind., obtained work and after a time made her way to Terre Houte, where she worked in the office of a physician. There she was visited by Forsham, she says, who compelled her to turn over to him all of her pay.

She received a message purporting to come from a Terre Haute attorney, advising her to leave, as the Edgar County authorities would send her to prison on a number of charges. She returned to her mother's home and is held as a witness on $1000 bond.

Story of the Case.

Late in February of this year the Forsman case attracted national attention. Forsman is a farmer of wealth residing near Paris. He was married to a charming woman, has a family of interesting children and owns two good farms. Living on one of the farms was a man named Rogers and his young wife. Forsman became infatuated with the woman and spent so much of his time in her company that his wife expostulated. After a time stories became rift that Forsman had grossly maltreated the woman and that, although suffering, she was afraid to testify against him. Finally neighbors took out warrants for the arrest of the man and he and the woman were brought into Paris.

Here the woman related a story which shocked the community and caused threats against Forsman. In the presence of newspaper men and citizens, the woman bared her bosom showing the letters G. F. rudely carved on her bosom. She declared Forsman had cut the letters with a razor on different days threatening to kill her if she refused to submit or give the alarm. She declared Forsman compelled her to submit to his advances, and if she resisted, declared he would sear her body with a red hot iron. She declared she lived in mortal terror of the man and refused to talk until assured her persecutor was locked in jail and her safety assured.

Wife Obtains a Divorce.

Forsman remained in jail several months until the excitement died down. He was then released under $15,000 bond. An attempt to show the woman was not of good character did not lessen the indignation of the people who felt that the good name of the county had been besmirched in the estimation of all the country.

A short time ago Mrs. Forsman was granted a divorce from her husband, with alimony and custody of the children. Five indictments stand against Forsman, including assault to commit murder, kidnaping and inhuman cruelty.

Some months ago he was arrested by the Federal authorities for operating a still on one of his farms, was given a heavy fine and jail sentence. The accused is about 40 years of age. He comes of a good family.

HOELZ, COMMUNIST LEADER, ON TRIAL

"Lecturer" for Kapp Dictatorship, Accused of Murder and Plundering, Denies Charges

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 14.—Max Hoelz, the Communist leader, who last year incited a reign of terror in the Plauen region, during which murder and arson were rampant, was arraigned before a special court here yesterday on charges of murder, high treason and disturbing public order.

Hoelz refused to regard himself as a person accused of crime, but asserted that he was a complainant "against the bourgeois society which you represent."

He denied that the rebellion had been headed by persons from Russia, but asserted it had been provoked by the authorities.

To allegations of specific crimes, such as shooting a man in the back and murdering children, Hoelz replied: "These are among a lot of other things that are being laid to my door. You will have to prove them."

To the charge of blackmailing the prisoner said: "We requisitioned money from the bourgeoisie. That is not plundering, but fair play"

During the Kapp rebellion in Germany in 1920 Hoelz, whose ostensible job was that of a lecturer in motion picture shows, seized the reins of power at Falkenstein, Saxony, 15 miles from Plauen. After the fall of the Kapp dictatorship, Hoelz and his band raided adjacent towns. So audacious were their exploits that the Saxon Government decided that the men must be crushed, and sent troops gaainst them. Several times Hoelz was arrested, but escaped from prison through the connivance of friends.

TODAY IS 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF GUARD UNIT'S ORGANIZATION

Original Muster Roll of Company A of First Regiment Was Formed June 14, 1871.

Today, Flag day, happens to be the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of Company A, Missouri Guard, the foundation of the present First Regiment, which in the war period was the 138th Infantry of the Thirty-fifth Division, A. E. F.

John B. O'Meara, former Lieutenant-Governor, has furnished to the Post-Dispatch the record of the formation of Company A.

"From the end of the Civil War until 1871," O'Meara writes, "Missouri had no militia, as many St. Louis men who had been in the Civil War on either side wanted to forget the past and help reunite Missouri.

"The original muster roll of Company A, as formed June 14, 1871, contains the names of 71 members, certified by Maj. F. W. Fuchs, mustering officer, and indorsed by B. Gratz Brown, Governor.

"Among the officers and noncommissioned officers were George West, Captain; W. C. Jones (later Judge), Second Lieutenant; Norman J. Colman (later Secretary of Agriculture), and Bryan Mullanphy Clemens, Sergeants; M. M. Buck, M. K. McGrath, R. W. Waters, J. W. Kennett and J. W. Darby, Corporals, and among the privates the following:

"D. Robert Barclay, M. Beach, C. C. Campbell, A. J. Clubb, W. H. Lee, Kenneth McKenzie, George D. McManus, T. G. Moss, M. Rumsey, C. A. Rule, D. A. Sutton, M. T. Steinberg, T. T. Taylor, Emil Thomas, Joseph H. Tiernan, R. H. Walsh, T. P. Gay, T. B. Greer and S. C. Hemingway.

"Surviving members include Garrard Strode, J. F. Bell, John D. Johnson, John B. O'Meara and F. J. Suda."

Several Persons Hurt as Result of Exhibition at Military Academy's Exercises.

By the Associated Press.

CHESTER, Pa., June 14.—Several persons were injured, one of them seriously, when shells used in a mimic gas attack, conducted in connection with the closing exercises of the Pennsylvania Military College here last night, exploded and sent fragments of iron among the spectators. Samuel Dietch of Chester was the most seriously injured. His chest was crushed.

More than 120 shells had been fired successfully when a number burst about 50 feet in the air over the spectators.

Col. L. H. Hutson, U. S. A., of the gas research laboratory at the Edgewood (Md.) Arsenal, had charge of the exhibition.

R. B. ARMSTRONG HEADS CAR MEN

Laclede Avenue Line Conductor Succeeds H. M. Nelson.

R. B. Armstrong, conductor on the Laclede avenue line, has been elected president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, Local 788 (street car men's union) to succeed H. M. Nelson, who recently resigned. The election was held yesterday morning and last night at the union's headquarters, 2228 Olive street.

More than 3000 members of the union attended the meetings. Armstrong was opposed by L. A. Smith, a conductor on the Lee avenue line. A recording secretary and a corresponding secretary also were voted on, but the ballots for those two offices have not yet been counted. The term of John O'Connor, financial secretary, has not expired.

SEVEN PERSONS HURT IN MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Seven persons were injured in four automobile accidents and one in a motor-cycle accident in St. Louis last night.

Machines driven by John Hellman of 3115 Pennsylvania avenue and Gus Klockzin of 3506 Henrietta street collided, at 7:45 p. m., at Virginia avenue and Cherokee street. With Klockzin were Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Broeder and their 1-year-old child, also of 3506 Henrietta street. The Klockzin machine was overturned. Mrs. Broeder's side was injured and her left arm and scalp cut. The baby was cut on the head and Klockzin was bruised.

Helen Podgwiney, 9, of 1737 North Ninth street, carrying her 18-months-old niece, Vonda Podolski, was struck at 6 p. m. in front of her home by an automobile driven by Erwin Thake, 3922 Lexington avenue. Both children were cut and bruised. Thake said the girl stepped in front of his machine in the middle of the block and the accident was unavoidable.

An automobile driven by Robert E. Lee of 3861 Cottage avenue collided with one driven by Edward Dunker of 4959 Union boulevard, at Florissant avenue and King's highway, at 8:45 p. m. Several members of Lee's family were in his machine. The only one injured was his mother, Mrs. Hattie Lee, 61 years old. She was internally hurt and her scalp was cut. She was taken to the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium. Both drivers were arrested.

Robert Zerkle of Maplewood, a Park avenue line motorman, was injured at 6 p. m. when his car collided with an ice truck driven by Arthur L. Comer of 4225 Racecourse avenue at Flora boulevard and Thirty-ninth street. His right elbow was fractured and his back sprained.

Frederick Robinson, 19, of 1316 Mississippi avenue, a shoe worker, was riding a motor cycle near Ninth and Soulard streets at 8 p. m., when a boy crossed his path. To avoid striking the boy he swerved and the motor cycle skidded and struck a curb, throwing him off. He is at the city hospital with a probable fracture of the skull and cuts and bruises on his shoulders and arms.

MINISTERS FAVOR RENT LAWS

The Baptist Ministers' Association and the Southern Methodist ministers of St. Louis yesterday adopted resolutions favoring rent legislation on the part of the Legislature, following addresses on the subject by Alfred W. Henry, president of the Rent Relief League. The Methodist ministers appointed a committee to give any assistance possible.

More ministers have signified that they will preach on rent relief next Sunday or assist in the circulation of petitions to the Governor on the subject. Henry addressed the night shift of the Street Carmen's Union yesterday and the men indicated their approval of rent relief.

NEW COKE PLANT WILL SUPPLY GAS TO FOUR CITIES

Contract Closed Whereby Product of St. Louis Coke and Chemical Co. Will Be Used on East Side.

ST. CLAIR WORKS WILL UTILIZE IT

Abundant Industrial Fuel Promised to East St. Louis, Belleville, Collinsville and Edwardsville.

A contract was completed yesterday whereby the cities of East St. Louis, Belleville, Collinsville and Edwardsville will be supplied with gas for household consumption from the new plant at Granite City of the St. Louis Coke and Chemical Co.

The coke company last week, as was told, entered the St. Louis market with coke for household consumption at a lower price than the prevailing price of other coke companies.

The price for gas to the four east side cities will remain unchanged for the present, it was stated by C. H. Quackenbush, manager of the St. Clair County Gas and Electric Co., which will now cease to manufacture gas by the water gas method of coal and oil and will use the gas, which is a by-product of the coke company's operation.

Will Furnish Industrial Fuel.

One of the benefits which it was asserted at the time the project to build the coke plant was announced, would accrue to nearby cities, was that it would make available a large volume of gas for industrial and household consumption at a rate cheaper than prevailing rates. A large volume of gas from the coke plant now is being sent to nearby industries, notably the National Enameling and Stamping Co., which has discarded coal as a fuel.

The new source of supply will require the construction of a six-mile pipe line from the Granite City plant of the coke company to the distribution plant of the gas company, at an estimated cost of $70,000. Quackenbush said that the gas company was unable to finance such a project and that the American Gas Co. of Philadelphia, which controls the St. Clair County Gas and Electric Co., had organized a new subsidiary, the Cahokia Gas and Oil Co., to perform this service.

Distributing Company Formed.

He said that the new Cahokia company would buy the gas from the coke company at a cost of from 39 to 41 cents per 1000 feet and would resell it to the St. Clair company at 46 cents per 1000 feet. The St. Clair company, for the present, will sell to the consumer at the present rate, which ranges from 90 cents to $1.30, according to the amount consumed.

The contract is for five years and a yearly supply of 500,000,000 cubic feet, which is greater than the present manufacture of the St. Clair company. The water gas plant of the St. Clair company will not be totally abandoned, but will be utilized to clarify the gas as received from the coke plant.

Denies Operating Punchboard.

In explanation of his arrest last Saturday on a charge of establishing a lottery, after detectives had seized 46 punchboards and a fortune-telling board in his establishment, William A. Schmeckebier of Webster Groves, proprietor of a wholesale candy company at 111-13 South Broadway, an account of whose arrest was printed in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch, said today that he was not guilty of the sale of them to a man in the West End. He said that he kept punchboards in his place for sale to grocers in Illinois, where the sale is not illegal. He declares the charge on which the arrest was made did not grow out of the operation of a punchboard at his office.

JUSTICE OF PEACE OUSTED AS POLICE JUDGE IN WEBSTER

MOVE ALSO MADE TO OUST HIM AS JUSTICE

Is Said to Have Split With Deputy Sheriff Money Received as Payment of "Costs" in Many Cases.

Justice of the Peace William Campbell was removed from the office of Police Judge of Webster Groves, by action of the Mayor and Commissioners last night, because of the recent exposure of Campbell's practice of collecting fees for services not performed, and settling numerous cases on payment of costs, the costs being split between the Justice and a Deputy Sheriff, without any payment to the county treasury.

Richard Kopplin of 143 South Gore avenue, credit man for a medicine company, was appointed to the office of Police Judge, and will attend the work in his leisure time, retaining his business position.

Campbell retains his office as Justice of the Peace, but Mayor Peterson and the Webster Groves Commissioners say he will have to get a new courtroom. He has been using a room in the city hall for his Justice Court, as well as for the Police Court.

Further Action Considered.

It was learned from a member of the County Court that action to remove Campbell as a Justice of the Peace is being considered. This may be taken on the ground of the exposures made week before last by Prosecuting Attorney Mueller, or it may be on the ground that Campbell's tenure of the office of Justice of the Peace is not legal. He was appointed a year ago to fill a vacancy, and it has been held by some lawyers that election for that office should have been held at the time of general election last November, and that Campbell, since November, has held the office illegally. A decision to this effect might bring into question Campbell's decisions in any or all of the cases he has handled since last November.

Mayor Peterson of Webster Groves said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"The city officers of Webster Groves have been receiving considerable censure because of the exposure of Justice Campbell's practices. From the fact that he was also Police Judge, some persons have confused his acts as Police Judge with his acts in Justice Court Further confusion and trouble were caused by his using the Police courtroom in the city hall for his Justice Court, and our Town Marshal would get telephone inquiries as to county cases, which he knew nothing about.

Practices Disapproved Of.

"The Commissioners disapprove of the practices which were exposed by Prosecuting Attorney Mueller, and we wish to end, as far as we can, any connection in the public mind between Justice Campbell and our municipal government."

The Prosecuting Attorney visited Justice Campbell's court June 4 and compelled the Justice to refund $4.70 each to two automobile drivers who had been assessed $7.80 costs each on charges of parking without proper lights. He told Campbell that he had made the costs higher than the law calls for, having made the bill of costs include items of service which had not been performed, witness fees, warrant serving and mileage. Not more than $3.60 costs would be justified by law in any of Campbell's cases, Mueller said. "The rest," he declared, "is pure graft of the Justice and the deputy."

Mueller said that in all such cases reported to him he would compel a refund, or would institute a prosecution for extortion. He also denounced the practice of settling cases wholesale on payment of costs, and demanded that no further cases be settled in that manner without the presence of a representative of his office. He said he had previously given such a warning, apparently without effect, and that Justice Campbell was not the only offender.

Don't Forget the Suffering Babies on These Hot Days

PRETTY hot, isn't it? Even in the shade you can find but scant relief for not a breeze seems to be stirring anywhere and the mercury skyrockets but little less in the sheltered places than in the glaring sun.

And there are going to be many hot days this summer—days when it will seem as though every cool breeze that ever blew has deserted your part of the world and evening will find your energies at a pretty low ebb.

Do you ever think on days like this of the babies in our town whose parents are not able to buy the necessaries of life, which for a baby means pure milk and ice to keep it sweet? Ever wonder how the little ones in the tenement districts are going to come out in their pitifully ill-matched fight against poverty, misfortune, suffering and disease? Do you realize that many of them will not survive if the more fortunate people of St. Louis fail to aid them?

No doubt you have given almost to the limit during these last few years, but surely you cannot refuse the appeal of the unfortunate children in the city's crowded tenements for a chance to live. Even the smallest donation will help. Send or bring your contribution to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund.

SUES MRS. HIRSCH FOR $2400

F. F. Bixby Says Amount Is Due for Commission on Sales.

F. F. Bixby, an office employe of the American Car and Foundry Co., who lives at the Laclede Hotel, filed suit in Circuit Court today for $2400 against Mrs. Viola Hirsch, 5092 Waterman avenue, widow of Marcus A. Hirsch, who was president of the Hirsch Rolling Mills, 6800 Manchester avenue.

The petition recites that, following Hirsch's death last year, Bixby agreed to find a purchaser for Mrs. Hirsch's holdings under an agreement that he should receive as commission 2 per cent of the purchase price. It is alleged that Bixby obtained a purchaser, who paid Mrs. Hirsch $150,000 for her interest, but that he received as commission only $600. His suit is for balance due under the terms of the alleged agreement.

An Unequaled Value-Giving Achievement—Read Every Word of This Announcement

One of America's largest makers of Men's Shirts found himself heavily overstocked, due to cancellations from dealers who had overestimated the volume of Spring business in their territories. His factories were running full force and were turning out enough Shirts to meet his regular demands. He couldn't afford to hold these Shirts in stock and dispose of them in small lots, and therefore made us a proposition to take them off his hands at far less than regular wholesale prices. Though amazed at his proposition we quickly grasped the opportunity offered and, as a result, you can choose from Shirts of

Fiber Silk
Silk Mixtures
Fine Woven Madras
Tussah Silk
Fine Silk-Striped Madras
Fine Percale

Every Shirt is made right—no skimping—no overlooking the little details that mean so much in longer wear and smart appearance.

Sleeves and neckbands have just the right "set" for comfort and freedom of movement—every buttonhole is carefully worked. All are made in the popular neckband coat style with soft cuffs.

Any man who has ever attended a Shirt sale at this store knows that he can come here expecting values that are EXTRAORDINARY in every sense of the word—in fact, these values are so unusual that we expect this event to add thousands of new names to our steadily growing list of patrons.

No matter what size you wear—every size from 13½ to 18½ neckband is included in this wonderful offering.

Miss Ruth Cunliff will wear a gown of pink taffeta and lace with a short train. The bridesmaids will wear taffeta frocks of Nile green and peachblow. All three of the bride's attendants will wear headdresses of silver leaves and will carry spring flowers.

The ceremony will be followed by a small reception for relatives and close friends. After a honeymoon trip in the North, the couple will reside at 3213 Palm street.

Miss Hanpeter is the daughter of E. C. Hanpeter of 3213 Palm street. She was educated at the Universities of Missouri and Wisconsin, where she was a member of the Delta Gamma sorority. "FRA DIAVOLO" OPENS TONIGHT WITH STEVENS IN TITLE ROLE

Miss Katherine Galloway Will Have Chief Feminine Role in the Auber Production.

The second week of municipal opera is to start at 8:15 o'clock tonight, at the open-air theater in Forest Park, with a presentation of Auber's "Fra Diavolo."

The title role, originally written for a tenor, should afford congenial opportunities for the high baritone of James Stevens, and also for his abilities as an actor. The part is that of a bandit chieftain who poses as a nobleman, and who wooes the bland and buxom Lady Allcash for the sake of stealing her jewels.

The chief feminine role is that of Zerlina, the sprightly daughter of an innkeeper. The composer has provided the heroine with quantities of lively, florid and tuneful music, forming no small test of vocal technique. This part falls to Miss Katherine Galloway.

Frank Moulan and Charles E. Gallagher will be seen as a brace of comedy bandits. Harry Hermsen, making his first appearance this summer, will have the part of Lord Allcash, a type of touring Briton as seen through the eyes of the Continent. Ralph Nicholls, assistant stage director, will be Matteo, father of Zerlina, and Miss Mildred Rogers will be Lady Allcash.

The production is cosmopolitan, in that the settings and characters are Italian, while the music and original text are by a French composer and a French librettist, Auber and Scribe; in addition to which the English version to be used tonight was edited by Sir Arthur Sullivan and J. Pittman.

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, a new York critic, will attend tonight's performance as corespondent for the New York Times and the Boston Transcript.

CEREMONIES TODAY IN HONOR OF FLAG

Postoffice Employes Hold Exercises and Flags Are Displayed on Public Buildings.

An audience which nearly filled the Municipal Theater attended the second annual Flag day observance of St. Louis Lodge No. 9, B. P. O. Elks last night. Following patriotic music and juvenile exercises, United States Senator Reed made the principal address.

After speaking of the history of the flag, Senator Reed said:

"It is our duty as citizens to consecrate ourselves to the perpetuation of the liberties inherited from the Fathers. If we keep true to the fundamental tenents of Democracy, preserve the chastity of our Government, maintain the purity of the fountains of justice, and keep fresh and sweet the currents of American life, this republic can never fall. No nation nor combination of nations can accomplish its overthrow. We could in case of necessity put 12,000,000 men in the field to defend our borders from attack. Upon our own resources we could maintain that army until the assaults of our enemies would be broken upon the bayonets of America's sons.

Undermining of Ideals.

"The great danger to guard against is the undermining of American institutions and ideals by insidious processes working within our own borders. To oppose all such movements, to maintain the integrity of our institutions and to defend and protect the Constitution is the sacred duty of every man and woman of the republic. If we shall but perform that task then the shadowy races who are yet to march across this bank of time will salute the American flag as the emblem of equality, prosperity and liberty. Their eyes will gaze in admiration upon the greatest nation ever under the providence of God builded by the hands of man."

Today was observed as Flag day by the displaying of flags on public buildings and some business houses.

Employes of the Postoffice observed the day by exercises this morning, at which Senator Reed spoke, and the Letter Carriers' band furnished music. John M. Taffe was chairman of the gatherings, and Postmaster Selph introduced Senator Reed.

Luncheon at City Club.

A Flag day luncheon was held by the City Club. Celebrations were held at a number of industrial plants, with invited speakers and singers. Observances by patriotic societies include that of the Missouri Society, Sons of the American Revolution, at Jefferson Memorial, and that of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the home of Mrs. M. Louise Thomas in Kirkwood.

The Jefferson Barracks band will give a program of patriotic music at Lafayette Park tonight, at which the Rev. Dr. E. Combe Smith will speak on "Our Flag."

Col. John H. Parker, commanding officer of the Barracks, will speak before the Carondelet Improvement Association in the Carondelet Branch Library tonight. George M. Ravold will sing, and refreshments will be served.

$100 VOUCHER IN FAVOR OF LLOYD HELD UP BY HACKMANN

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—State Auditor Hackmann has refused to approve a voucher for $100, drawn against the State Centennial fund, and payable to Lieut. Gov. Lloyd, "for a stenographer at St. Louis," which the Executive Committee of the Centennial Commission authorized him to employ. Lloyd is chairman of the Executive Committee.

Hackmann's objection is that the voucher, which is for May, is made out to Lloyd and not to the stenographer. The voucher was approved by Samuel L. Highleyman of Sedalia, treasurer of the commission, and by Frank H. Hopkins of Westboro, manager. However, Highleyman declared in Hackmann's office yesterday that Lloyd was no more entitled to a stenographer than the rest of the members of the commission.

Lloyd said last night that the members of the Executive Committee of the commission unanimously had voted to allow him a stenographer, and that he presumed the voucher had been made out to him because other centennial authorities did not have the name of the stenographer.

Friends of Hackmann and Lloyd have said that there has been an increasing coolness between these two officials since the Lieutenant-Governor voiced some criticism of Hackmann's department because the auditor had approved a payment for land purchased by the Board of Regents of Lincoln University at a price deemed by Lloyd to have been excessive, before the money had been released by Gov. Hyde, as required in the appropriation bill.

U. S. TO WITHDRAW MILITARY RULE IN DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Hope that military control over the Dominican republic can be withdrawn within eight months is expressed in a proclamation published there today by Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, Military Governor, in connection with the decision of President Harding's administration to withdraw. The Military Governor will surrender executive power as soon as a President has been duly elected and the Dominican Congress has ratified a "convention of evacuation."

Marines were sent into the island republic in 1916 because of unstable conditions. Toward the close of his second administration President Wilson declared that the purpose of the occupation had been substantially accomplished. President Harding now has ordered preparations for withdrawal.

Primary assemblies are to meet within a month and electors will be chosen, who will in turn elect Senators and Deputies and prepare a list of judicial officers of the various courts.

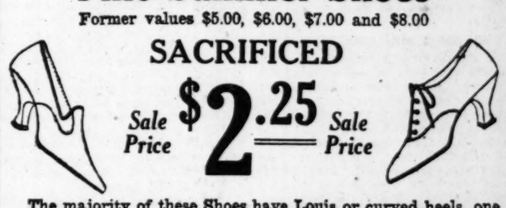

Following this the Military Governor will name a group of citizens with whom the convention of evacuation will be negotiated, providing for ratification of all acts of the military government, including validation of the final loan of $2,500,000 to complete public works projects under way.

Illinois to Take Over Cement Plants in Fight on Road Building Costs Unless Prices Drop

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 6.—Illinois, having scored a decided victory in a skirmish with road contractors bidding on work under the State's $60,000,000 road bond issue, is preparing to carry its fight for the building of roads at a reasonable cost to the so-called "cement trust." Gov. Small has had passed by the Legislature a bill authorizing the condemnation and purchase by the State of cement plants, and the Governor has said privately that he intends exercising the authority unless there is a sharp decline in the price of cement.

When Gov. Small looked over the contractors' bids for road building in several counties, he declared all the bids to be too high and issued instructions they should be rejected and new bids asked for. As a result Illinois will save $11,057 per mile on 18-foot concrete roads.

Illinois Experience Valuable.

The experience of Illinois is of particular interest at this time in Missouri, which is planning the expenditure of its $60,000,000 bond issue, and in St. Louis County, where work already is under way on its roads to be built under the county bond issue of $3,000,000. Missouri and St. Louis County may profit to the extent of a good many additional miles of roads for its $60,000,000 by studying the Illinois experience.

As a result of Gov. Small's personal interest in protecting the State from exorbitant costs in road construction, it is probable there soon will be a conference of the Governors of Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, Iowa, Indiana and other middle Western states, with a view to working out a feasible plan for obtaining cement for roads at considerably less than the prices fixed by the cement companies. From this conference it is possible there will result a recommendation for legislation in the other states for state-owned cement plants, or for the purchase by other states of cement manufactured in state-owned plants in some of the states.

$11,057 a Mile Drop in Bids.

A clear-cut illustration of the situation here is on roads in Vermillion County. Bids were advertised in January for an 18-foot concrete road. They were opened Feb. 18 and the lowest was found to be $36,913 per mile. On Gov. Small's instructions all the bids were rejected and the road was readvertised. May 25 the new bids were opened and the Illinois executive found the same contractors bidding, but a remarkable change in their bids. The lowest under the readvertisement was $25,856 per mile, or $11,057 less than the first figure. On 50 miles of road that saving would amount to more than a half million dollars, and at the new price would make possible the building of 21 additional miles of road. The saving was about one-third.

The costs of the Illinois roads are exclusive of the cement which goes into their construction, Illinois purchasing the cement and supplying the contractors with it.

Profits Under Bids Shown.

Examination of the unit prices in bids of Illinois contractors reveals startling evidence of the profits which would have accrued to them under the first bids submitted, the natural assumption being that they figured a reasonable profit in their revised bids.

On the Vermillion County roads the first bid was 60 cents a cubic yard for excavation. The second bid was 45 cents, a drop of one-fourth. For Class A concrete, the first price was $25 per cubic yard; the second, $20, a decrease of $5, or one-fifth. For reinforcing steel the first price was 6 cents per pound; the second, 3 cents, a decrease of one-half. There were similar decreases on the other items entering into the construction.

On a Kane county road, the first bid was 90.6 cents per cubic yard of excavation. The second was 59.2 cents, a decrease of more than one-third. Class A concrete dropped from $41.20 to $29.61, a decrease of 28 per cent. Reinforcing steel dropped from 7.2 to 6.8 cents, a decrease of 5½ per cent. There were similar reductions on other Kane County contracts.

On the Kankakee County road, excavation dropped from 88 cents to 75 cents, a decrease of 14.8 per cent. Class A concrete dropped from $28 to $20, a decrease of 28½ per cent.

"We are determined that our road building program in Illinois shall be pushed to completion just as rapidly as is consistent with good business judgment," Gov. Small said to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"No Funds for Profiteers."

"When we say this we mean that Illinois is not going to be blocked indefinitely in this purpose by the cement trust, or any other group of commercial profiteers who think first of filling their own pockets, and of the people next. We have repeatedly stated, and we still insist that for every dollar spent we must get a dollar's worth of good roads. The millions contributed by Illinois taxpayers to the good roads fund were intended for roads, not for the pockets of the profiteers.

"It is not my desire to prate of progress which we are making. I prefer to let facts speak for themselves. For example, on Feb. 18 we rejected bids for bond issue concrete roads in Vermillion County. Contractors asked $36,913 per mile for completed concrete roads. We told the contractors that the price asked was exorbitant, that the State would not be justified in paying such a price.

On May 25, we opened bids again for the same road and on the same specifications. The price then quoted was $25,856, or a saving of $11,057 per mile on the low bids for an 18-foot road.

Prices Tumbling in Illinois.

"This is only one evidence of the fact that our battle for fair road prices is bringing results. We have established the broad principle that $30,000 per mile for 18-foot, 7-inch reinforced concrete road is the maximum limit, above which we will not go in the awarding of contracts. We know that anything above that limit is based on a profiteers' profit, which is unfair and unreasonable. Material men and contractors are commencing to realize that we mean what we say, and the result, as evidenced above, is that prices are tumbling in Illinois.

"Labor, material, everything practically except cement, has found a lower level of prices. Contractors and some material producers are attempting to help us build roads at fair prices. The Cement Trust alone holds out. We know that its price is unfair.

Conference of Governors.

"Some days ago I suggested to Gov. John J. Blaine of Wisconsin that we join in calling the Governors of mid-western states into a conference for the purpose of adopting ways and means of protecting the taxpayers of these states from looting of the public purse by the Cement Trust. Gov. Blaine has replied that he will be glad to join in such a conference. The suggestion will soon be presented to other Governors of adjoining states that are face to face with the same problems faced by Illinois and Wisconsin.

"We have been patient beyond any right of expectancy. Above everything else we are determined to build roads at fair cost and we do not propose longer to have our whole program halted by the profiteers who have too long fattened private coffers with public funds."

Work Beginning on Bond Issue Roads in St. Louis County.

In St. Louis County work is just beginning on bond issue roads, only one concrete road having been completed recently. Contracts have been let for several others, and on some there were no bids. Figures available on county road construction show the cost considerably above the $30,000 per mile maximum fixed by Gov. Small in Illinois for 18-foot concrete roads. According to information from county road engineers, construction costs in St. Louis County are higher than in most parts of Illinois because of the fact there are many steep grades to overcome in the county, while in Illinois the terrain generally is flat.

A stretch of 4229 feet of 24-foot concrete road is the only recently completed concrete construction in the county. It cost $46,880.69 and was not steel reinforced. The cost of an 18-foot road on the basis of the price paid for this would have been $40,192.41. This is at the rate of $50,181.13 a mile, or more than $20,000 a mile more than Gov. Small's maximum.

St. Charles Road Work Under Way.

Construction of the St. Charles road from Wellston to the approach of the St. Charles bridge, 12.7 miles, is under way. It is to be of concrete. The two-mile stretch nearest Wellston is to be 46 feet wide, the next four miles 20 feet and the remainder 18 feet.

The two miles nearest the bridge is being built by the William McDonald Construction Co., for $61,666.88, the county furnishing the cement. It

SIDENER ASKS FOR MORE ACTIVE POLICEMEN

Protests Against Assignment of Gillaspy and Reynolds, Retired, to His Office.

Circuit Attorney Sidener protested today against an order from Police Headquarters, withdrawing two patrolmen who have been on duty at his office, and assigning in their places Lieutenant-Colonel C. G. Gillaspy, retired, former Assistant Chief of Police, and Capt. Peter Reynolds, retired. It was the plan of President Miller of the Police Board to place the patrolmen on regular duty.

The Circuit Attorney said he had no personal objection to Col. Gillaspy and Capt. Reynolds, but that he needed the services of active policemen, for quick and energetic work in getting witnesses whom Deputy Sheriffs have failed to produce, and in handling other matters connected with court work. Sidener said he needed five active men for this duty.

When Capt. Reynolds called at Sidener's office this morning Sidener asked him to report back to headquarters, and he stated the case to Chief O'Brien. At the same time it was learned that Lieut. Patrick McKenna, retired, had been assigned to the Prosecuting Attorney's office, to work with the patrolman now stationed there. As this patrolman was not withdrawn, Oakley made no complaint. He made an inquiry of Chief O'Brien, who said he understood that the board intended to give further consideration to the assignments.

Gillaspy, Reynolds and McKenna were among officers of the Police Department recently retired because of age, Gillaspy and Reynolds on a patrolman's pay, and McKenna on the pay of a probationary patrolman.

STRING OF "GOOSE EGGS" FOR THE CLEARING HOUSE LOTTERIES

Management to Announce Clearings Only in Round Numbers to Check Gambling on Figures.

The St. Louis Clearing House Association yesterday put up a string of "goose eggs" for the gamblers who have been conducting lotteries based on the daily report of bank clearings. In an effort to check this form of gambling, which had reached large proportions, the association decided that in future it would announce the clearings only in round numbers—millions and hundreds of thousands.

The clearings lotteries have been based on the last three, and in some cases the last four figures of the clearings. Under the new system these terminals as reported will always be a string of zeros.

"The practice of using the clearing house figures for purposes of gambling became so widespread that we felt something should be done to stop it," said E. B. Pryor, president of the St. Louis Clearing House Association. "Barber shops, drug stores, saloons and many industrial plants had clearing house lottery tickets for sale. If this plan does not succeed, we shall try some other."

ROBBERY CHARGES DISMISSED

Driver of Auto in East St. Louis Holdup Freed.

Two charges of attempted robbery that had been pending against Edward Pohlmann, driver of the automobile in which the men who figured in the holdup of the Kearns saloon in East St. Louis were taken to the scene on Nov. 14, 1920, were nolle prossed by State's Attorney Schaumleffel at Belleville this morning and Pohlmann was released. Pohlmann's evidence was used by the State in prosecutions in the case.

In the holdup of the saloon at Sixteenth and St. Louis avenues, Detectives Perry Frost of East St. Louis was killed and Gaylord Batholomew and Norman Taylor, found guilty of participation in the crime, later were sentenced to 20 years each.

ILLINOIS TO TAKE OVER CEMENT PLANTS IN ROADS FIGHT

is estimated by county engineers that 7900 barrels of cement, costing $21,100 net, will be needed, which would bring the cost of the two miles of road up to $82,766.68, or $41,383.44 a mile.

The county is acting as contractor for the construction of the remaining 10.7 miles. The county engineers' estimate for the entire 12.7 miles is $590,226.58.

The Manchester road is to be built of concrete 15.75 miles, from the North and South road to the Eatherton road at Grover, beyond Ellisville. The contract has been awarded to the Louis Rich Construction Co., for $595,944, about $30,000 below the engineer's estimate. Beginning of construction is delayed by the failure of the county to sell the bonds. The road is to be part 18 feet and part 20 feet.

Bids were asked for last month for 6.07 miles of the Gravois road from Weber road to Kennerly road, the width to be part 18 feet and part 20 feet, and on the Lemay Ferry road, 7.02 miles, from the Telegraph road to the Meramec River. It is to be 18 feet wide. Both roads are to be of concrete. No bids were received for the Gravois road, which was estimated to cost $304,539.32. The lowest bid on the Lemay Ferry road was $30,000 above the estimate of $303,000.69. This was at the rate of $47,570 a mile.

"Certainly Did Wonders For Me"

Mrs. A. E. Hager, 909 London Road, Duluth, Minn., writes: "I have been taking your Cadomene tablets for the past month. They certainly did wonders for me, as I was so nervous I wasn't able to do my own housework; so sick and miserable. Now I can do all my own work and feel good all the time. My daughter and her husband have also been taking them, and they helped wonderfully."

Cadomene should be taken by any one who has symptoms of impoverished blood and weak nerves, like the following: Nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, weakness, nervous indigestion, headache, backache, trembling at slightest mental excitement or physical exertion, cold extremities, uncalled-for worry or fear, lack of energy and "high spirits."

Cadomene supplies iron and phosphorous with other tonics that build up blood and Nerve Force. Take them and see how quickly they bring astonishing benefit to your poor "frazzled" nervous system. All good druggists sell them.

POLICE SEEK YOUTH POSING AS SON OF FORMER FIRE CHIEF

He Gives Name as William Swingley and Twice Deceives Another— Bad Checks Reported.

The police are seeking a young man who has been posing as "William Swingley, son of the former Fire Chief." Charles E. Swingley, former Fire Chief, has no son named William.

The young man last Sunday invited Frank Taylor, 4114 Lucky street, to accompany him on an automobile ride and to bring two young women friends. After a day spent at Meramec River resorts, the young man informed Taylor that the automobile was a taxicab and that he was "afraid he didn't have enough money to settle the rather large bill." Taylor loaned him $10 and gave him his father's watch.

The young man alighted at the Westminster avenue address. After waiting for some time in the automobile, which also was a taxicab, Taylor inquired at the house and found that former Fire Chief Swingley did not live there. Neighbors observed the young man going down an alley. It developed that the young man had been riding about for some time before calling for Taylor and that there was a taxicab bill of $15 due.

Police, interviewing former Fire Chief Swingley, learned that checks signed with the name of Charles E. Swingley Jr. recently had been cashed about town.

TOWBOAT AND FOUR BARGES, BUILT HERE, TO ENTER OIL TRADE

Craft Costing $250,000 Will Depart This Evening for Tampico—More to Be Built.

A towboat and four barges built by the Philip A. Rohan Boat, Boiler and Tank Co. at Marceau street for the Banco Transportation Co., a St. Louis enterprise, will leave this evening for Tampico, Mexico, to enter the oil transportation traffic on the Panuco River between Banco and Tampico.

The equipment represents an investment of $250,000. Meyer Katz, president of the company, says another towboat and other barges will be built. Associated with him are F. A. Turner, vice president; Samuel Katz, secretary, and Edward Nowland Jr., treasurer and manager. Nowland was formerly superintendent of the Government barge line.

The barges are built with compartments for containing oil and are equipped with pumping machinery for loading and unloading. The oil will be transported 55 miles down the river to Tampico and there transferred to steamships.

Eight days will be occupied in reaching New Orleans from here and four more days in crossing the Gulf of Mexico to Tampico.

TWO YOUTHS IN STALLED AUTO CAUSE HOLDUP SCARE AT CLUB

Farmer Tells Riverview Guests of Men Waiting to Waylay Them and Call for Police Follows.

Two young men in an automobile that stalled because of engine trouble on the Riverside Drive, near the South Drive entrance to the Riverview Club, early Sunday caused a holdup scare among a number of persons at the club and resulted in a call for the police.

A farmer living near the club started the excitement when he arrived with a shotgun and announced he had investigated two "suspicious" characters in the road and had been driven off by them. He reported they were armed and were apparently waiting to hold up club members leaving by the South Drive. He also said he understood two machines had been pursued by the "holdups."

A call to the police sent motorcycle men to the scene. They questioned the young men, then allowed them to proceed, but on going into the club the motor-cycle men were told of the farmer's story and it aroused their suspicions again and they chased the men to the junction of Broadway and the Riverview Drive, where they again explained their presence in the road and produced proofs of their identity. They were again released.

SHERIFF'S STORY OF ROY GARDNER'S ESCAPE

Mail Bandit Suddenly Cornered Two Officers, and, With Another, Left Train.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Details of the escape of Roy Gardner, mail bandit, and N. H. Pyron, counterfeiter, from custody, near Castle Rock, Wash., early last Saturday while being taken to prison, were related by United States Marshal Thomas F. Mulhall and Federal Guard W. D. Rinckle, who returned to San Francisco.

"The porter came to make the berths about midnight," said Mulhall. "We moved Gardner and Pyron to the smoking room and then moved them back to our stateroom. Pyron was put to bed. We put leg irons on him.

"Gardner was washing his hands, leaning over the basin, with me right in back of him. He swung around, whipped out a pistol from beneath his clothing and had me covered.

"'Stick up your hands,' he said.

Gardner Was Too Quick.

"I did. Rinckle made a rush but Gardner was too quick. He got my gun and backed into a corner, where he could cover us.

"Pyron jumped down from his berth and Gardner told him to search us for keys. He found them and freed himself and then Gardner.

"Gardner told Pyron to handcuff us, which he did, putting us face to face, and he clinched the handcuffs very tight. Pyron then found Rinckle's gun in a satchel.

"Gardner made me sit on the edge of the berth and fastened his Oregon boot on me. Another part was fastened to some pipes, so that we were handcuffed, booted and chained to the car.

"Gardner took my purse with $80 in it. Pyron took Rinckle's roll of $120.

"'What are we going to get breakfast with?' I asked Gardner, and he threw down a $5 bill. He said he would leave the handcuff keys in the washroom.

Tosses in a Souvenir.

"Gardner raised a window at Castle Rock and backed out of it, never once taking the guns off us. When he dropped outside he opened his gun, threw out the cartridges and tossed it at us.

"'Here's a souvenir,' he said, 'the gun you got stuck up with.'"

Pyron, according to Mulhall, dived head first through the window.

GENERAL MOTORS PLANT HERE TO BE DEVELOPED TO CAPACITY

Property Expected to Become One of Most Active in Organization, Vice President Writes.

That the St. Louis plant of the General Motors Corporation figures prominently in the development of the company's plans for the future, is the statement contained in a letter received yesterday by W. Frank Carter, president of the Chamber of Commerce, from C. S. Mott, vice president of the General Motors Corporation of Detroit.

Following reports to the effect that the General Motors plant here was to be dismantled and eliminated from all future manufacturing plans of the General Motors Co., the Chamber of Commerce queried the General Motors Corporation. Mott's reply follows:

"I greatly regret that rumors harmful to the city of St. Louis and General Motors Corporation have spread. I am very glad, however, to be able to advise you that the new management of General Motors Corporation has drawn a new and constructive picture of its future activities, and, while it will be glad to sell a few odd lots of property which do not fit in the picture, I am sure you will be glad to know that our St. Louis plant figures very prominently in our future developments.

"It was necessary, owing to certain temporary conditions, to reduce our activities in your city, but our St. Louis plant is not for sale at any price, and in the development of our plans for the future we expect to make this plant one of the most active in our organization and to fill it with work to its capacity.

"We are perfectly satisfied with our St. Louis investment, its geographical location, railroad service and labor market, and we feel sure that you will be pleased with our plans when the time comes for us to put them into execution."

MAN WOUNDED BY INTRUDERS OUTSIDE GARAGE AT KIMMSWICK

Louis Oestricker Is Shot in Head in Revolver Fight With Two Men.

Louis Oestricker of Kimmswick, Mo., was brought to Alexian Brothers' Hospital early this morning after being shot by a burglar in Kimmswick, 22 miles south of St. Louis. A bullet struck him over the left eye and ranged around the skull, emerging at the back of his head without touching the brain.

John Hilkert, postmaster at Kimmswick, telephoned the St. Louis police that Oestricker had been sleeping in a wagon bed in the rear of his home and was awakened by a noise in the Naes Bros. garage next door. He saw an automobile near the garage and two men approaching the garage door.

Oestricker got a revolver and opened fire on the men. They returned the fire and escaped after he was wounded. Nothing was stolen.

FORMER OFFICE BOY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF WASHINGTON BANK

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Milton E. Ailes, who began his career as a boy in the Treasury Department clearing ashes from the fireplaces and filling the water coolers, yesterday was elected president of the Riggs National Bank, one of the largest financial institutions of the East. For many years he has been a vice president. Charles C. Glover, the president, was elected chairman of the board.

Ailes came to the capital many years ago, a penniless boy, from Shelby County, O. While he polished door knobs and piled a broom in the Treasury he studied finance.

When John G. Carlisle took the Treasury portfolio, Ailes became private secretary to one of his assistants. Lyman J. Gage found his knowledge of Treasury affairs so complete that he asked President McKinley to make Ailes an assistant secretary to the Treasury, but discovered to his horror that Ailes came of Democratic stock.

"That's not important, Gage," President McKinley said. "If you and I had been raised in Shelby County we'd be Democrats, too. He can't help it."

McKinley appointed him Secretary Gage's chief assistant, and as such Ailes conducted the principal Treasury operations, including Spanish War financing. Meanwhile, he took over the job of schoolmaster to the set of young men Gage brought to the Treasury, among whom were Frank A. Vanderlip and others now national figures in finance. After enjoying the intimate friendship of McKinley and Roosevelt, Ailes left the Treasury and became a banker.

ONE OF DEFENDANTS IN TOLEDO POSTOFFICE ROBBERY FAINTS

By the Associated Press.

TOLEDO, June 14.—James Feese, one of the 32 defendants indicted in the million dollar postoffice robbery, on the stand yesterday afternoon, and told a jury of his connection in handling the loot.

As he sat in the witness chair Joe Zellick, one of those on trial, fainted.

Proceedings were held up 10 minutes while deputies dashed water in his face and fanned him. He was still in a dazed condition when Judge Killits ordered the trial to proceed.

About that time Mrs. Harriet Sommers, mother of Pearl Sommers, another defendant, painted on the courthouse steps. She was taken home in an ambulance.

Feese, at Prosecutor Bolin's invitation, left the witness chair and picked James Sansone from the 18 defendants as one of the two men who took him to where the postoffice loot was hidden in his garage a few hours after the robbery on the morning of Feb. 17. The identified defendant cursed the witness.

According to Feese he was a victim of other defendants who forced him to share in handling the loot.

ST. LOUIS FIRM GETS THE STATE PAPER CONTRACT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—The State Printing Commission comprising Secretary of State Becker, Auditor Hackman and Treasurer Thompson yesterday let contracts for the office incidentals, paper and bookbinding for the State departments and the Supreme Court for this year, a material reduction being obtained on office incidentals and paper, the binding contract being practically at the same price as last year.

The paper contract went to the Graham Paper Co. of St. Louis, which has had the contract for a number of years. The classes of paper of which most is used are lawbook, offered by Graham at $8.36 a hundred pounds, compared to $20.40 a hundred last year, and English finish at $8.36 a hundred, compared to $16.88 a hundred last year. Letterheads are offered at $16.25 a hundred, compared to $26 last year, and bond papers at $22 a hundred, compared to $37 last year.

The contract provides that the State is to have the benefit of all declines in the company's prices during the life of the contract.

Botts & Sons of Sedalia, with a bid of $3611.25, got the office incidentals contract. This company had the same contract last year, with a price of $5995.75. The Hugh Stephens Printing Co. of Jefferson City again got the binding contract, being the only bidder. The rates are about the same as last year. The paper contract amounts to about $75,000.

SITE FOR PROPOSED HOME FOR WAYWARD GIRLS SELECTED

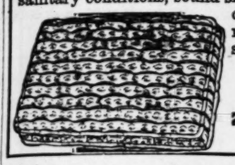

A tract of 35½ acres, opposite the Riverview Club, has been selected by Mayor Kiel and Comptroller Nolte as the site for a home for wayward girls. An ordinance appropriating $19,500 for the purchase of the site will be introduced into the Board of Aldermen, and an appropriation of $30,500 to begin building work will be asked for. The Mayor promised, as a campaign pledge to women's organizations, to recommend a $50,000 appropriation in this year's budget for this institution.

The site selected has city water, and electric light, and is within a half-mile of the Waterworks electric line. It is owned by Joseph M. Ebeling.

Mrs. John S. Payne, president of the Federated Women's Clubs of the Eighth District, has inspected the site and other sites proposed, with the Mayor and Nolte, and approved the choice.

Why are You Waiting?

A message to the retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers of this city.

Who is the mysterious "everybody else" that you are waiting for—that your neighbor merchant is waiting for, that your salesmen are waiting for?

This reluctant buyer is your salesman, your neighbor, yourself.

There is plenty of money in the country—all the experts agree on that. There is a willingness to buy—FOLKS are merely waiting to see how badly WE want to sell.

But many salesmen still act as if they had lost faith in their goods—many executives are simply "marking time."

All that business needs is for someone to give it a push and start it going. The man who shows faith in his business by spending his own money is going to arouse faith in others.

We believe it. We are showing our own faith by buying this space to urge you to join us in starting something in this community—and other Burroughs offices, the country over, are doing the same thing.

Let us all begin today, by buying the things we need, and our business needs, and let us sell with old-fashioned, hearty optimism and enthusiasm.

Let us stop saying, "Wait until everybody else begins to buy, then I will." Why not begin now?

0,000 SHRINERS AT IMPERIAL COUNCIL

posed National Hospital at Louis Chief Business Before Des Moines Session.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 14.—Ten housand Shriners, garbed in all the ints and shades of the rainbow, assed in review here today before Illis Lewis Garretson of Tacoma, Wash., imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The parade was one of the largest in point of numbers which has ever featured a meeting of the shrine imperial council, which opened its session in Des Moines this morning. Fifty Temples were represented by their bands, patrols or drum corps. Medinah Temple of Chicago, the largest of the units of shrinedom, led one of the largest delegations, with 500 marchers in line.

More than 150,000 persons were packed along the line of march, which was four miles long, and completely roped off.

Temples in Line of March.

The marchers were led by Za-ga-zig Temple of Des Moines, hosts to the imperial council, with Afifi Temple of Tacoma, Wash., and Alee Temple of Savannah, Ga., the home temple of Ernest A. Cutts of Savannah, who will be elected imperial potentate of the shrine at the Des Moines meeting, having places of honor as escorts of the imperial divan.

Shriners from every part of the United States have been pouring into Des Moines since Sunday, and the city is entirely given over to Shrine festivities. Five miles of trackage have been set aside and are being utilized to park the Pullman cars, which are being used as headquarters by many of the temples.

Three-Day Session.

The imperial council was called to order this morning and will be in session for three days. All of the 147 temples of the order are represented, including delegations from Panama, Hawaii and Mexico City.

The chief business before the council is the decision as to what shall be done in regard to the proposed national Shrine hospital. St. Louis is recommended as the site of this institution, which is to be devoted to the care of crippled children, but a considerable sentiment has developed in favor of devoting the $1,000,000 annually, which is being raised for the hospital, to the support of a number of hospitals, including existing hospitals, and located in every part of the country, instead of constructing a single great institution.

A great display of fireworks is to conclude the first day's program this evening, and arrangements have been made to accommodate 10,000 couples of dancers in an open-air ball on the grounds of the Iowa State Capitol.

Music for the dance is to be furnished by the bands of various temples, each taking its turn in playing for the occasion.

The downtown streets which are roped off will also serve as pavilions for the impromptu dances which are scheduled as part of the celebration here tonight.

PUTS ICE IN MOUTH, DIES

Engineer Succumbs in Yards—Heat Probably Contributory Cause.

Clarence G. Sanborn, 53 years old, of 2127 College avenue, a locomotive engineer for the Rock Island Railroad, died suddenly in the yards near Holly and Bulwer avenues, at 4:35 p. m. yesterday, a few seconds after he had picked up a piece of ice from a refrigerator car and had put the ice in his mouth.

The heat is supposed to have been a contributory cause in his death.

GROUND LEASED FOR BARGE TERMINAL HERE

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Champions of waterway development were gratified today to learn that a further definite step had been taken toward the establishment of a modern terminal in South St. Louis for the use of the Government's St. Louis-to-New Orleans barge line.

This latest move in the upbuilding of the river service consisted in the signing of a contract under which the city leases to the Government for 25 years 1000 feet of ground at Rutger street. City Counselor Caulfield represented the city in the transaction and Col. T. Q. Ashburn, acting chief of the Inland and Coastwise Waterways Service, which operates the barge line, signed for the Government.

The negotiations were concluded late yesterday. The city and Federal Government, according to Caulfield, agreed to share the profits from the terminal in a ratio determined by their respective investments.

The city valued the land at $1 a square foot, or $100,000. Contracts have already been let by the Government for a dock to cost $250,000, on which work is expected to begin shortly. In addition, the Government purposes to build two concrete piers costing $90,000 each, making its total investment about 430,000. From a total investment by both parties of $530,000 the city will receive a little less than one-fifth of the profits.

It is stipulated in the contract that the dock shall be open to public use and that no rate discrimination prejudicial to the present municipal dock at North Market street shall be permitted. The city is to be given a year's option on the dock if the Government decides to relinquish its interest.

If the dock passes into the hands of private owners, the city is to receive $5000 a year as rent on the land. Caulfield also agreed to give the Government an option to build on 50,000 square feet of land immediately adjoining the dock site on the south. The terms would be the same—$1 a square foot.

AMERICAN LEGION LEADERS PROTEST AGAINST J. D. APPLEBY

By the Associated Press.

SHAWNEE, Ok., June 14.—The 126 commanders of American Legion posts in conference here yesterday unanimously passed resolutions denouncing the appointment of John D. Appleby of Oklahoma City as district prohibition enforcement officer.

The resolutions, forwarded to President Harding, ask that Appleby's appointment be rescinded in view of his war record and his stand on different questions pertaining to soldier relief.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., June 14.—A complete denial of all the allegations made in resolutions passed last night by American Legion commanders in a meeting at Shawnee against him was made by John D. Appleby who yesterday took the commission of prohibition enforcement officer for the Southwestern district.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 14.—Neither Industrial Court nor the Supreme Court of the State will prevent Alexander Howatt from calling strikes in the coal fields, according to his announcement, received by officials of the Industrial Court yesterday afternoon.

The announcement was made following the decision of the Supreme Court Saturday in which the sentence of a year in jail for contempt of the Crawford County District Court was upheld.

"The Kansas Supreme Court decisions will not in the least alter the policy of the officials of District 14, United Mine Workers, in calling strikes," Howatt said. "When it becomes necessary to call a strike to get justice for the miners of District 14, that course will be taken, regardless of the Supreme Court decisions.

"I have said on previous occasions that the Industrial Court, or, in fact, any other court, will not stand in the way when, in justice to the miners of this district, it becomes necessary to call strikes."

BURIED 40 MINUTES BY CAVEIN

John Finkelkeller, 65 years old, of Alton, was buried 40 minutes under a sewer trench cave-in yesterday at Wood River and suffered no ill effects from the experience. He was working in a stooping position at the bottom of the trench when the cave-in occurred. He instinctively threw up his hands to protect his face and attributes to that his escape from suffocation, as it enabled him to breathe with difficulty.

He was dug out by a squad of men from the Standard Oil refinery, who responded in a motor truck to the alarm.

REPLIES TO YOUTH'S ATTACK ON REFORMERS

Dr. Crafts Gives Advice to One Who Has Been Drinking Because of Prohibition.

The Rev. Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, Washington, D. C., who was in St. Louis recently and preached about reform at several churches, sent to the Post-Dispatch the following explanation and defense of moral reform movements before he departed:

"During my brief reform campaign in Missouri, a part of my transcontinental tour of 25 states, I received a letter from a St. Louis boy who claimed to speak the sentiments of '200 boys' in the factory where he works. He asked me to publish it in some Missouri paper with my reply. Evidently he has not written much for the press, for his rambling letter fills 14 pages. But it is easy to hook out some representative hanks, as cotton inspectors do, that will fairly sample the views of this boy and his 200 comrades, and of thousands more in the State who left school early to get money enough to spend their evenings and Sundays, mostly at the movies.

"This boy twice disclaims being a 'smart Aleck,' but he is probably the 'cock of the walk' in his clan because of his 'gift of gab' and doubtless dreams of the time when he will be the boss of his ward through the same talent for utilizing current epithets and phrases as convincing arguments. For example, he flings at 'paid reformers' and tells us that although he 'never drank before prohibition came, prohibiting him to do it has made him drink everything.'

State Reputation to Live Up To.

"Now the one thing of which I want to remind this boy and his pals is that he is 'from Missouri' and should 'live up to his blue china.' It is a surpreme compliment the nation and the world has given to Missouri in the implication that every man and woman, every boy and girl from Missouri insists to be shown the proof of what they hear. Why not have a State drive right now, as we approach the national independence day, to get everybody in Missouri to make good on the greatest compliment ever applied to a Commonwealth?

"Nearly all the folly and knavery of young and old is due to following bad example and wrong opinions through lack of independence in thinking and acting. Let all preachers, editors, teachers, parents, clubs and societies of Missouri arouse their constituencies to challenge every slander, every careless statement, as Socrates used to do, showing the young men of Athens there was only shifting sand under most of their superficial opinions, in order that they might build new views on rock foundations of truth and fact.

"For example, suppose this boy and others who sneer about reformers' should turn to their dictionaries and histories to be shown what reformers recall are. A re-former, of course, is one who restores something that is out of joint, as a broken leg. A surgeon is a 'paid reformer.' So was Lincoln, who re-formed our body politic. All the social progress of the world has been accomplished through men who sought to reform abuses. Moses, Washington and Roosevelt are examples of reformers. 'Back to Normalcy' is the reformer's slogan. Everything wrong is abandoned. Prize fights, tango dances, vampire pictures, baseball gambling and commercializing Sunday sports are all abnormal in America.

Antagonism of Law.

"That current talk about being driven to swallowing 'moonshine' because the law forbids the making and selling of it is seen to be like the braying of a Missouri jackass when one insists on being shown what it implies. Does it impel a man or boy to rob a bank that the law forbids it? Would it be good philosophy to require banks to be robbed on the ground that 'there is a something in human nature' to make a man do the opposite of what the Government requires?

"If this be so, shall we forbid boys to go to church and Sunday school to insure that they will go? Did God make a supreme blunder when he started all these prohibitions of wrongdoing in the Ten Commandments, which have been adopted as the basis of all the codes of civilization?

"Mr. G. W. Kirchway, national expert on crime, has just told the Missouri Welfare League that there 's less crime in this country now than before the world war, and that this is in large part due to prohibition. That seems to show that prohibition has not been an impulsion to make 'moonshine' in the country at large, however it may have worked in the head of our juvenile correspondent. We fear he uses the top of his head for a hat rack, letting what goes in his ear drop down on his tongue and out, without touching his gray matter. The 'Missouri' way routes from ear to tongue via the brain."

Million Club for New Constitution.

The Executive Committee of the Million Population Club met yesterday at the American Annex Hotel and adopted a resolution indorsing the proposed new Constitution for Missouri, pledging the members to work for it and asking the voters to vote for it. A Constitution Committee comprising Daniel Rosenfeld, E. B. Lampkin, Louis H. Waltke, Walter Guels and John C. McCarthy.

Californian Seeking Brother.

Herman J. Schutt of Los Angeles, Cal., has written to the Post-Dispatch asking for information of the whereabouts of his brother, whom he has not seen for 35 years. He said the last letter received from him was written in St. Louis 20 years ago. Herman Schutt lives at 1627 East Thirty-second street, Los Angeles.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Whitaker's Statement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Inasmuch as my name was mentioned in an article recently appearing in a number of the newspapers of the State on the so-called "county unit" referendum, I trust that I may not appear presumptuous in submitting the following suggestions (correspondingly numbered) to Mr. McKibbin's five "provides" of the "county unit" bill:

1. Uniform length of term can be provided only by shortening the length of term of the best schools.

2. The provision for a uniform school levy simply places the entire county school district at the mercy of the majority of the voters, and instead of (as now) hindering some of the districts where school sentiment is low may hinder and even paralyze the schools of the entire county.

3. On the contrary, this law absolutely "guarantees" unequal school opportunities, for it expressly provides for the employment of all classes of teachers at correspondingly varying wages, and, though all districts are taxed alike, yet some are compelled to accept the poorest and most inefficient teachers, while others are assigned the best.

4. Mr McKibbin is entirely correct in saying that the county board is "required" to provide high-school education for every eligible high-school student in the county district. He might with equal correctness have added that the cost of this, as well as the salaries and expenses of the county board and unlimited other expenses, must be paid out of the county school district fund. Would it not be wiser to provide first for common school education and then, with remaining funds, if any, for high school?

5. The provision that "local school boards select their teachers" from the list submitted by the county superintendent was not in the original bill, but was later written in it for the sole purpose, I think, of securing the support of unthinking persons. Nor shall I reflect upon the splendid intelligence of Mr. McKibbin by assuming that upon more mature consideration he would contend that that provision of the bill can answer any better purpose. The provision is impossible of operation for the simple reason that less than 25 per cent of the teachers of the county school districts are first class (first grade) teachers; and every local school board would naturally select a first class teacher—it would show itself incompetent if it did otherwise. That provision in the law can answer but one other purpose, and that is to throw the entire county into a never-ending bitter sectional fight, and when the fight is over, or, rather (for the fight would never be over), when the time arrives that teachers must be assigned, the county board will have to do exactly what was originally written in the bill; namely, assign teachers arbitrarily to the various districts, the best teachers to some and the poorest to others. Should I have a $100 first class teacher assigned to teach my children, will Mr. McKibbin be satisfied with a $40 third grade teacher for his children in an adjoining district? Will the intelligent people of Missouri submit to or tolerate such a system?

So much for the five "provides." In conclusion, permit me to observe that this so-called "county unit" law is not progressive, but retrogressive. It is not a law of advanced education, but a law of the most ignorant and illiterate states of the Union. Only 10 states have this law (or ever had it) except with county option (and only three with county option, and one of them has never succeeded in getting a single county to adopt it), and every one of these 10 states ranks not only below, but far below, Missouri educationally. Missouri's percentage of illiteracy is only 4.3, as against 7.7 for the United States, while the average percentage of illiteracy of the 10 states that have this law is 16.2. They include the lowest ranking states educationally in the Union, and if Mr. McKibbin and I lived in one of those states we ought to support such a law, for in those illiterate states there are many districts in which there is not a white person living, and hundreds of others in which there are not three persons that can either read or write to act as school directors, and therefore resorted to the subterfuge of the "county unit" law, under which the county board assigns to the districts such teachers as it sees fit, and the illiterate people neither know nor care. If indeed such a law possesses such allurements for Mr. McKibbin, why does he not resign his honored position and go down to the Democratic negro State of Louisiana, for instance, which has had such a law for years, and in which today more than 30 per cent of her people over 10 years of age can neither read nor write, and be happy in the blissful atmosphere and aroma of her charming "nigger" schools, but pray do not drag grand old Missouri down to that level.

Why should Missouri follow the downward lead of the lowest ranking states educationally in the Union, the most ignorant and illiterate? Why should she not rather heed the onward, upward beckon of the states that rank first, and are leading the world toward educational perfection?

O. B. WHITAKER.

THE FLAG OF PEACE.

Let us clarify our thought with regard to the flag of our country, which will be honored today wherever it floats, with speech and song and renewed pledges of devotion.

We shall be reminded of the glorious past of the flag when it was an oriflamme of war in conflicts for justice and liberty, against tyranny and oppression. We shall revive our memories of the men who fought under it that we might be free, that others might be free and finally that mankind might be free and enjoy the blessings of justice, liberty and permanent peace. Again will we be told in fervid eloquence the story of the modern crusaders, who followed the flag across the seas and fought to end the curse of war and to set up in the world a new order of justice, liberty and law between nations organized to substitute reason and legal tribunals for the might of arms and the chances of war as the arbiters of international disputes.

We do not depreciate the glorious service of these men who fought, offering the supreme sacrifice, or of the men and women who labored and suffered that their war for righteousness might be crowned with victory.

We do not belittle the services and sacrifices of men and women who strove for human rights, but we bear in mind that the men who fought for righteousness were driven to fight because unrighteousness, ambition and greed were unchained and were free under the law of nations to work their brutal and bloody will upon mankind. They were forced to fight because between nations trial by battle, with greed and hate and might and fortune as the ruling factors, instead of legal tribunals in which good will and reason and justice ruled, was the court of last resort.

What shall the flag stand for hereafter—war or peace? Shall it stand for trial by battle or trial by tribunal? Shall it stand for huge armaments embodying and breeding distrust and hatred and force or for organized international law embodying and breeding equity and good will? Shall we have only one patriotism—the patriotism of war glorifying death for our country—or shall we have a nobler patriotism, glorifying life and beneficent service for our country and mankind?

We know what war is. Its record of blood and destruction blacken the pages of history. We know what a horror it has become under the progress of organization, invention, science and industry—peoples in arms, equipped with engines and devices whose possibilities of death and devastation are beyond the flight of imagination.

We know what the new armaments under the barbaric rule of trial by battle, long since discarded for individuals, cost. We know their crushing, ruinous cost and their horrible menace. Shall we build, in more crushing and horrible form, the engines of destruction to maintain the savage trial by battle among nations and feed the fires of imperial ambition and greed and hatred, or construct an international organization to maintain the grand assize of nations and feed the divine flame of justice and good will?

Let us consecrate the flag today to the noblest cause that can engage the aspiration and energy of a nation—the cause of universal peace, founded upon justice and liberty, guaranteed by international agreement and law. Let us consecrate to the mission of realizing in practice the splendid vision of the "best minds" of mankind—the philosophers, the statesmen, the poets, the leaders of humane and progressive thought—who have preached and planned for the substitution of good will and law for hatred and force in the dealings of nations.

To what more glorious service could the flag of the great republic be dedicated than the service of peace? What greater glory can we dream for it than to have it known throughout the world as the flag of peace—the leading banner in the world movement to eliminate the laws of war in the international code and put in their place the laws of peace—to bring nations as individuals under the rule of law and to make the principles of Christian civilization instead of the maxims of barbarism the light and guide of nations.

Let us have the truce of God among nations, with the American flag as its shining emblem.

Mr. Wilson plans to keep his ideals actively before the public. There will be no trouble about that, so long as his enemies keep trying to drag them elsewhere.

A POLYANNA PEACE.

The passage of the Knox-Porter resolution by Congress does not make peace with Germany. It does not affect the status quo a particle. That much is grudgingly admitted now. But it will "open the way for negotiations," it is asserted, which is a meaningless and insincere statement, and the hope is fondly cherished that a psychological improvement will result from the fact that certain disturbing phrases will be rubbed off the statute books.

Such a vain and childish hope might have been entertained by the "impractical, visionary, idealistic Wilson," but it sounds strange on the lips of the hard-headed, realistic administration that specializes exclusively in facts. The efficacy of abstract truth on material things, the influence of lofty aspiration on the mental processes of officialdom were easily prescribed by a doctrinaire, but what are we to think when a doctor of the G. O. P. school asks us to believe in charms, incantations and magic?

It is not so much what we think as what we know. We know that the only way for the United States to make peace with Germany is under the Versailles treaty. That obvious truth cannot be evaded or concealed much longer by sophistry or obscurantism. And there is really no practical reason why further evasion or concealment should be sought. The election was won, wasn't it? Then why not get down to business and establish real peace, not a Polyanna imitation, in the only way it can be established?

PROGRESS OR MUD.

The demand for a complete reorganization of the House Committee on Roads and Highways indicates that the reactionary, or dirt road, forces of the Legislature have come prepared to fight for mud, stagnation and retrogression.

The proposed committee reorganization is predicated on the ineligibility of Chairman Dyott longer to act as a Legislator from having accepted a Federal office and qualified for such. The ranking member of the committee, Mr. Bailey, who would ordinarily succeed to the vacancy, is reputed to be a good roads enthusiast and is, therefore, objectionable to the mud guard. Hence the reorganization proposition by which the mud guard hopes to name a committee that will be in sympathy with its views and whose chairman will be of that faith.

The forecast is warrantably made that the reorganization movement will determine the majority sentiment of the House on this vital question of roads legislation. Accordingly, it becomes an issue of paramount importance. Very likely it is giving administration leaders, from the Governor down, rather anxious moments. The leaders, naturally, dislike to start the session with a pitched battle. Yet it may well be that this seeming inauspicious beginning will prove to be most fortunate. Should the air be cleared at the outset and the fact established that the forces of progress are in control, the chances are in favor of sounder accomplishment at the finish and with less friction in the process.

One thing is certain, namely, that the reorganized House Committee on Roads and Highways must be a good roads committee if the special session is to accomplish the object for which it has been called. That object, which cannot be too often and too emphatically stated, is the enactment of legislation that will provide for the wise expenditure of the $60,000,000 road fund, under competent direction, in the construction of a State system of hard-surfaced roads. Anything less than this, as the Post-Dispatch has already said, will be "a criminal waste of opportunity and money." Such an outcome is unthinkable. But should such be the result the present administration, obviously, would be held responsible. In the premises, therefore, the administration's duty is plain. An attitude of neutrality between the good roads forces and the dirt roads advocates is impossible. The influence of the administration must be on the side of progress or on the side of mud, and here and now, in the struggle for capturing the House committee, the administration, under the leadership of Gov. Hyde, should take its stand.

"Talk is very cheap," said Judge Gary in the course of seven columns defending the fair name of the Steel Trust.

ACCUSATION AND WASTE.

Sweeping charges of wanton waste in connection with certain operations of the city have been made by two civic organizations and have been recognized by the Board of Aldermen as of sufficient gravity and responsibility to warrant an aldermanic investigation. Accordingly, a committee has been appointed to run down the charges.

Stranger things have happened than the fabrication of such accusations by privately aggrieved persons, backed by their friends. Also, stranger things have happened in a city government than the very acts charged in the complaining resolutions.

But what action now can be taken to satisfy the complaint and silence all questions and charges? Certainly not an aldermanic investigation. The Board of Aldermen is a part of the city administration. With due respect to the members, they are not experts in city administration. Their inquiry, even though thorough, honest and adequate, would still be open to the challenge of politics. It would not allay controversy or settle anything.

Moreover, the water that has passed over the millrace will not turn any more wheels. What St. Louis is concerned about now are not the losses that have occurred and are irrevocable, but about those which can be prevented in the future. It is concerned over scraping up enough dollars from places where they are being wasted to satisfy that $1,000,000 deficit.

Other cities have been confronted with similar problems, and worse. And other cities—Philadelphia, Detroit, Rochester, Akron, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Kansas City, Cleveland and Toronto—have been or at present are engaged in stopping up administrative leaks by means of municipal research, conducted by experts and supported by local civic organizations.

Such surveys or audits are not muckraking affairs, nor should they be inspired by political animus. If a city department head is honest there can be nobody happier than he to be shown how he can operate his department just as effectively, if not more so, for less money. It makes good political capital for him to be able to boast of actual achievement in economy. The evil genius and common enemy of St. Louis at the present time is waste. If this is not also the enemy of the city hall administration the city should know the reason why.

Dirt road advocates may be expected to muddy the issues at the special session of the Legislature.

Judging from the Newberry evidence, it would seem that Ford stoppers are much more expensive than Ford starters.

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

"THE way in which the Republicans are going to reduce taxes is good enough for a funny story," Mr. Antwine said.

"They are going to issue three-year Government certificates bearing 5¾ cents interest or thereabout and exempt from most taxes. We are told that announcement of this midsummer bargain for investors will be made this week, and there is a great hubbub over it in quarters where people still have any money.

"Of course, if we go out and get money that way, which only differs from the way in which we raised our war loans in not bearing the title of 'victory' or 'liberty,' we can have taxes reduced. That is, the excess profits tax can be done away with, and income taxes can be lessened. The Republicans are busted. They are spending more money for armament than any country in history ever spent, and they find themselves unable to keep their campaign promises without going out and raising a loan. The price they are paying for money makes the outcome certain. I think they will get it.

"Meanwhile, I want to make a prediction. I haven't made one since Attorney-General Barrett began his exhaustive inquiry into building costs and I said it would result only in his own exhaustion. This is all that has come of it.

"The other prediction I want to make is that the taxes of the big fellows who are squealing will be reduced, but that the rest of us will take up the burden in the end by paying for the money the Government is borrowing. Wouldn't we like to sell money at 5¾? Instead, we are buying it at that price to build warships and reduce the taxes of the profiteers."

Sir: I am mourning a bit that the able Mr. Hughes was not retained by the other side. Then the case for Mexico would have been effectively presented. I have noticed that the side having the ablest lawyer usually wins the case. We went to war with England in 1812 because she claimed a property right in something that our own constitution had deprived her of. Isn't it so? Had we joined the League of Nations Mexico could have appealed to it for protection from us—but now we can invade her at our pleasure. We take our "pound of flesh," and there is no Portia to see we get no "drop of blood."

It seems that the Anti-Saloon League constitutes a sort of vigilance committee, the officers of which participate in raids. They did this in St. Louis last week. We leave murder to the police, but on a great moral issue like prohibition we find the police aided by the laity. Whether that is a good trait in us or not, it is not so hard to say as one may think. We care nothing about the law as such. What we are interested in is the application by law of some fetish or theory to which we happen to subscribe. We are indebted to the officers of our local Anti-Saloon League for making that clear to us. It reveals a trait in us which is perhaps best illustrated by the Salem witch-burnings and things of the sort, but still remains immensely entertaining in kindred phenomena of our own time. Inasmuch as we have no Anti-Burglary League, or any Anti-Kroger Store Robbery League, we may reasonably assume that the work of the Anti-Saloon League does betray in us something more than mere love of law-abiding.

An Indiana concern will sell brick for $11 a thousand, as against $24 a thousand asked in St. Louis. All right; go over and buy some. You pay $2.10 a ton freight to St. Louis, and have switching, hauling, etc., to pay. By the time you get your brick to the place where you want to build, you will be paying as much for it as if you had gone in the first place to the local brick trust and bought them. That is one reason why there is no building in St. Louis. There are others, but at a time when a good many of us feel like hitting somebody with a brick we thought you would understand the equation better expressed in terms of bricks.

OUR MUNICIPAL OPERA.

From the Mexico (Mo.) Intelligencer.

THE fame of the St. Louis Municipal Opera is more than local. Its democratic, humanizing cultural influence reaches beyond the city out into the State and we believe in time out over the whole of the Mississippi Valley. The cultural influence of the opera as so presented to all classes of people cannot be estimated. The great outdoors belongs to all people. In crowds mingling under heaven's blue dome a fraternal feeling is prevalent so hardly evident elsewhere. Conventionality hies to its chamber and goodfellowship reigns supreme. At a price within the reach of all, operas that are pleasant diversion of the wealthier become the delight of all, as deeply musical, and lovers of plays as they, amid the beautiful greenery of nature and the soft sighing of summer winds. In cultural influence one cannot but help compare these operas with the great morality plays of the Middle Ages, which did so much in a different way to lift humanity to higher worlds. America needs many municipal operas such as St. Louis affords its people and those of this whole valley. And the beautiful park in which it is held so perfectly named is a wonderful place for its setting. We are proud of St. Louis for her efforts and wish her that success financially in her labors that makes her the chief glory of Missouri.

FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE termination of the long, costly and bitter struggle in the garment trade in New York City and the prompt arrival at an agreement for the same settlement of the relations between the photo-engravers and the newspapers of the same city are hopeful and encouraging signs of a restoration of that spirit of mutual understanding and accommodation without which industrial peace is impossible. In the latter case the engravers' strike lasted only about two days and did not continue long enough, therefore, to embitter the relations of employers and employes. The method of settlement that was reached was eminently sensible and proper, the workers returning to work pending negotiations looking to a wage compact, with the understanding that if no mutual agreement could be reached the whole issue should be submitted unconditionally to arbitration. Thus there is every assurance that justice will be done, the innocent will not be made to suffer and a new demonstration given of the wisdom of applying reason and justice to any dispute in which both sides are seeking nothing unreasonable or unjust.

RUSSIAS INDUSTRIAL GROWTH.

BERTRAND RUSSELL in Atlantic Monthly.

THE conclusion of the argument which we have been conducting is this: That the development of industrially backward countries is in no degree desirable, but is unavoidable owing to the greed of other countries; that, if it is done by foreign nations, it involves oppression, as a rule, though not always; while, if it is done by the backward nation itself, it involves a very intense militarism in order to prevent foreign interference; that, if it is to be done by the backward nation itself, it is probably better done communistically, since in that way some of the evils of the capitalist stage of industry can be avoided, and the necessary enthusiasm can be more easily generated; and that, although national communism affords no guaranty of peace, it is probably more likely than capitalism to lead on to an international control of trade and raw materials which would ultimately bring about the cessation of wars. For these reasons, I cannot but think that the method the Russians have chosen, painful as it is for themselves, is on the whole the best method of developing industry in nations situated as they are.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE ON ROADS OPENS

New State Primary Law and Reduction in State Taxes Other Subjects Before Body on Call by Governor.

RENT LEGISLATION HAS BEEN DEMANDED

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—The Missouri Legislature met at noon today in special session, called by Gov. Hyde to enact legislation providing a definite plan for the building of a State system of connected, hard-surfaced roads, under the $60,000,000 bond issue voted last November; to provide a new State primary law and to reduce State taxes.

Twenty-three members of the Senate and 87 of the House, a quorum in each branch, were present on roll call. After the reading of the Governor's call, both houses adjourned until later this afternoon. In the House the organization at the regular session was made the organization of the special session except in the cases of three officers who do not desire to serve. This covered all committees, including the Roads Committee. The men behind the movement started yesterday for a reorganization of the Roads Committee did not make objection to continuing the old committee, but this can be taken up any time.

Gov. Hyde, shortly before the session convened, in a statement to newspaper men, denied that he would insist upon having a State highway committee of three Republicans. He declared for a bipartisan commission.

Wants Efficient Men.

"I know the contents of the bills proposed by Senator Ralph," he said, "though I have not examined the bills themselves. I read carefully the analysis of them in the Post-Dispatch. I believe the general plan of the Ralph bills is correct, though I am in favor of the bipartisan commission, and I believe the members of the commission should be paid a substantial salary.

"The Ralph bills provide $10 a day for each commissioner for the time actually employed; that is about the same as nothing. I doubt that it will be possible to induce the Legislature to fix the salaries of the commissioners at more than $5000 a year.

"The kind of men we want on the highway commission, which will have the expenditure of about $100,000,000 in 10 years, are worth more money than that, but, if we can't pay them any more, we shall have to try to induce them to serve as a public duty for what we can pay."

Leaders to Meet Hyde.

Leaders of the Senate and House will meet the Governor soon, though probably not until early next week, to decide whether any other matters will be taken up. There are a large number of different subjects which the Governor has been asked to include in the business of the session and several which he personally is disposed to include. Among the former is legislation to curb rent profiteering, but there now appears little probability that this subject will be dealt with.

The Governor is seriously considering the introduction of bills to re-enact his departmental consolidation program, passed at the regular session last winter, and the submission of the bills under referendum at the special election next August.

These bills, it is expected, will be prevented from going into effect next Monday by the filing of referendum petitions, which will not be voted on until November, 1922. The Governor appears confident the voters would approve the program, and he would like to have it voted on in August.

Opinion as to Road Bills.

There is apparent a decided change of opinion regarding road legislation, and the indications are that opinions are not as widely different as they were when the regular session adjourned.

The opinion expressed by legislative leaders of real influence is that the road legislation, when finally passed, will be much along the lines of the bills prepared by Senator Ralph, an analysis of which was published in the Post-Dispatch last Thursday. The Ralph bills undoubtedly will be amended, but it now seems probable that the general plan for a commission with power to lay out routes, to have complete control of the expenditure of all road funds and to build a State system of 6000 miles of roads, will have the influence of the administration behind it.

There was a decided sentiment among the Republicans, as well as a virtually unanimous sentiment among the Democrats, for an amendment to make the commission bipartisan, and it is to be expected that a bipartisan commission will be authorized.

Gov. Hyde is opposed to the proposal for a distribution of theb ond issue money for expenditure by the counties, and there is now virtually no sentiment for that scheme among the legislators.

Inter-County Seat Highways.

The only organized opposition to the hard-road system comes from the so-called Federation of Commercial Clubs, of which I. R. Kelso of St. Louis is the head. The Kelso organization is not for the distribution by counties, and its active leaders deny the assertion that it is a "mud road" organization.

However, its position is in favor of the expenditure of the $60,000,000 on a system of inter-county seat highways, which would mean between 11,000 and 12,000 miles of road. Sixty million dollars will not build 12,000, or even 11,000, miles of good road and the expenditure of the bond issue money on that basis could, in the opinion of informed road builders mean only make-shift roads.

The organization will have a convention in Jefferson City Thursday and Friday and at that time, it is expected, will prepare a definite statement of its position.

Kelso is authority for the statement that the Federation of Commercial Clubs will not introduce a road bill. He told a Post-Dispatch correspondent that the efforts of the organization would be devoted to opposing provisions of other bills to which it objected and to offering amendments to try to incorporate its ideas in the bills to be passed.

Kelso said that, while it had not yet become the official position of the organization, he would take the position that at least two members of the State Highway Commission must be "dirt farmers."

Not Much Work This Week.

The bill to be agitated by the Federated Roads Council has not yet reached Jefferson City, but it is understood it will differ from the Ralph bills very little, possibly only to the extent of providing for a bipartisan commission. If Ralph will compromise on that provision, it is possible the roads council will not offer a bill.

It is not probable that much will be done this week in the Legislature, except to receive the bills members have prepared. They cannot be printed and returned to the Legislature before the first part of next week and until that time little business can be transacted.

U. S. REMINDED OF INVITATION TO MEETING ON MANDATES

Washington Approached by League Through Diplomatic Circles on Note Regarding Geneva Session, Set for June 17.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 14.—The United States Government has been reminded through diplomatic channels that the League of Nations has received no answer to its invitation to the United States to send a representative to discuss mandates.

Both the class "A" and "B" mandates are on the agendan for the meeting of the Council of the League to be held in Geneva June 17.

The Colonial offices of the various countries are interested in bringing pressure for an early solution of the question of mandates. The British appear to be particularly anxious to close up the matter because of the situation in Mesopotamia. The French Colonial authorities are also urging prompt settlement. It is not quite clear, however, when the question of mandates will come up.

Two Policies on Mandates.

There are two tendencies inside the League of Nations with regard to the question of mandates. One is to refer the whole question back to the principal Powers which negotiated the Versailles treaty and are responsible for the attribution of the mandates. The contention of those holding this view is that the league really exercises no initiative regarding mandates and has only to do with the approval of terms and the supervision of administration of territories under the terms of the mandates decided upon. The French Government is understood to favor modification of the terms of the mandates to meet the American views, while Great Britain opposes this.

The other tendency is to consider that the United States has defaulted by not sending a representative to the League of Nations Council, as she was invited to do, and finally accepting the terms of the Class "A" and "B" mandates. Those favoring this tendency profess to regard the failure of the Washington Government to reply to the invitation to attend as equivalent to abandonment of the American protest.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The invitation of the League of Nations to send a representative to discuss the mandate question before the Council of the League this month, was first extended in the closing days of the Wilson administration as a result of protests lodged by the United States concerning the allocation of mandates and the provision made for expediting the natural resources thereunder. Particularly in the case of oil developments in Mesopotamia, under Britisn mandate, the position was taken that there should be equality of treatment for the citizens of all nations in mandate territories.

Secretary Colby did not reply to the league invitation, preferring to leave the question to the incoming administration, and Secretary Hughes, in his subsequent communication on the subject of mandates, addressed the Powers concerned directly, and it is understood has not replied to the league invitation. It was held by some when the invitation was extended, that America could accept without sacrificing any objection to entering the League of Nations. Whether subsequent dicision to have qualified representation before the Supreme Council, the Conference of Ambassadors and the Reparations Commission has operated to make such a course now possible, is not indicated here, no official comment having been made on the dispatches from Paris.

THREE ITALIANS ARE NAMED CARDINALS

Papal Allocution Expresses Anxiety Over Palestine, Owing to Activity of the Jews There.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, June 14.—Three Italian Cardinals were added to the Sacred College yesterday when Pope Benedict, in a secret consistory, raised to the purple Monsignor Giovanni Tacci Porcelli, the papal major domo; Monsignor Camillo Laurenti, secretary of the Congregation of the Propaganda, and Monsignor Achille Ratti, papal nuncio to Poland.

The papal allocution expresses deep anxiety over the situation in Palestine, owing to the activity of the Jews in the Holy Land, and urges the Governments of the Christian nations to appeal to the League of Nations to insist upon the definition of the British mandate in Palestine.

The allocution charges that Jews are "taking advantage of the sufferings of the inhabitants, due to the war," and deplores "the privileged position enjoyed by the Jews in Palestine, which is dangerous for Christians."

Pope's Means Limited.

The Pope adds that he will not fail to succor the needy, but that his means are limited, as he has to respond to calls from many quarters.

The Pontiff says that almost all civilized states have diplomatic relations with the Holy See except where bad conditions would hamper the necessary liberty and independence of the pontificate. The allocution expresses the hope that mutual cooperation will be the source of healthy prosperity, both for the church and diplomatically related states.

Differences of Europe.

Inasmuch as the differences of Europe have not ceased, the Pope urges the heads of governments to use their good influence that reciprocal aversions may be buried and controversies discussed with a spirit of justice and charity.

He expresses joy at the restoration of diplomatic relations with France, to which, he says, the pontificate will gladly adhere, faithful to its traditions, and only desiring harmony between the church and the state for the common good.

Arabians to Rule Mesopotamia.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 14.—The British Government intends to replace the British administration in Mesopotamia with an Arabian Assembly and an Arabian ruler during the coming summer, Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon. The ruler will be elected by the people.

HYDE APPOINTS T. J. HEDRICK IN BRADSHAW'S PLACE

INEFFICIENCY IN OFFICE, ALLEGED

Hyde, in 60 Pages of Findings, Also Asserts He Charged Private and Political Expenses to State.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 14.—Gov. Hyde yesterday removed James T. Bradshaw, Democrat, from the office of State Grain and Warehouse Commissioner, and appointed T. J. Hedrick of Buckner, a member of the Republican State Committee, to succeed him. The office pays $4500 a year and carries with it considerable patronage, as from 100 to 115 persons are employed in its branches in St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph and interior Missouri points. Hedrick is to serve out Bradshaw's unexpired term, which will end in April, 1923.

Bradshaw's removal is the culmination of a fight which started when Gov. Hyde announced his plan to consolidate all of the agricultural branches of the State Government under one head, thus legislating out of office all of the Democrats in those various departments, holding appointments under old laws. Bradshaw opposed the bills openly, appearing before the Senate Agricultural Committee to object to inclusion of the Grain and Warehouse Department under the bill.

Bradshaw Refused to Resign.

After the bill was enacted, along with it other bills to legislate out of office other Democrats, Bradshaw lent his support to the referendum plans of the Democratic State organization, Gov. Hyde asked for his resignation, which Bradshaw refused to give, unless Hyde would agree to retain his efficient employes. Then Hyde filed charges, and Saturday Bradshaw appeared to defend himself against those charges, the hearing being held in the Governor's reception room and lasting from 10 a. m. Saturday until 2 a. m. Sunday.

Gov. Hyde devoted most of yesterday to dictating his findings in the case, although he had announced at the beginning of the hearing "that if I had not been convinced of Bradshaw's guilt I would not have filed these charges."

Sixty Pages of Findings.

The Governor, in 60 typewritten pages of findings, appears to have found Bradshaw guilty on all 12 counts of the indictment filed by the executive with the Secretary of State at the beginning of the affair.

Gov. Hyde declared in his findings that Bradshaw had received from the private inspection fund expense money and $400 in additional salary to which Hyde did not think he was entitled, declaring that the private inspection certificates bear the State seal and consequently was not the private property of Bradshaw.

The Governor also declared that Bradshaw was paying to certain employes in his department larger salaries than are allowed by law. The Governor wrote also "that the said Bradshaw has charged to the State expenses for trips made for political and private purposes only, cannot be doubted."

"Inefficient and Expensive."

Bradshaw's administration was labeled by Gov. Hyde as "inefficient and expensive," the Governor declaring that its expenses had soared and receipts had dropped. He also indicated that "it is worthy of note that while the employes in Mr. Bradshaw's office testify that Mr. Bradshaw was present in his office two-thirds to three-fourths of his time during the last four months, that, nevertheless, his traveling expense account shows that he was absent from his office 63 days out of the last 120 days."

Bradshaw is expected to resist removal with court action. Rumors have been current about the Capitol that Gov. Hyde intends to punish other Democratic office holders who have given encouragement and aid to the referendum attacks against his job bills. He is silent on that question, however.

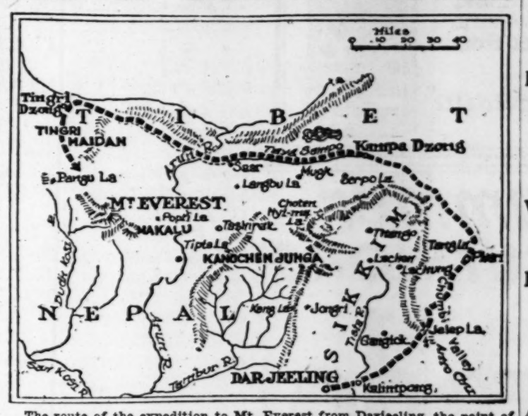

The Governor announced that he had asked Cameron L. Orr, Prosecuting Attorney of Jackson County, to file criminal proceedings, and also a civil suit to recover money appropriated from the private inspection funds to pay traveling and other expenses, against Bradshaw. Orr said it might be several days before he decided how to act.

LEADER OF MT. EVEREST EXPEDITION DESCRIBES TORTUOUS MARCH THROUGH WONDERLAND OF GIGANTIC FLOWERS

IN REGION WITH 17 FEET OF RAIN YEARLY

Dr. Kellas, Chemist and Physicist of Party, Dies of Heart Disease in High Altitude Though He Had Long Been Accustomed to Mountain Exploration.

The route of the expedition to Mt. Everest from Darjeeling, the point of departure, is indicated by the dotted line. Not only has no one attempted before the ascent of Mt. Everest, the highest point of the earth's surface, 29,002 feet above sea level, but the vast country around the mountain has never been explored.

Following is the second dispatch sent to the Post-Dispatch by Col. Howard Bury, who is leading the expedition that will attempt the ascent of Mt. Everest, which is 29,002 feet above the sea, the highest point on the earth's surface, and the ascent of which has never been attempted. Col. Bury, who is of the British army, will send reports of the progress of the expedition from time to time and these reports will be published in St. Louis exclusively in the Post-Dispatch.

LEADER OF MOUNT EVEREST EXPEDITION.

Special Cable Dispatch to the Post-Dispatch.

HEADQUARTERS OF MOUNT EVEREST EXPEDITION, June 8, via Simla, June 13.—In the crossing of Sikkim, the first march of the Mount Everest expedition from Darjeeling was to Pashoke, 17 miles, all down hill. The path first went through thick oak forests, each being covered with mosses and ferns, owing to the extreme dampness of the climate. Next the path wound down a great spur dotted over with tea plantations, the tea having a neat, vivid green appearance at this time of the year, with here and there a great tree-fern towering up, its stem covered with ferns and orchids.

The wealth of vegetation was wonderful and many of the colored butterflies for which the Teesta Valley is famous, flitted in front of us. It proved an entrancing spectacle. Deep below, in a steamy gorge, flowed the muddy Teesta River, which we crossed the following day, having descended more than 6000 feet from Darjeeling. Then followed a hot climb of more than 3000 feet to Kalimpong, through more forests, with great red rhododendrons showing patches of scarlet here and there amid the dense green foliage.

Through Rice and Maize Fields.

Every now and then a louder rustle among the branches betokened the presence of a monkey, eyeing with suspicion the passing travelers. Higher up were many terraces of rice and newly sown fields of maize. We dined that night with Dr. Graham, whose homes and schools at Kalimpong are famous over all India and where and his late wife have done wonderful work. We were unfortunate in the weather. We caught the beginning of a monsoon and it scarcely stopped raining the whole time we were crossing Sikkim. A couple of minutes in these deluges are sufficient to penetrate any waterproof.

The next day's march to Pedong was over flatter ground. There was one climb of 3000 feet and a descent of 2000 feet. By the roadside were most marvelous hedges of daturas, 15 to 20 feet high, and covered with hundreds of enormous white trumpet-shaped blooms, each eight inches in diameter and fully 12 inches in length. I could only stand and admire their wonderful beauty. Their equal I have never seen anywhere else. At night they seemed to gleam with a kind of phosphorescence, emitting a strangely sweet odor.

3000 Feet Up, 3000 Feet Down.

Our government mules were now beginning to give trouble. They were fat and sleek on arrival at Darjeeling, but they had been doing little or no hard work in the plains except for a few days beforehand. This was not nearly long enough, and when it came to ascending and descending on the Sikkim marches, they began to collapse completely. After every day's march each party had to leave three mules behind which were quite unable to proceed next morning, even without any load.

The fourth day's march from Pedong to Rongli, though only 12 miles, was especially trying. The path dropped steeply down nearly 3000 feet, only to climb up another 3000 feet, in the next few miles, followed by another steep drop of 2500 feet. This was across one of the most fertile valleys of Sikkim, terraced from top to bottom with the greatest skill and labor. Here the inhabitants grow rice on the lower slopes and maize on the higher ground. Picturesque houses were dotted about the hillsides. The people appear very fond of flowers, wearing them in their hats, while every house is surrounded by flowers, a very pleasing trait in their character.

On this march one mule died and vultures were not long in putting in an appearance. Other mules were in a most tired condition and we were compelled to halt a day in Rongli, a beautiful but feverish spot, with wonderful sprays of sweet-scented white orchids hanging from trees.

Even after a day's rest we had to hire 22 ponies to supplement the Government mules. These animals though many were carrying no loads at all, barely reached camp at Sedonchen, a climb of 4500 feet. The following day the Government mules would have been unable to proceed, so we were forced to hire local mules and ponies, leaving the Government mules behind. Sergeant Fowkes and his men had done everything they possibly could to get the mules along, but without success. It was a terrible breakdown of transport at the very beginning of the expedition, and after only five days' marches, but it was solely due to the fact that the mules were out of condition for any hard work and are totally unfitted, without at least a month's previous training to ascend or descend these steep hill marches.

Local Ponies Afford Best Transport.

Being on the main trade route, we were luckily able to get other transport to replace them. I have arranged for transport as far as Khampa Dzong. The local animal is a wonderful beast, extremely surefooted and not minding in the least a climb of 6000 feet on a path which is really only a stone causeway, most slippery and unpleasant either to walk or ride upon. Probably anything else would be washed away by the torrential rains that fall here.

At one place we had to make a wide detour as rain over night had washed away some hundred yards of pathway. Luckily this was not at the most precipitous part, otherwise we might have been delayed several days. Near Sodonchen the constant rain had brought out leeches and drops of blood on the stones became frequent from bleeding wounds left by the leeches on the mules. The climb from Sedonchen to Gnatong was the steepest we had had, with a rise of more than 5000 feet in eight and one-half miles.

We soon got out of leeches into a most wonderful zone of towering rhododendrons. Those at the lower heights had already flowered but those between 10,000 feet and 12,000 feet were a marvelous sight. Orange and red rhododendron and cinnabarinium came first, then pink, deep crimson, yellow, mauve, white and cream colored flowers appeared in turn until the whole hillside was a blaze of color. It is impossible to imagine anything more beautiful. We were delighted at every yard of road. Deep purple and red primula covered all the open spaces, growing in the greatest profusion.

Though snow had only been gone a month, flowers of all kinds were beginning to emerge. On May 24 we reached the village of Gnatong at an altitude of over 13,000 feet. Gnatong is a dirty, muddy village, lying in a hollow with an annual rainfall of flittle under 200 inches. It certainly lived up to its reputation, as it poured all the time we were there.

The village gains a livelihood by the fact that it is the first halting place of Jelopla. A constant stream of mule and pony caravans passes to and from Tibet. Every day we passed hundreds of mules laden with bales of wool coming from Tibet and often on a narrow path it was difficult to pass, as the mules insisted on taking up most of the room and the bales on either side were very bulky. We shall not be sorry to reach Tibet, for, although Sikkim is a very beautiful country, yet the constant clouds and heavy rainfall at this time of year prevent our fully enjoying the beauties of the scenery.

I deeply regret to report the death of Dr. A. M. Kellas of the Mount Eversest expedition, at Kampdadzong, on June 6. His demise was sudden and was caused by heartd isease.

Dr. A. M. Kellas, whose death is reported in the foregoing cable, was a noted chemist and geographer and mountain climber. He had spent much time in the Himalayas and early this year passed several nights at more than 20,000 feet on Mount Kabru. On the Mount Everest expedition Dr. Kellas was to continue his valuable chemical and physical researches in questions of oxygen and blood pressure at great heights.

NEARLY $5,000,000 IN GIFTS TO NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Dr. Walter D. Scott, New President, Announces $250,000 Present for Memorial Campus.

By the Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., June 14.—Gifts aggregating nearly half a million dollars for advancing the work of Northwestern University were announced today by Dr. Walter Dill Scott, in connection with his inauguration as president of the institution. Included in the gifts was one for $250,000 by George Alexander McKinlock of Lake Forest, in honor of his son, Lieut. George Alexander McKinlock, who was killed in the battle at Erzy-Le-Sac, France, in August, 1918.

The money is to be applied in development of the university's plans for a Chicago downtown campus for its school of commerce and the trustees, in accepting the gift, directed that the campus be formally named "The Alexander McKinlock Memorial Campus of Northwestern University." President Scott indicated that the university's plans call for the development of a campus and buildings on the downtown site, all to be of a memorial character.

Other gifts included $12,500 by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to aid the summer school for secretaries of chambers of commerce; $62,500 by the publishers of the Chicago Tribune, to meet an anticipated deficit in the establishment of the Joseph Medill School of Journalism, and $8000 by Judge Elbert H. Gary, for the Gary library of the school of law.

CELEBRATION IN SAMOA OF 21 YEARS UNDER U. S. FLAG

By the Associated Press.

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa, May 5 (delayed).—Flag day, the twenty-first anniversary of the hoisting of the American flag in Samoa, was celebrated here April 18 with dancing contests, races, a tug of war, a band concert, naval parade and addresses by American officials and native chiefs.

Chief Satele, a native leader, urged his followers to do all they could for the administration. "It is a pleasure," he said, "that we are united here today and are able to again celebrate the anniversary of the flag flying above us.

"The potter prepares his mixture first when he desires to make a certain kind of dish. If he does not succeed the first time he does not destroy or throw away his mixture, but will certainly try again in order to succeed.

"To illustrate, it is grateful to know that the Government will not cast us away, but will continue in trying to make a better dish for us."

ADAMS TO HANDLE PATRONAGE FOR THE PRESIDENT

WANTS TO KEEP ORGANIZATION HAPPY

Executive Hopes to Keep in Touch With Country's Political Pulse and Adams Will Reside in Capital.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1921.)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—President Harding has decided to lean heavily on the new chairman of the Republican National Committee, John T. Adams of Iowa, and henceforth will seek the advice and counsel of Adams on matters of patronage.

Mr. Harding has had more than the usual run of engagements with persons interested in recommending friends for office. He has found it difficult to give undivided attention to important matters of administration because of the avalanche of requests for time to present the virtues of candidates for jobs.

Will Hays, former chairman of the National Committee and new Postmaster-General, and Harry Daugherty, pre-convention manager for Mr. Harding and now Attorney-General, have both been besieged by office seekers or their friends, so the work of the Postoffice Department and Department of Justice has necessarily been affected. The heads of those two big departments can't give all their energy to the administrative side of their tasks when their minds are taken up with matters of patronage.

It was Mr. Harding himself who was largely instrumental in the selection of Mr. Adams, and it was Mr. Harding who felt the necessity for having the party machinery in the hands of one who was not himself identified with the Government. Mr. Adams is the personal representative of President Harding on all party matters. He is the active head of the Republican party and will continue to be for at least four years, which means that his will be the task of keeping the party organization happy and interested in the next Republican fight.

Handling of Patronage.

Everybody who knows practical politics realizes that a skillful handling of patronage questions is essential to party enthusiasm. The Wilson administration made its first real blunder when it delegated to the heads of the different Government departments the job of handling office-seekers.

Many of Mr. Wilson's Cabinet members were as unfamiliar with party politics as are some of Mr. Harding's secretaries. "The boys back home," who came to Washington to get jobs for hungry constituents didn't even know the Cabinet officers. They frequently were ignored altogether and didn't have personal interviews with the powers that were.

Mr. Harding is trying to avoid that kind of thing. He wants every party worker to be stimulated to keep on working. So he has placed the whole responsibility for appointments on the local Republican organizations which in turn must cooperate with the national Republican organization of which John T. Adams is the chief executive.

If the local Republicans make a poor recommendation or if the man they recommend turns out poorly, it will be a reflection on the local organization and the Harding administration will feel justified in the future in looking to other Republicans in that particular vicinity for political advice.

Working Organization.

But the thing which Mr. Harding is eager to have established is an effective working organization in which the local elements in the Republican party shall co-operate with the national headquarters. So John T. Adams will maintain permanent headquarters here and will move his family to Washington. He will be at the beck and call of the White House and will keep in close touch not only with party matters, but with the pulse of the country on public questions as reflected in talks with the pilgrims who wander in from day to day from various parts of the country.

Adams will probably do less traveling than his predecessor, Hays, largely because there is not so much necessity for it. He himself doesn't believe in "drives" and organization work when there is no fight in progress. He will keep in touch with what is going on, but will not start active campaigning until there is occasion for it.

The
U. S. ROYAL CORD
A famous tire—a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season. The stripe around the side-walls is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S. Patent Office.

When people saw through discount tires this was bound to happen-

If there are so many "standard" tires why all these discounts—20%—30%—40% off? Off what? What basis of value to begin with?

Why so much talk about discounts and so much silence about service?

* * *

To-day, "discounts" have proven just one thing to the public:

—That somewhere there is the standard tire—the greatest and most constant worth—the tire that all other tires can be measured by.

Any car-owner who intends to do standard tire-buying will find his best guide in the simple out-spoken remarks he hears everywhere.

"Going to get Royal Cords this year."

As people say everywhere
United States Tires are Good Tires

"Yes, I know—but the dealer said these were as good as Royal Cords."

* * *

The dominant public opinion for U. S. Royal Cords is all the more significant because every one in the tire business started with an equal chance.

It was open to any tire maker to set the standard.

And when more tires render a service measurable in terms of U. S. Royal Cords there will be more net tire prices—and less and less room in the tire business for "discounts".

$500 FINE FOR DEATH OF WOMAN BY AUTO

Attorney for C. L. Bishop to Appeal From Conviction in Death of Mrs Nickel.

A fine of $500 was imposed by a jury in Circuit Judge Hartmann's court today on Cadwell L. Bishop of 3668 Delmar boulevard, an automobile insurance representative, on a charge of manslaughter resulting from the death of a woman struck by Bishop's automobile. The jury's sealed verdict was opened at 10:30 a. m., having been prepared last night.

Mrs. Catherine Nickel, 47 years old, of 3129 Gravois avenue, was knocked down and run over by Bishop's car, which he was driving, the night of Feb. 10, at Virginia avenue and Osceola street, when Mrs. Nickel and her husband, Adolph Nickel, were about to get on a northbound Bellefontaine car. She died a few hours later.

Nickel testified that he and his wife were on the sidewalk until the street car came near, and that they, with several others who had been waiting, stepped into the street. He said he had seen the light of an automobile following the street car, and that he had supposed the machine would stop until the car was loaded. An ordinance requires drivers to stop under such circumstances.

Suddenly, he said, he saw the lights of the automobile glaring in his eyes, and was himself knocked down, while one of the wheels passed over his wife's neck.

Bishop testified in his defense that he did not see anyone in the street, his vision being obstructed by sleet on his windshield, and that he did not see that the street car had stopped until the accident occurred.

Charles M. Hay, Bishop's lawyer, said an appeal would be taken from the conviction.

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION TO MEET IN ST. LOUIS NEXT JUNE

Dr. E. P. North Notified of Selection of This City in Telegram From Dr. R. E. Schlueter.

Dr. Emmett P. North, president of the St. Louis Medical Society, was notified today that the next annual convention of the American Medical Association will be held in St. Louis next June. A telegram was received by him from Dr. Robert E. Schlueter, St. Louis delegate to the American Medical Association Convention now in session in Boston, informing him of the convention's decision yesterday.

Dr. North said today that the selection of St. Louis for the next convention was not only a recognition of St. Louis' high position in the medical world, but would also bring here the most important medical event of the year. More than 5000 physicians and surgeons from all over the United States and Canada, and some from Europe, will attend the convention, he said. The program of the convention will consist, to a large extent of papers by specialists on questions related to public health and the latest research in the fields of medicine and surgery, Dr. North said.

BROTHERS SUFFER BROKEN ARMS WITHIN HOUR OF EACH OTHER

Boys, 11 and 9, Receive Injuries Almost Identical When Playing in Carr Square Playgrounds.

Two brothers, Harold Ethridge, 9 years old, and Carl Ethridge, 11, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ethridge of 1517A Franklin avenue, suffered broken right arms within an hour of each other when playing in the Carr Square Playgrounds last night.

At 6 o'clock Harold fell from one of the sliding devices in the playgrounds and broke his right arm just above the wrist. He was taken by his father to the city dispensary for treatment and as they were leaving they encountered Mrs. Ethridge with Carl, who also had broken his right arm above the wrist shortly after his brother's accident when he slipped and fell while running. The boys were taken home after treatment and were attending their classes today at the Franklin School.

MOTION PICTURE OF HATCHING

By the Associated Press.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., June 14.—What is said to be the only motion picture of the hatching of a pelican has been made near Corpus Christi by Perry Sherman, on Bird Island. Sherman visited the island to film the sea fowl there. He found a pelican egg just hatching and took more than 100 feet of "close up," showing the baby bird emerging from the shell.

Neurasthenia—Nerve Starvation

A Disease of the Down Hearted—Practical advice on what to do.

Many a man is broken down and discouraged without having any actual disease in his organs and tissues—he has lost his grip, feels weak and nervous and everything looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease—Neurasthenia, or nerve starvation, due to overwork, worry, continual hurry and nervous strain. The longer this continues the more certainly will it end in real disease of his organs, his nerves or his mind.

Such a man should look on the simple foods, eat plenty of cooked fruit and green vegetables, sleep nine hours at night if he can, an hour in the afternoon and feed his starving nerves and weak, thin blood with a good nerve and blood food, like Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron contains a product brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Doctor Robin, which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force; it also contains genuine organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples.

Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be a real nerve and blood food since it supplies the principal ingredients demanded by your nerves and blood to give you strength, energy, force and endurance. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor of weak, wornout, down-hearted and nervous folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if it does not produce perfectly satisfactory results. For sale at all druggists.

71ST KROGER ROBBERY SINCE AUGUST, 1919

The seventy-first Kroger store robbery since August, 1919, occurred at 3 p. m. yesterday. An automobile was driven up in front of the Kroger store at 2500 North Taylor avenue. Two men got out and two stayed in. The two who got out went inside and pointed revolvers at the manager, Otto Lunte, 2246 Hebert street, and took $40 from the cash register. They then made Lunte go to the rear and lie down, with his face to the floor, climbed back into the machine and were driven away.

Man Robbed in Rear of Saloon Causes Arrest of Women.

James Roades, 57 years old, of Jerseyville, Ill., driving along Grand avenue at 3:30 p. m., discovered that his engine needed water and went into Clarence Hammond's saloon at Grand avenue and Dodier street. A man and two women were there. He asked for some water and they told him, he says, to come to the back of the saloon and get it. When he went back there the man, he says, pointed a revolver at him and took between $20 and $30 from him. The man called upon the women to help and one of them took his $30 watch. They then went away.

Roades climbed into his automobile and followed them to St. Louis avenue and pointed them out to a policeman. At the Clayton Street Station the man refused to give his name. He had $36 in his pockets. The women said they were Mary O'Brien, 21, of 1552 South Theresa avenue, and Florence Harris, 4125 Olive street, waitresses. They denied that they had ever seen Roades or the man who refused to give his name. The watch was not found.

Held Up by Three Negroes.

John Ashal of 104 East Twelfth street, Alton, reported to the police that three negroes held him up at 2910 Lucas avenue and took $60 from him.

Mrs. Edna Lewis, who runs a restaurant at 3008 Olive street, asked the police to find her man cook, who went away yesterday, leaving a note in the cash register informing her that he had borrowed from the register enough money to go and see his wife. Ten dollars and Mrs. Lewis' watch were gone. The note did not mention the watch.

Joseph Grzesiowski, who sells shoes at 1410 South Broadway, was selling some when two little barefoot girls came in and stood around. After they went away he found that $21.90 was missing from the cash register.

Several Burglaries Reported.

While Joseph Murphy was away from his home on the third floor of 1732 Franklin avenue the lock was picked and the canary let out of its cage and the cage and the alarm clock and a few other things carried away.

The homes of John W. Holba, 5465 Geraldine avenue, and Wesley Johnson, 1953 North Market street were entered while the families were away and $100 worth of jewelry taken from each.

INDICATION MRS. SOUTHARD MAY TAKE STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

By the Associated Press.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, June 14.—Possibility that Mrs. Lyda Southard, who was brought here from Honolulu to stand trial on a charge of murdering Edward F. Meyer, her fourth husband, would take the stand in her own defense in the preliminary examination was indicated yesterday when Probate Judge Duvall announced continuance until Thursday of the examination which had been set for yesterday.

Mrs. Southard's attorneys said that she appeared bright and hopeful. Attaches of the Sheriff's office, on the other hand, expressed fear that her strength was giving way under the nervous strain.

Union Electric's Dominant Policy Service & Safety

Back in 1917 Union Electric published in the papers and later in a little booklet a group of "Electric Service Editorials." On the front cover of the booklet were these paragraphs:

OUR PROGRAM

"Our dominant purpose has been and is to supply the St. Louis district with first-class electric service at its fair cost and not a penny more; to push the business until our service shall be used in every store, factory, shop, office, institution, home and farm; for every lighting, power, cooking, heating and other use to which it may be economically applicable, and to make St. Louis the best lighted city in America."

OUR POLICY

"Our business is a 'monopoly' only to the extent that the public's desire for most and best electric service at least cost makes it so. In every other sense Union Electric is a merchandising institution, like any other—dependent for its success upon the high quality and fair price of its services; upon the skill, courtesy and loyalty of its employes, and upon the ability of its management to forecast and provide for this community's steadily increasing electric service requirements."

Four years ago we had 88,000 electric service customers on our books. Today we have over 140,000—a gain of more than 50,000. Four years ago we had only a few St. Louis district shareholders. Today we have close to 6000. In these ways the people of the St. Louis district have shown their approval of the above program and policy. That program and that policy still control in this business.

During these four years we have financed most of our growth by selling Union Electric 7% preferred stock, at $100 a share, here at home. So far as possible, we intend to keep on financing growth this way. We are now selling, with the State's approval, the fourth $1,000,000 issue of these preferred shares. We recommend these shares as a thoroughly SAFE SEVEN PER CENT INCOME INVESTMENT. If it is not convenient for you to pay all cash, you can buy shares on a ten-monthly-payment plan that gives you 7% interest on payments made from your current monthly savings. By the time we have 200,000 customers we want 15,000 home shareholders, and we expect to reach that mark within three or four years. The St. Louis district's greatest growth is coming in the near future—and Union Electric intends to be ready to serve that growth as it comes.

URBAN FABER SCORES HIS 13TH VICTORY OF YEAR

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 14.—The proverbial jinx of No. 13 has no terror for Urban "Red" Faber, pitching ace of the Chicago White Sox, who not only overcame the date—June 13—yesterday, but triumphed over Sam Jones, who for the past two seasons has been beating the Chicago club as often as he started.

To be exact, the Sox won one game from Jones in 1919, but since then he had won six consecutive games from Gleason's men. The Sox ace Jones' number in the initial inning yesterday and batted him out of the box. The White Sox won the game, 6 to 4, and in so doing they cracked out a total of 13 hits and the Red Sox sent 13 men into the fray against Faber. The victory made it 13 wins for Faber this season. He has pitched 18 games so far and is charged with only three defeats.

Home runs have featured every one of the past 13 contests played in the Philadelphia American League park. Three of the four made yesterday were hit by the St. Louis team, which lost.

BENNY VALGER FLOORED BUT OUTPOINTS MORAN

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 14.—Benny Valger of New York gave Pal Moran of New Orleans a boxing lesson in 15 rounds, last night, before 5000 fans. Valger hit Moran with everything known to the ring, but never budged him, the local fighter coming in for more all the time. He dropped Valger in the seventh round with a hard left to the stomach, but could not finish him. Valger won thousands of friends here by his battle. He is the cleanest and best little fighter to show here in years. His judgment of distance was wonderful and the crowd cheered him many times as he made Moran miss and countered with a left jab. He had both of Moran's eyes closed and his mouth bleeding, but both were strong at the final gong.

Shaw and Benton Nines Play Final For School Title

Contest for Post-Dispatch Trophy and Medals Scheduled for Thursday.

The Shaw School will defend its right to retain the grammar school baseball championship and the Post-Dispatch trophy, emblematic of that honor, in a game against the Benton School team, another former winner, at High School Field Thursday afternoon. This contest will be the culmination of an elimination series which started in early spring and attracted teams from 50 schools.

The Shaw School, located at Columbus and Macklind avenues, gained the title in 1918. It has held the championship since that time because the last two schedules were not completed, due to the frequent postponements early in the schedules. Besides the team placque, which is a three-time trophy, the members of the winning club each will receive a medal from the Post-Dispatch.

The champions won the right to enter the final by virtue of their decisive victory over the Webster School yesterday afternoon. Webster assumed an early lead in the game, but after the Shaw artillery got to Pitcher Welch, the only matter of doubt was the ultimate size of the score. The game went seven innings, Shaw rolling up a 14 to 6 count.

Schreiner Hurls Uphill Game.

The chief figure on the victorious nine was Pitcher Frank Schreiner, the 14-year-old mound star of the public school league, who has been the brightest light in the Shaw play all season. Schreiner had rough going in the opening inning, but soon settled down to his task and held the opposition to six scattered hits and one base on balls.

The only time that Webster took an aggressive role was in the opening inning, when a single, a rousing triple by Catcher Casey, a hit batsman and an error resulted in three tallies. Casey, by way of comment, was the batting hero of the losing contingent, but his inadequate throwing arm allowed 13 stolen bases. The only thing that a Shaw player needed to reach third base was a trip to the initial sack. He pilfered the rest of the route.

Pitcher Welch did not fail to the extent that the score would indicate. Six errors that appear in the fault column hurt the Webster cause, and this half dozen does not include many other errors of omission. However, Welch was wild, and allowed seven walks to first base.

Shaw showed a well-balanced team that can field, hits hard and timely, and runs bases like nine demons. With Schreiner pitching his best Thursday, it will be a hard team to beat.

LEONARD AND FRIEDMAN PREPARE FOR JULY 4 BOUT

By the Associated Press.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., June 14.—Arrangements are being completed for the bout to be staged on the afternoon of Monday, July 4 between Sailor Friedman, Chicago lightweight and Benny Leonard, lightweight champion.

The ring in which Leonard will work has been completed and the layout, including a cottage nearby, is the same as that used by Jack Dempsey last year when he was training for Billy Miske.

Friedman is expected to arrive here Wednesday and has announced that he will begin training at once. The champion and his staff, including Joe Benjamin, the Pacific Coast lightweight, are expected to reach Chicago Wednesday or Thursday and, after training there for a few days, will come on to the camp here to finish the work.

JOY PLUS RAPTURE.

ALL roads now lead to Sportsman's Park
Where soon they'll have to stretch the ropes.
And one can easily remark
The burgeoning of pennant hopes.

The Cards are on a winning streak,
And on the foeman get the jump.
The while the Knothole rooters shriek
Their battle cry of "Can the Ump!"

The Cardinals are running third
And going a terrific gait;
On every lip their name is heard
Where human beings congregate.

The startled rooters rub their eyes
While gazing on the wondrous show
And wonder if they are the guys
They gazed upon a month ago.

Each night into the hay we creep
And cogitate upon the team—
So please go way and let me sleep

Three-Year-Olds Of 1921, Failures

Tryster, Prudery, Leonardo and Playeflow Have Yet to Prove Their Greatness.

NEW YORK, June 14.—New York racegoers are waiting rather impatiently for Jimmie Rowe to start Tryster again, to see if the early reports of his greatness has had any foundation, or if he is as bad a horse as he looked to be in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. The chances are they will have to wait. In answer to a question about Tryster and Prudery, Jimmie Rowe remarked a day or two ago:

"The horses are not doing well, and I will not start a horse that is not doing well."

Still, track gossip makes Prudery a possible starter in the Coaching Club stakes to be run Thursday.

As a matter of fact, horsemen here generally hold the opinion that the crop of 3-year-olds this year is notable principally for lack of quality. On performance, Grey Lag, winner of the Belmont stakes, the most decisive test for 3-year-olds in the East until the Realization is run, seems to be the best of a rather ordinary lot.

Rowe himself does not seem to be another of Man o' War and that his owner is reputed to have refused $100,000 for him will have the effect of making him a tight favorite, in his next start, but he has yet to prove greatness. His last win was in impressive fashion; but in the kingdom of the blind, the one-eyed man is king. The kind Playfellow has beaten thus far are the sort one would expect to win in a raffle. Not only has he not yet beaten a good horse, he has not even started against one.

He may be a credit to his parentage, Fairplay and Mahuba, and has a smooth way of going that makes a lot of experts believe he come through; but that remains to be demonstrated. As to Tryster, if he is really great, it may not be until August at Saratoga that he will be asked to prove his greatness.

Woody Brown, Arthur Reppert, Elmer Schwarz, Ted Drewes, Val Satterfield, Fred Josties and Howard Gautier are in the upper half. The lower half contains the names of Ray Epstein, C. Drummond Jones, Wray Brown, Ted Heuerman and Roland Hoerr.

According to past performances, Reppert should meet Schwarz or Drewes before the semifinals, and Josties should meet Satterfield in the fifth round. Hess is likely to oppose Epstein in this round.

C. Drummond Jones will probably meet either Hess or Epstein in a round before the semifinals. Brown and Heuerman will probably meet in one fifth-round match, while Lionberger and Hoerr should meet in the other.

All first and second round singles matches must be completed by next Saturday night. There will be plus awarded to the last 48 players in the tournament. The 16 players farthest advanced will receive gold pins, while the other two groups of 16 each will receive silver and bronze pins respectively.

Carpentier Violates Old Timers' Training Theories, but Condition Is Much Improved, Edgren Says

He Has Gained Six Pounds Since He Fought Levinsky and Now Tips the Beam at 174, Only Nine Pounds Less Than Dempsey Scaled for His Willard Fight.

By Robert Edgren.
(Copyright, 1921.)

MANHASSET, L. I., June 14.—Georges Carpentier is using a scientific method in his training, and, so far as I can see, the results are all he could wish for. He surely is in perfect condition, yet he is training in a way that would have brought Billy Muldoon or any of the old-time trainers of fighters down on his neck.

The old-timers used to send fighters out to do 10 miles on the road in heavy sweaters, have them punch the bag for an hour, and fight "trial" bouts of from 15 to 20 rounds shortly before the scheduled contest, to demonstrate their fitness. It was nothing unusual for a scrapper to go through a regular battle at the wind-up of his training.

But Carpentier is working on the theory of "conservation of energy." He has been boxing very little and will box less, as July 2 approaches. He'll train less and rest more.

Carpentier takes remarkably good care of himself all the time. He works to build himself up for this fight. He doesn't have to sweat out and throw off the effects of dissipation. Instead of losing weight as big fellows usually do in training, he has put on just six pounds since the day he boxed Levinsky here.

He has gained two pounds since beginning his training at Manhasset. Today Carpentier weighs exactly 174 pounds stripped. At Toledo Dempsey weighed 182, which is about three pounds under the weight at which he should be in best condition and traveling at top speed. He was a little too fine at Toledo.

Carpentier Seldom Extends Himself.

From Pierre Mallett, a friend of Carpentier's, who is in the camp and has followed his career for years, I learn that Georges never does extend himself to the limit when in training. He never presses himself to use full speed or hit hard when he puts through a hard blow he never presses the advantage. In all this system is exactly the opposite of Dempsey's.

Our Jack fights every day, when he's in training, and likes to have sparring partners who can wallop with him, take hard punches and hit him hard in turn.

Carpentier, says Mr. Mallet, trains for clean physical condition, good boxing judgment and as great a store of vitality as he can gather. He conserves energy for the battle itself. He never wastes it in training. And I rather think that he has a first-class system. I have known thousands of great athletes and scores of world's champions in many lines of sport. The best of them required little hard training. Some were able to go on a cinder track and run in world's record time or break jumping or weight throwing records with very little practice.

Ray Ewry, the world's greatest jumper, trained with a system much like Carpentier's. When going after the standing jump record he allowed himself only six practice jumps a day, and never extended himself to the limit. He charted his jumps and when the distance increased to within a certain number of inches of the record mark he knew that he could use the energy stored up by light training to add the distance necessary to make a record.

Ewry's Reserve Won.

There may have been other jumpers who had as great natural spring as Ewry, but they wanted to beat records in practice, and Ewry easily defeated them in the competitions because he had conserved energy for the event.

The result of Carpentier's method has been seen in his later fights, all won with quick knockouts. People who saw him knock out Bombardier Wells and Beckett described his action as explosive.

He was uncorking the energy he had saved to use when the moment came for a knockout. He will try to do the same with Dempsey, and it wouldn't be surprising if he shoots over a punch or two that will give Jack trouble.

Carpentier isn't worrying in the least—and his lack of nervousness is explained by his good condition. A man trained too fine is always nervous. Carpentier plays with his friends around the house, keeps up a constant fire of kidding with everybody, laughs as if he meant it, and seems full of pep.

Incidentally he has a first-class appetite. I played a round of golf with him a couple of days ago, and when we came back to the quarters lunch was ready exactly on the minute. Georges is very careful to have his meals at the same hour every day and lets nothing interfere with that part of his schedule.

Georges Careful of His Diet.

The sparring partners, Journee and Panama Joe Gans, ate right through the bill of fare, from relishes to cheese, but I noticed that Georges dodged the delicacies.

There were eight courses. Georges passed up the danties and ate meat, potatoes with cheese, salad, bread without butter, vegetables, drank a small bottle of what looked very much like good old porter, and when through sat at the table for a while and puffed lightly at a cigarette, while Manager Descamps looked on approvingly. I'll say that this puff or two after lunch is the extent of Georges' smoking. He never touches a cigarette at any other time.

Paul Journee, the big French sparring partner, who stands well above 6 feet 2, and weighs about 182 pounds, is to fight Charlie Weinert Saturday at Ebbets Field. Better not rest any judgment of Carpentier on Journee's showing against the clever Jersey heavyweight. Carpentier is in an entirely different class as a boxer.

Journee is big, has a strong neck and a bulldog's jaw, and looks the part; but he hasn't Carpentier's development, speed, strength or skill. In training bouts Carpentier handles him with ease.

CARPENTIER EXPECTS TO DROP DEMPSEY EARLY, IF HE MAKES ANY MISTAKES

MANHASSET, June 14.—Georges Carpentier, when he meets Jack Dempsey July 2 expects to land the first telling punch. In a conversation today with his friend and adviser, Capt. Mallet, he said that he would drop Dempsey if the latter made one single mistake.

"The challenger," Capt. Mallet said, "is not afraid and thinks that he has better than an even chance to win. If willingness, a clear eye and a deadly right hand, coupled with speed an endurance can win, Georges thinks he will be the world's champion.

"He realizes that Dempsey will be the best man he has ever met, but, notwithstanding, he is going in determined to do his best. If he loses he will take it like a man. Carpentier always before his big fights has expressed something of the sort I have just quoted and invariably his predictions have come true, although in many cases we have disagreed with him.

"In the fight with Bombardier Wells I personally thought that Georges would be battered to a pulp and advised Descamps not to consent to the match. But Georges settled the whole thing in the very words he had spoken with regard to the Dempsey fight. 'In fact Georges went down three times for the count of eight in the second round; the third was neutral and he knocked out Wells in the fourth. When he came to his corner then he said, 'I had an even chance and I took it.'"

TEXAS ATHLETES TRAIN AT URBANA, ILL., FOR COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIPS

URBANA, Ill., June 14.—Four members of the Texas A. and M. track team reached here late last night and today began training with the University of Illinois athletes for the National Collegiate track and field meet in Chicago, next Saturday. The men are Mahan, member of the Olympic team, and Dietrich, both javelin throwers; Weir, a sprinter, and Sanders, a middle distance runner.

32 PER CENT OF HITS IN MAJORS YESTERDAY GOOD FOR TWO OR MORE BASES

Thirty-two per cent of the safeties made in the eight major league games yesterday were good for a total of two or more bases. The swats totaled 182, and just 59 of these were extra base wallops. Included in the extra base hits were 30 doubles, 14 triples and 15 home runs.

In yesterday's tilts there were 95 runs, an average of 11.9 a game, while the safeties averaged 22.8 a battle.

In the American League there were 59 runs and 99 hits, with 16 doubles, seven triples and nine homers. The N. L. teams tallied 37 times, and rapped out 83 hits, among the safeties 14 two-baggers, seven three-baggers and six circuit wallops.

PHELAN MAY GET JOB AS TIGERS' HEAD COACH

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 14.—James Phelan will probably be named head coach of football at the University of Missouri within a week, it was learned on good authority, today.

Although Director of Athletics Z. G. Clevenger has made no announcement of a probable choice, Phelan is said to be the only man now under serious consideration and if he is chosen the announcement of his appointment will probably be made this week.

There will be no delay in organizing the coaching staff and making preparations for the fall campaign.

Phelan has been connected with the coaching staff at the university here for two years. In 1919 he was assistant football coach and scout and last year he was associate coach, directing the work of the Tiger line.

Dempsey Will Have to Be at Physical Peak To Win, Dr. Roller Says

NEW YORK, June 14.

IF Jack Dempsey is not a whole lot better on July 2 than he was the night I saw him fight Bill Brennan, this Frenchman I have just looked at here in Manhasset is likely to whip him.

Carpentier has a wonderful lot of speed both in his punches and his footwork. He is a clever, shifty boxer, he can hit hard enough to knock out an opponent, and from what I have just observed of him he is in perfect physical condition.

Although he is not quite as young as the champion, he is still young and is, I believe, an exceptional athlete. Of course the thing for him to do is to keep away from close quarters with Jack and use that fast right of his which has a lot of power behind it.

I believe the July 2 meeting will be a real fight, not a slaughter, as some people seem to figure it will be. Dempsey, at the top of his form, is the natural selection as winner; but unless he is faster and stronger than he was against Brennan, this fine looking French boy has a great chance to beat him.

GEORGES AND JACK ARE AS GOOD AS OLD-TIME FIGHTERS, KILRAIN SAYS

QUINCY, Mass., June 14.—Jake Kilrain, one of the last of the prize ring gladiators of bare-fist days, thinks that the best of the present-day boxers are as good as the best of the old school. Discussing the coming battle between Dempsey and Carpentier, he said he is far from regarding it as child's play, in comparison with the bruising of his own time.

"The fighters today are as good as they ever were," he said. "This Dempsey is a rugged customer. Carpentier has a head on his shoulders that will help his hands a lot, to my way of thinking.

"Things have changed, however. In my day we were keeping away from the police all the time. I notice today that the police keep the crowds away from Carpentier. Nowadays, new ways. But I believe the boxers of the present day have just as much endurance which, after all, is but a matter of training."

Kilrain is now a watchman at a building plant here. He regrets that he will not be able to see the Dempsey-Carpentier fight and recalls his bout with Jem Smith, the English champion, before 78 spectators in France, 34 years ago. This bout went 106 rounds and was adjudged a draw.

Former College Star Killed.

By the Associated Press.

OBERLIN, O., June 14.—Word was received here yesterday of the death several days ago in Duchesne, Utah, of Glenn C. (Crip) Gray, Oberlin football, baseball and track star. Gray was shot and killed while prospecting for oil by a deer hunter, whose view was shielded by underbrush. He came to Oberlin from the North Tonawanda (N. Y.) High School. For three years after he left Oberlin he coached at Washburn College.

Dempsey Weighs 196; Will Reduce To 190 by July 2

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 14.—Jack Dempsey was as cross as a Rocky Mountain grizzly bear yesterday. He barred all visitors, including a small army of newspaper scribes, from his camp. Jack just simply wouldn't talk or be talked to.

Dempsey hid himself away with brother Barney as the lone companion and pinochle and rhummy were the games that seemed to finally soothe his nerves. Eventually he dressed and came into town for a meander along the boardwalk.

Teddy Hayes, the faithful little trainer, did not look with concern on this attack of growls on the part of Dempsey. As a matter of fact, he was overjoyed that Jack was exhibiting symptoms of a grand grouch. It is the surest sign in the world that a fighter is right on edge.

The secret of Dempsey's real weight is out—out to a few close cronies. He got on the scales yesterday, and tipped the beam at just 196. That is exactly nine pounds heavier than his announced weight at Toledo, when he won the world's title from Willard. In view of the fact that he has done no boxing in over a week, it can easily be seen that when he resumes the weight-reducing exercise he will gradually get down to 190, the notch he has set for himself when he enters the ring against the Frenchman. There was no question about his weight yesterday. That was exactly what he weighed stripped, and sets at rest all the yarns about his running far over the 200 mark.

Easy Training Until Thursday.

Teddy Hayes ordered half speed from now on till Thursday. "I want to bring him down as easily and as gracefully as possible," said Hayes. "Jack would work his head off if we'd allow him to do so. He loves to bang away. There will be no boxing until Wednesday or Thursday. This will absolutely insure the healing of the cut over his left eye and prevent his overworking. He is right on edge, or almost so, and only the most careful watching will prevent his being ready ahead of time.

As things are going, he needs only enough boxing to sharpen his judgment of distance. He could defend the title tonight if he were asked to do so. If ever a man has rounded to nicely, Jack has in this training spell. No champon of the heavyweight division was ever better with a great fight only a few days off.

A great crowd followed the champion along the board walk today and be lived the part of Charles Dana Gibson's famous cartoon, "The Champion," except that instead of wearing the silk topper crushed down on the back of his head as depicted by Gibson, Dempsey wore a turned-down Bankok straw.

He stopped for a moment in front of the Alamac Hotel to chat with a few scribes and in a jiffy there was an absolute blockade on the board walk. Wheel chairs came to a dead stop as the crowd surged around the big champion, for a close-up. Two little tykes stole up behind him and felt the calves of his legs. Then they asked if it really was true that he was Jack Dempsey, the champion. Dempsey likes the tots and he sent these two away with grins a mile wide as he patted them on the head and complimented them on the depth of their little chests. Dempsey wore a cane on the walk today, causing an uproar among the board walkites.

BOB MARTIN WILL MEET CAPT. BOB ROPER FRIDAY

By the Associated Press.

TERRA ALTA, W. Va., June 14.—Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the A. E. F., has been matched to meet Capt. Bob Roper of Chicago at Grand Rapids, Mich., next Friday, it was announced here today by Martin's manager. Martin also will meet Frank Moran of Pittsburg in New York July 1, it was said.

"I'm in Perfect Condition at 174 Pounds, Will Enter Ring at 172"—Carpentier

By Georges Carpentier.
(Copyright, 1921.)

MANHASSETT, L. I., June 14.—I am back at hard work again after a complete rest over the week-end. Yesterday's exhibition for the newspaper men was merely to satisfy their curiosity in regard to my training and should not be taken as an example of the real work I am doing. Hereafter my chief workout will be in the morning, witnessed only by camp associates.

I wish to correct statements which appeared in yesterday morning's papers with regard to my weight. It was said by one writer, who pretended to know me, that I am 15 pounds lighter than when he saw me fight in Europe, and that I must be trained down to a shadow. I never weighed as much in my life, when in training.

Yesterday I weighed in at 174 pounds and am in perfect condition at that weight. That is five pounds more than when I met Levinsky and four pounds more than I scaled at the Beckett fight.

Descamps plans to keep me working along easily at this weight until two or three days before the fight, when I will take off two pounds and step into the ring at exactly 172. This is my best fighting weight. I can hit harder than I could hit when I weighed four or five pounds more than that.

After a day of complete rest and despite the heat, I slept like a baby, last night, for nine hours. This shows that I am in good condition and not worrying. I went for an hour and a half workout in Sherry Park, just across the road from my farm, leaving this morning at 7 o'clock. I walked along easily for a couple of miles and then sprinted and shadow boxed alternately. After this I kicked a football along in front of me. I prefer this to the road work which is part of the ordinary fighter's training. It was very pleasant in the park among the trees and preferable to pounding along the dusty roads. Yesterday afternoon I boxed with Marcel Denis, Journee and Italian Joe Gans.

DEMPSEY WILL NOT LAST TWO ROUNDS, IS "ASTRAL MESSAGE" TO NEWSPAPER

CHICAGO, June 14.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, will lose his crown to Georges Carpentier, when they meet in Jersey City, July 2, according to a message from the "Astral or Spiritual" world, received by a local newspaper.

Not only is he going to lose, but he is not even going to survive the second round, according to this information.

The writer says on May 21, 1921, a message stating that Jack will be beaten in the second round was received, Dempsey will receive a blow on top of his head or forehead which will knock him out and put him on the southeast corner of the platform, according to the message.

The writer stated he was not interested in boxing and could give no reason for the mystoical message.

While playing at Wyopia, he and former President W. H. Taft became close friends and Jones was a frequent visitor at the White House. Later he became instructor to Henry C. Frick. Jones was a native of England.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Trading on the Stock Exchange, while still active, showed some slackening off from the volume of business transacted on yesterday, while the tone was in general somewhat firmer. The oil and few scattered issues were subjected to further pressure in the morning and a number of new lows were forced, but it became evident that buying was becoming more difficult and in the afternoon the rails were higher by a point or two while grains predominated among the industrials. Renewed weakness during the last 15 minutes left the list irregular. Call money opened at 6 per cent and was lowered to 5½ at noon.

Exchange in Demand.

"European exchanges were in brisk demand today and showed almost uniform advances in price, sterling moving up 3⅝ cents to $3.76⅛, while French francs made a gain of 7½ points at 8.00 cents. Italian lire meanwhile gained 6 points at 5.14½ cents and German marks also showed strength in advancing 4 points to 1.48 cents. Altogether the market looked much more like that existing before the German reparation payments began to exercise their disturbing influence, and it seems fair to assume that the purchase of dollars on this account has been discontinued for the time being. At the prices showing no tendency to go lower, those short of the European currencies or having need for them in the normal course of business apparently decided to re-enter the market, and in some quarters the opinion prevailed that sterling is on its way back to the $4 level. Against this may be set the possibility that the present strength results principally from short covering and that German operations may be resumed at any time. Unless the Reparations Commission is willing to show its hand in the matter of the details of the program to which the Germans have been forced to adhere, prophecy regarding the future course of the exchanges is going to be an exceedingly difficult and hazardous affair.

Grain Prices Lower.

"Conflicting reports regarding crop conditions found their reflection in grain prices. In the wheat market, the July delivery suffered particularly, the price going as low as $1.23¼ and even after rallying 1½ cents still showing a net loss of 3¼ cents. September was less affected, losing ¼ of a cent at 1.27½. Allowing for these reactions, however, it is apparent that the rally of the two months is being very well held, and that by virtue of this rally the farmers' outlook and that of business in general has been quite materially improved. It is well to remember that at the bottom of the April slump July wheat sold for approximately $1. Trading in cotton continued lifeless, with prices tending to move slightly higher. July advanced 11 points to 12.29 cents the effect continued uncertainty regarding the foreign situation being offset by somewhat less favorable weather reports. A settlement in the British coal strike is still expected any day and it remains to be seen whether this event has been as thoroughly discounted as so many others have during the past few months."

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Yesterday's indications that the stock market had reached a turn were borne out by today's price movement. This did not refer indiscrimately to the general list. There were a number of points of special weakness which were a reminder that unfavorable news in the shape of dividend-cutting and poor earnings reports, still lies ahead.

But the greater part of the industrial list and a fair percentage of the rails continued to rally through the early part of the day in a manner to suggest that the speculative campaign for lower prices had been suspended because the experienced operators back of it realized that they were meeting with formidable opposition.

For a time the recovery was held in check by another outburst of selling in Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred. It was significant that they reached prices which put them on a level with other old-line rails paying 5 per cent. The weakness in the Hill shares caused some selling of other rails during the first hour. Then the buying was actively renewed in the industrial stocks, which had led the way in yesterday's rebound—Studebaker, American Woolen, Mexican Petroleum, Central Leather, the tobaccos and some of the oils. The steels and sugars went along with the rest, but more perfunctionarily, because their trade situation still appear a distance off from the turning point.

The main incident in the news of the day was a further reduction in the call money rate, this time to 5½ per cent. Such action has been foreshadowed, to be sure, by the free offerings of this class of funds in the outside market as low as 5 per cent. Still, coming the day before the heavy tax payments and distribution of Liberty Bond interest, it was a rather remarkable development. A fortnight ago there were many who were predicting considerable of a strain over the period. The explanation of the easing of the money market is threefold; first, the interior banks have ceased to draw down their New York balances as they were doing at the outset of the month; second, that funds involved in some of the recent syndicate offerings have now found their way back to active use, and, third, that the credit supply has been increased by the liquidation and heavy decline on the Stock Exchange.

Apart from the 5½ per cent money rate the whole interest of the day centered in the reversal in the stock market. Improvements spread to bonds, but only slightly.

The high prices of the day in the share were reached as a rule in the last hour. Studebaker continued the leader among the motors. The tobaccos were actively bought at rising figures. Cosden, Sinclair and Pacific were the most prominent of the low-priced oils. Railway shares joined in the recovery, as did stocks like the rubber and tire issues, and Pullman, which has been weak early in the day.

The Bond Market.

The bond market was generally stronger today, helped by the improvement in the stock list and by the decline in money rates. Inasmuch as railway bonds had been the ones to feel the most recent depression they were naturally the group to be most responsive to the recovery in the stock market. There was a good demand with half a point advances, in such issues as Chesepeake & Ohio convertible 5s, St. Louis & San Francisco adjustment 6s and the new Market Street Railway bonds. The Missouri Pacific 4s, Chicago Great Western 4s, the Rock Island general 4s and New York Central debenture 6s were all up a fraction. Southern Railway were an exception; they went slightly lower.

Considerable interest was taken in the announcement that the State government of New Jersey had rejected bids for $17,000,000 5 per cent bonds to provide soldier bonus funds and money for tunnels and bridges. The bids of 101 were almost as high as those which were accepted by New York State for its 5 per cent bonds last week. Yet the New Jersey authorities were dissatisfied and decided to advertise the issue again. It was reported that the $500,000,000 United States Government offering was still going very well, and taking tre course hoped for by the Treasury Department, namely, that a decided preference was being shown for the three-year 5¾ per cent notes over the one-year certificates of indebtedness. The only new issues of consequence was the $10,000,000 offer of General Petroleum Corporation 10-year sinking fund gold notes, bearing interest at 7 per cent and put out at 99¼.

There was little change in the Liberty group, the fourth 4¼s worked higher, while other issues were practically unchanged. Japanese 4s gained a fraction, United Kingdom 5½s of 1937 were steady at 84, while the French, Norwegian and Belgian issues were barely changed with the exception of the Belgian 6s of 1925, which went up following the recovery in French exchange. Packard Motors 8s lost some ground, touching 94½ as against 95 at the close yesterday. American Telephone and Telegraph 5s were in demand from 81¼ to 82.

Northern Pacific-Great Northern.

Action on the Northern Pacific dividend is expected tomorrow. There was very heavy selling in both Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred again this morning. Both stocks at one time sold 2 points under Chicago & Northwestern, the dividend on which was cut a year ago from 7 to 5 per cent, and 5 points under New York Central paying 5 per cent. Northern Pacific has not sold where it did today since 1900—the year before the historic corner—when the stock was paying 4 per cent.

COTTON PRICES ARE STEADY IN TRADING AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 14.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 10 points in response to better Liverpool cables than expected and report of firm tone in foreign exchange. There was scattered hedging on continued good weather in the South which caused some irregularity after the call, but spot houses were moderate buyers of July and the market held steady during the early trading, with October fluctuating between 13.17c and 13.22c, compared with 13.12c at the close yesterday. The market turned steadier later, on reiterated complaints of dry weather in the eastern belt, apprehensions of boll weevil damage during the summer, and reports that a good many contracts liquidated recently had been purchased by the trade. Offerings were light and only a moderate demand was necessary to send prices up to 13.28c for October, or about 14 to 19 points net higher on active months.

Trading was very quiet during the middle of the afternoon, with prices showing reactions of 6 or 7 points from the best under realizing. October contracts held around 13.20c, or about 8 points net higher.

CURB MARKET STEADY BUT TRADE IS SLOW

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The curb market was steady today, but business was materially below the average of recent days. For a time after the opening there was some irregularity in the recent active issues, due to selling by commission houses. Before long, however, short covering started among the traders who had been sellers in the past week or so. This resulted in an improved tone, with advances from the early levels.

Cities Service issues were erratic during the forenoon, susceptible to orders on both sides of the market. However, after midday supporting orders came in, some of the buying credited to insiders, and sharp upturns followed in all classes.

The Standard Oil issues were more active than in weeks, and some good upturns were recorded, the Ohio stock moving up and the New York shares advancing 19 points. International Petroleum was up a fraction and a better tone was shown in Simms Petroleum, Skelly, Producers and Refiners and Elk Basin.

Dealings were small in the miscellaneous list. Quotations for the motor shares were higher, in sympathy with the firmness shown in these issues on the Stock Exchange.

Car Lighting and Power met moderate selling pressure and yielded a fraction, and United Retail Candy was heavy. Sweets Company, United Profit Sharing, United States Steamship and a number of others were comparatively steady.

Improvement was noted in the mining list, with some of the low-priced issues making good advances.

Eureka Croesus, which was under pressure last week, was quite strong, moving up 6 points, and an advance of several points was recorded in Boston & Montana. National Tin held steady around its previous close.

8% for 20 Years

This summarizes the strong investment appeal of the new issue of $4,000,000 First Mortgage 20-Year 8% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series "A," of the Interstate Iron & Steel Company.

Each year, beginning May 1, 1924, at least $142,000 of these bonds will be retired by the company, thereby constantly increasing the security back of the remaining bonds.

$995 invested in this issue today will return to the investor a total of $2,600 by maturity—without re-investment of interest.

This is the type of sound first mortgage bond which will not be available after commodity prices have returned to lower levels and high interest rates have disappeared.

A full description of the issue will be mailed on request or handed to those who call for it. Orders may be wired at our expense, if you wish.

PRICES RANGE LOWER ON GRAIN EXCHANGE

All grain futures closed lower on the Merchants' Exchange today, wheat leading. The latter, however, were up from the low of day. Primary receipts were lighter than week ago. Cash wheat was 3c to 5c lower, while corn and oats also were down.

More favorable weather for harvest, reports of increased country offerings and the pending legislation at Springfield, Ill., affecting the Chicago Board of Trade were factors in the market. The export situation early also was reported slow, with indications that exporters did not show disposition to follow the advance.

July wheat opened at $1.32½, September wheat $1.23. July corn, 61c; September corn 63¼c.

St. Louis grain receipts today were Wheat, 44 cars local and 45 through; corn, 51 cars local and 16 through; oats, 33 cars local and 11 through; hay, 208 tons local and 93 through.

Clearances today were: Wheat, 106,000 bushels; corn, 584,000; flour, 104,000; wheat and flour, 574,000.

SHEEP—With an excessive run of lambs here, the estimate calling for 7000 the market declined sharply. Opening trade was about a 50-cent lower deal, but on the late market most sales were 50 to 75 cents lower and considering the heavier sorts more in spots. Top $11.25 on the early market and later $11. Bulk of sales from $10.50@11. Sheep steady at $3@4.

HORSES AND MULES—Notwithstanding materially reduced receipts, trading in horses has been on a lower basis this week, numerous transactions averaging $5 to $10 per head lower than last week or $15 to $25 under a month or two ago. Demand from the South is very narrow and though there is some call for Eastern horses, buyers from that section are extremely bearish. The run of mules has been light and market has held steady.

NEWS FAVORS BEAR SIDE AND WHEAT PRICES FALL

CHICAGO, June 14.—Favorable weather for harvesting had a bearish effect on the wheat market today, and so, too, did reports of increased county offerings. Misgivings about the outcome of voting on proposed anti-pit legislation at Springfield, Ill., tended also to make prices weaken. Houses with Eastern connections led the selling. Initial figures, which ranged from 1⅛c to 2⅛c lower, with July $1.37½ to $1.38 and September $1.25½ to $1.26, were followed by decided setbacks all around.

Subsequently reports of black rust in South Dakota rallied the market somewhat. It was said also that exporters were exchanging July for cash. The close, nevertheless, was heavy, 1⅝c to 4⅝c lower, with July $1.35¼ to $1.35½ and Sept. $1.25½ to $1.25⅝.

Corn gave way with wheat. After starting ⅜c to 1⅜@1⅝c down, including July at 63½ to 64¼c, the market continued to descend.

Reports that the crop outlook on corn was excellent emphasized the downward tendency later. Prices closed weak, 1⅜c to 2¼@2½c net lower, with July 62⅝c.

Oats were depressed by the action of other grain, opening ¼c to ½@⅝c lower, July 38⅝c, and then undergoing a further decline.

CHILD SWIMMERS FROM PANAMA REACH NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 14.—Twenty-two youthful athletes, with straight brown legs and sturdy chests, ranging in age from 7 to 12 years, have arrived in New York from the Panama Canal Zone. They are the Red, White and Blue Troop, children of American employes in the Canal Zone, who are visiting the United States for the first time to exhibit their prowess in the water.

There are 15 girls and seven boys in the troop, all dressed in blue and white—white socks and "sneakers" and duck hats for everybody, blue knickerbockers and white shirts for the boys, and blue skirts and white middies for the girls. They have been organized for two years under H. J. Grieser, United States swimming instructor for the Canal Zone, who chose the youngsters from thousands of young swimmers for his prize group.

The stunts these children can do—and have done for President Harding, Gen. Pershing and prominent naval officers—are remarkably daring. Alma Mann, 11, can dive from 40 feet above water, bound in rope, from which she extricates herself under water. She also does a back-jack from that height. All the children can swim with their hands and feet bound. Ten of the little girls swim locked together, using their arms and bobbing out of the water for air. The children have an average weight of 40 pounds.

Stanza, 33 years old, president of Stanza & Co., dealers in investment securities, Syndicate Trust Building, was sued for divorce today by Mrs. Lillian Lloyd Stanza, who alleged in her petition that he absented himself from home at unreasonable times and associated with persons objectionable to her.

Mrs. Stanza also seeks to enjoin her husband from disposing of his interest in his business until her alimony rights are determined. She asserts his income is $1000 a month and that he threatened to sell out and go to Mexico. The Stanzas were married Dec. 11, 1916, in Indianapolis, and separated Jan. 5 last. The city directory gives their address as 5455 Delmar boulevard.

MANY NEW YORK BANKERS GAVE TO NEWBERRY FUND

Stock Broker Testifies He Sent Money and Says Nearly All Banking People He Knew Possibly Did So.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Henry Ford's contest for the seat of Senator Newberry, Republican, of Michigan, threw the Senate committee hearing yesterday into a division as to how far the inquiry should go into charges connected with the financing of the 1918 campaign.

Lyman D. Smith, a New York stock broker, testified to having forwarded money in behalf of himself and others for the Michigan campaign, and stated that "nearly all the banking people I knew in New York" had possibly done the same thing.

Alfred Lucking, Ford counsel, demanded the right to check Smith's bank account, and the witness agreed, but Chairman Spencer, over the protest of Senator Walcott, Democrat, and minority members, said the committee would take the step under advisement.

"It is apparent we are not going to be allowed to investigate bank accounts in running down these charges," Senator Walcott said.

"We shall not subject any bank to investigation unless we have so decided in conference," Chairman Spencer replied.

New York Contributions.

Smith said he didn't want to repeat gossip, but that officials of the American Exchange National Bank were very anxious to see Newberry nominated and that the Chatham and Phoenix "might have" sent money.

Frederick C. Brooks, another New Yorker, explained that he had sent $2500 through Smith to the Newberry campaign, "doing for Truman (Senator Newberry) just what I think he would do in a similar position for me."

Two other financial men, W. C. Durant, General Motors Co. organizer, and Andrew H. Green Jr., vice president of the Solvay Process Co., also were examined, as was Fred P. Smith, business agent of the Newberry estate. Durant said he gave $5000, and Green explained his reason for paying Newberry campaign debts to the extent of "between $12,000 and $15,000" by saying that the "Democratic candidate (Ford) I didn't consider fit to represent the State of Michigan."

Tells of Checking Out $120,000.

Smith told of checking out $120,000 from funds of John S. Newberry (the Senator's brother) to the campaign committee and receiving back a "paper bag with $20,000 in it."

"I understand this was adjustment from the contributions received," he explained. Lucking demanded the canceled checks and records, but Smith said that when he started to look for them Saturday, "we found the vault unlocked and all the records gone."

Lucking drew from the witness an explanation that the Newberry family accounts were all under his charge, and that money had been drawn from all of them to pay into John S. Newberry's account "when it was overdrawn by the campaign demands."

The investigation adjourned until Wednesday.

RIOTING, WITH HEAVY FIRING, DISTURBS BELFAST TRAFFIC

By the Associated Press.

BELFAST, June 14.—Rioting, accompanied by heavy revolver and rifle firing, was renewed in the Clifton street area of this city early today. In authoritative circles it was asserted that rioting was organized by Republicans for the purpose of preventing the visit of King George to Belfast on June 22 for the purpose of attending the state opening of the Ulster Parliament.

Business men going to the center of the city from the suburbs this morning at 8 o'clock found themselves in the midst of a riot in Clifton street. The center of the disorder was adjacent to the Ulster military headquarters, which is flanked by North Queen street and the Carrick Hill Republican areas. Denizens of these districts waited for shipyard workers and opened fire.

Staid top-hatted merchants dodged about amid flying bullets. A lamp post behind which a newspaper man sought shelter was struck by bullets. Stenographers fled screaming from the battle zone, and tram cars, with their passengers lying flat on the floors, dashed past at record speed.

Policemen were hurried to the scene, but the rioting continued for some time, although at a more subdued pace. Worth street, adjoining Royal avenue, with the Shankhill district, was swept by bullets from Carrick Hill and Mill Field. Several thousand shipyard workers are reported to have been kept from their posts by the riot.

JAMES HOGAN, AWAITING TRIAL, CHARGED WITH DISTURBANCE

Policeman Testifies Man Accused in Pillow Murder Was Boisterous and Resisted Arrest.

James Hogan of 3035 Cass avenue, awaiting trial on a charge of complicity in the robbery of Erris Pillow, negro bank messenger who identified him and was later assassinated, was in police court today on a charge of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest.

When only one of three arresting policemen appeared to testify against Hogan, the case was continued to Thursday by Judge Mix, who said he would see President Miller of the Police Board about the absence of the other two policemen.

Patrolman Ryan testified that he and the other policemen found Hogan and several other men in Yeatman square, North Market street and Leffingwell avenue, using loud and offensive language. The others, he said, obeyed a command to move on, but Hogan said the policemen were not men enough to make him move.

Ryan testified that he struck Hogan on the head with his club. Hogan testified that he was talking with friends in the square, but denied they were using loud or objectionable language.

U. S. HOSPITAL TO PAY HIGHER RENT TO CITY

Counselor Reaches Agreement With Surgeon-General and Valuation Will Be Made.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—An agreement was reached today between Surgeon-General Cumming of the United States Health Service and City Counselor Caulfield of St. Louis, whereby the Government is to pay a larger rent on the city infirmary property at 5800 Arsenal street, which it took over under an emergency lease in November, 1918.

The Surgeon-General told Counselor Caulfield that he could not consider turning the infirmary back to the city, as the Government still needed it for the care of wounded soldiers. He agreed with the city's contention, however, that the rent should be based on the value of the property, and said that he would make an immediate recommendation to that effect to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Caulfield was assured that a valuation expert would be sent to St. Louis at once to determine the worth of the property, which the city places at $1,116,000.

Under the new lease to be entered into after this appraisement it is expected that the city will receive 5 or 6 per cent net on the valuation, though this phase of the matter was not touched upon at today's conference. The Government is now paying rent of $1000 a month on the property, which includes the main building and outbuildings of the infirmary and one unit of the isolation hospital.

Caulfield told the Surgeon-General that the city wanted the property turned back, or, failing that, expected a sufficient rental to enable proper provision to be made for its own patients. He said that the present lease, which was made on behalf of the city by Mayor Kiel and City Comptroller Nolte without the approval of the Board of Aldermen, was not legally binding on the city.

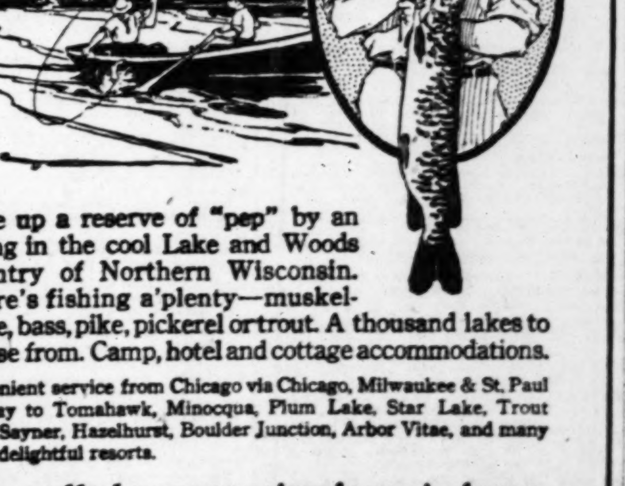

In view of the verbal agreement with the Surgeon-General today, the City Counselor said he anticipated no difficulty in the negotiation of a new contract satisfactory to the city and the Government. Signing of such a contract will end a controversy, which has twice brought Mayor Kiel to Washington in an effort to have the old lease canceled.

FEDERAL INCOME TAXPAYERS SLOW IN PAYING INSTALLMENT

Second Payment Due by Midnight Tomorrow With 20,000 Yet to Be Heard From.

With only two days remaining in which payments of the second installment of the Federal income tax may be made without penalty, more than 20,000 taxpayers, about two-thirds of the total number in this district, have yet to be heard from, Collector of Internal Revenue Moore said today.

Officials of the department said taxpayers this year were slower in making their payments than ever before, although notices were mailed out earlier than usual.

Failure to pay taxes due by midnight tomorrow will entail a penalty of 5 per cent of the total amount of the tax and will make the total amount due and payable at once. For each month the tax remains unpaid an additional 1 per cent will be charged and the Collector may levy on the property of the taxpayer to collect.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

E. E.—Negroes are eligible to enter West Point Military Academy, also Yale and Harvard.

J. R. F.—Ask among the sporting goods and department stores for the equipment for the game.

J. H.—There are 16 congressional districts in Missouri. The Ninth Ward of the city of St. Louis is in the Tenth Congressional District.

R. T.—Match stains on the woodwork may be removed by rubbing the surface gently with a slice of fresh lemon, then rinsing with clear water. Use a soft cloth for the subbing.

ANXIOUS READER.—Apply to the District Secretary of the United States Civil Service, Old Custom House, St. Louis, for detailed information concerning the examination for postal clerks.

L. R. S.—An ox-gall soap for cleansing fine silk stuffs, and which will not injure the most delicate color, may be made as follows: Heat 1 pound of cocoanut oil to 100 degrees F. in a copper kettle. While stirring vigorously add ½ pound of caustic soda lye of 30 degrees Baume. In a separate vessel heat ½ pound of white Venice turpentine and stir this in the soap in the copper kettle. Cover the kettle well and let it stand, mildly warmed for 4 hours, then raise the temperature again until the mass is quite hot and add the pound of ox-gall to it. Then pulverize some good, perfectly dry grain soap, and stir in as much of it as will make the contents of the copper kettle so hard that it will yield slightly to the pressure of the finger. One or two pounds of grain soap is sufficient for the given quantity of gall soap. When the soap has cooled, cut it and shape it into bars.

JOE DeB.—In waterproofing canvas, coat the canvas with a mixture of the three following solutions: (1) 50 parts gelatin, by weight, boiled in 3000 parts of water free from lime. (2) 100 parts alum dissolved in 3000 parts of water. (3) Soda soap dissolved in 2000 parts of water. A process which fills out the fiber so that the canvas is waterproof is as follows: Prepare a zinc soap by entirely dissolving 56 parts of soft soap in 125 to 150 parts of water. To the boiling liquid add, with constant stirring, 28 to 33 parts of zinc vitriol (white vitriol). The zinc soap floats on top and after cooling forms a hard white mass, which should be taken out. This must be remelted in boiling fresh water in order to clean it of admixed carbonic alkali. Next place 232.5 parts of raw linseed oil (free from mucus) in a kettle with 2.5 parts of best potash, and 5 parts of water. Boil this mass until it has become white and opaque and forms a liquid, soap-like compound. Then add 1.25 parts sugar of lead, 1 part litharge, 2 parts red lead; 20.5 parts brown rosin. Boil this all together about an hour, not allowing the temperature to exceed 212 F., and stirring well from time to time. Then add 15 parts of zinc soap and stir until the metal soap combines with the oil, the temperature not exceeding 212 F. When the mixture is complete, add a solution of caoutchouc, 1.2 parts, and oil of turpentine, 8.56 parts, which must be well incorporated by stirring. Coat the canvas first on one side with this composition, by means of a brush, maintaining a temperature of 158 F. Then hang the canvas up to dry, and apply a second layer of the composition possessing the same temperature.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(Prepared by a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

DORA W.—You should not have your landlady arrested. You can replevin your boards from her.

A READER.—You must cease living with your husband as a wife before you sue for a divorce.

DOT.—You can remarry immediately after securing a divorce in Missouri, but it would be wiser to wait until the end of that term of court.

A WIDOW.—You cannot be compelled to appear before the second Justice on the order of the first Justice without the serving of a new summons.

T. P.—There is no standard price or amount of royalty which an author receives on his books. Make the best bargain you can with your publishers.

MRS. J. M.—You can have your child's name changed to that of your second husband by a suit in the Circuit Court. You should consult a lawyer.

MABEL.—If a man is divorced in Kansas and remarries in Missouri, he is legally married. By getting a judgment in Missouri for the unpaid alimony the court can garnish his wages.

TENANT.—Your notice to vacate, served the night after the rent was due, is not legal, and you need not move until one month after you are served with a legal notice.

W. H. C. S.—You need not pay the advance in the rent unless you wish to do so, but the landlord can give you notice to vacate on Aug. 1, if you refuse to pay the advance.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

(Answers prepared by a physician of authority. Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Questions that cannot be publicly discussed, if showing evidences of sincerity, will be answered when accompanied by stamped envelope.)

WORRIED MOTHER.—We would advise massage, in order to develop the parts.

M. L. S.—The adenoids are far removed from the vocal chords, and the latter could not be affected by an operation for the removal of the former. We do not know why a 17-year-old girl cannot sing; there are a host of people who cannot sing at any age.

F. M. C. B.—We do not know the composition of the tablets mentioned, and hence cannot advise you. They probably contain thyroid extract or phytolacta, or both. We do not think drugs are safe or proper to be taken for obesity, unless possibly under a physician's care and direction. Diet and exercise are perfectly safe and effective.

FANNIE J.—We do not understand what you mean by "grooves" in the skin, unless you mean wrinkles. As you do not state your age it is a question of whether or not these are naturally to be expected due to advancing age and consequent skin changes. In any event we think systematic massage, using a good quality of cold cream, might be of assistance.

MRS. MILLER.—The ordinarily alleged violet rays are not in reality such, and such rays will not injure, neither do we think they are beneficial. The violet ray is invisible excepting under certain circumstances. Equal parts of coal oil and carbolic acid will kill bedbugs, as also will many of the insect powders on the market. Badly infested places should be fumigated with sulphur, and this is 100 per cent effective.

WOMEN'S

The Three Servitors

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

How One Family Has Kept Faithful Servants 57, 45 and 30 Years, Respectively by Kind Treatment.

AT Franklin, Pa., there live in a house three people whose record for servitude cannot be duplicated in any one home. They are Priscilla Jones, housekeeper, who has been with the family for 57 years; Mary Porter, the cook, who has spent 45 years in the same family, and Peter Greggs, the handy man, who has 30 years to his credit in the same household.

Needless to say this is a very unusual family. Not only this, but the members know how to keep servants, a very rare accomplishment.

"Why, they are hardly servants at all," said Dick, one of the family, a friend of mine. "And when I return from a trip I greet them with the same affection and the same gladness as I do the other members of the family.

"Whenever any of them wish to invite a friend to visit, they have their own apartments, and they are at liberty to do so.

"It is their home and they ... it as such. They are expected to do their work as best they can and ... do it. There is no friction, because each of them knows what is expected.

"They take an interest in the welfare of the family and perhaps therein lies the secret of it all," he concluded.

Priscilla Jones began as a maid in this home and did her work so well and so faithfully that she grew with the family and filled the most important place.

Could you get her away? Not for anything in the world. She has a neat little bank account and knows she will never want.

The same is true with the others. They are very contented and have no regrets. They do not consider themselves as servants, but rather that they are doing good work and each must do good work in the whole in order to get the best out of it.

In this day, when the servant question seems to be such a problem, one reflects with considerable interest on these three who have filled their places with credit and pleasure.

On all sides I hear housewives bitterly complaining about the dearth of help and how difficult it is to get good service. Naturally, everyone says there are two sides to the question, but when each has met his duty fairly and squarely, there is no ... er a question.

I am confident that Priscilla never insists that it is her Thursday out when unexpected company arrives at the house. She regards herself as a member of the family, and when the unexpected happens she is there to play her part.

I am sure that Peter Greggs, when he is told to do some new thing that has come up suddenly does not say "I was not hired to do this kind of work." He does it because he is working in the interest of the family.

I am also of the opinion that the housekeeper can be depended upon to take full charge of the house should any of the others be disabled at any time.

In other words, there is teamwork between all the members of the family and the servants, and where there is such co-operation in a household there is a sure solution of the servant business.

At the same time I know that ... not a member of the family is not considerate of any one of the three. When they are sick they are taken care of.

When anything goes on in the neighborhood of the church they are invited to participate. Should it be a hot afternoon, when the work is done and the automobile is not in use, the servants are given a ride.

They are not forever made to feel that they must "keep their place." They have a duty to perform every day and they perform it, knowing they are respected for it.

And above all, appreciation of comfort is in that home, and that perhaps the keystone that carries the entire works.

If only more of these ... could be encouraged on the part of both parties, very little trouble would be felt in domestic quarters.

It is true that many servants insist on so many rules and regulations that it is difficult, even impossible, to conform with them. They demand certain hours, certain periods and all the rest of the ultra-modern kind of service.

The successful home cannot be run on too rigid rules. Unexpected things happen and the servants might well conform with them if they do not come too frequently.

At the same time there are employers who expect too much; service becomes drudgery—too many unexpected things happen and the servants must give too much of everything. Moderation is the only element to be considered in this connection.

After all, the big human element enters into it and consideration covers it all.

The servant who really gives service and continues to hold her job can truly say with Stevenson: "I know what pleasure is, for I have done good work."

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

A QUARTER of an hour later he returned alone, cool and collected in the sweating throng. He took off his hat as he handed her three slips of paper. "This," he said, "is your ticket to the city; this is the Pullman, a lower, by the grace of God, and this is your baggage check. The lot, including the porter, cost 64 pesos, $32 American.

Miss Estes opened a small locked black trunk about six inches square, which she carried on one wrist, extracted the sum and handed it to him. He took the money, picked up her suit case, escorted her to her seat in the Pullman, bowed and disappeared. For 10 minutes the turmoil and commotion increased in a steady crescendo which seemed to demand nothing less than a thunderclap is a climax, but finally contented itself with the weak clang of a bell and an ineffectual toot. They were off.

Miss Estes looked through the car surreptitiously and then with undisguised anxiety. The young man was nowhere to be seen. What had become of him? In looking after her comfort, had he been left behind? What would he think of her? Not a word of thanks, not one! It seemed to her now astounding that for the first time in her life she should have been slow in conventional gratitude; she did not realize that training is largely dependent upon environment and that a young person even of the best antecedents is apt to succumb momentarily to the unseating powers of a thousand new sights, scenes and customs jumbled into a single, disconcerting whole.

Feeling suddenly deserted and very lonely, she tried in vain to interest herself in the featureless country through which they were passing, and finally dozing, to awake about noon in the hubbub of the station at Monterey. The train stayed there for almost half an hour, during which she stared with interest and loathing at the extraordinary assortment of food and drinks which was being peddled from filthy receptacles by filthier venders.

She could not know that peppers, onions and cheese rolled up in a tortillo, fried and drenched in a greasy sauce, were the well-known delicacy called enchiladas; that another tortilla bent into the shape of a canoe and filled with pieces of fried entrail and known as chalupas had made mouths water for generations; that chicharrones, pork hide cooked like our cracklings, also enjoyed a wide popularity, and that bits of meat and the lesser organs of the pig, chopped up and fried in the grease of the aforementioned chicharrones made an unfailing appeal under the name of carnitas.

She was glad when the train finally pulled out and had settled back to attempt another nap, when the porter touched her on the shoulder to attract her attention and laid a small parcel on the seat beside her. It was addressed to her by name. She stared at it curiously for a long moment, as is the way of a woman, then broke the string, tore off the wrapping and disclosed a fresh notebook, on the first page of which was written in a masculine hand, "Here's a new one, but please be more careful. Mark Ridenour."

Her face, lugubrious during many hours of loneliness, suddenly broke into an assortment of smiles. She rang for the porter and asked:

"Where is Mr. Ridenour?"

"In the drawing room, Miss," replied the old negro, with a broad grin at her relief upon finding that, true to the traditions of sleeping car attendants the world over, he spoke English.

For a moment she sat clasping her hands nervously, then she remembered that she was out for adventure and by no means inclined to be satisfied with anything so passive as the traditional still hunt allotted to "nice" women—hateful word, "nice." She arose, went to the door of the drawing room, and knocked.

"Come in," cried the voice.

She opened the door and disclosed Mr. Ridenour, in his shirtsleeves before a table, scattered cards, three pipes and a package of cigarettes. She glanced about the ample space of the small room and thought of the jammed knees throughout the rest of the car.

"How selfish!" she murmured.

"Yes," said Miss Estes, closed the door, and sat down facing him.

HE produced a second pack, sorted it out, shuffled, cut for himself, and dealt. They began to play, they kept on playing, they played for two solid hours. At the end of that time Miss Estes threw down her hand, jumbled all the cards on the table, and met Mr. Ridenour's mildly inquiring gaze with the full and belligerent stare of her fine eyes.

"Do you never stoop to questions?" she inquired in the carefully modulated voice of one asking for trouble. She felt her breast fluttering almost to betrayal with the thousand queries she had been putting to herself during the two hours of surface calm. What had happened to her personality? Had she none? Could nothing startle the mind of man? Was it true that only women are curious. What did this man think of her? Did women, nice women—darn the word!—habitually wander into his drawing rooms, invited or uninvited?

"I seldom ask questions aloud," he said finally. "A question is an invitation to a lie, conscious or unconscious. Few of us have the power to speak the truth, but we all tell it sooner or later."

Most people require an hour or more to catch the taste of red meat in any casual phrase, but Miss Estes was an exception. She had been so thoroughly trained in the school of persiflage that a speech burdened with a grain of genuine thought immediately stood out to view by the alchemy of contrast. Her eyes narrowed and studied Mr. Ridenour with an entirely new interest.

"You said something," she murmured, and added hastily, "I don't mean that for slang; you actually said something!"

Mr. Ridenour ruffled the cards, his eyes fallen to impersonal consideration of their telescoping backs.

"Has that happened to you so seldom?" he inquired, apparently in a mere effort to be obliging and ask a question, any question.

"Very seldom," replied Miss Estes, and promptly dismissed the side issue by asking, "Have you really no curiosity?"

"Curiosity?" repeated Mr. Ridenour. "That's a horse of another color—a piebald! I have loads of curiosity, and I generally satisfy it. You are Miss Hildegarde Estes, spinster, 24 years old, born under the egis but not quite under the pall of Boston; you graduated from society into war work; did well. Now you're bored and looking for excitement. As our British pals are wont to say, you are now inclined to 'chance your arm' in Mexico."

He raised his eyes, but dropped them quickly before the astonishment and dismay displayed in the girl's face. "I beg your pardon," he murmured. "That was cheap of me, and the worst of it is I can't tell you how I got the information."

Miss Estes stared at him fixedly, and as a deep flush rose slowly to his cheeks her eyes narrowed just as slowly to a look of concentrated shrewdness, surprising in one so young.

"You have read my record," she stated finally, "as supplied to the State Department, the Military Intelligence, and probably to various bureaus of the Department of Justice. That means you are an agent of sorts."

She measured the color that deepened in his cheeks and continued pitilessly:

"You are scarcely a professional; probably a volunteer recruit to the civilian auxiliary. You, too, felt the slump; you, too, were bored, and to save yourself from yourself, and perhaps too much money, you are also 'chancing your arm' in Mexico."

"You have a right to think me a novice," he said. "In my silly effort to show off I was guilty of the commonest and the most puerile of all the faults of secret agents. I am partially in your hands, Miss Estes, and it behooves me to throw myself entirely on your mercy. I have been down here before, many times. You will find me widely known as a mining engineer with highly legitimate local interests. I tell you, however, in the frankest and most abject confidence, that the principal object of this special trip is to secure an embezzler. Once I find him, it will take me about 48 hours to finish up."

"You say you've been here before," asked Miss Estes with curling lip, "and you expect to get justice in two days?"

"It's a certainty," replied Ridenour calmly. "I know a bunch here who are men in their own way; they deliver the goods at a price, but unfailingly. I shall produce justice through injustice. They'll chuck my prospect across the border where I say and when I say—at a price, of course. Now you know; the strong arm of the almighty dollar."

MISS ESTES' eyes gleamed. "Oh!" she gasped, "I believe you. I can't help it. It's the sort of thing I want to believe and that I came to see. Won't you let me?"

Ridenour laughed. "Why," he said, "there's simply nothing to see. I spot my man; I show him to the gang; I say, 'Wednesday's train at Eagle Pass;' I get the proper channel to send a code message, and it's all over as far as I'm concerned."

"And is there no excitement? None?" demanded Miss Estes despairingly.

"Well," conceded Ridenour after deliberation, "I have to find my man, of course. You never can tell."

"Take me with you," begged Miss Estes.

"Because you never can tell," he replied.

"But that's why!" insisted Hildegarde, her brown eyes filling with moisture in her eagerness.

He shook his head again. "You're too nice, too impeccable, too perfectly in good taste in a highly imperfect world, too lovely, too entirely conspicuous, and—and valuable."

"Paradise and prunes!" remarked Miss Estes in a voice suddenly gone hard. "You'll promise to take me with you, or when we land at the station I'll shout, 'This is Mr. Mark Ridenour, special agent, looking for an embezzler.' Somebody will understand, some reporter. Don't look at me like that. I mean it. Blackmail? Well, what of it? Do you think I came down here to fool around and lose time?

He kept his word. During their first few days and nights in the city he showed her the panorama of its varying life in a descending scale which keyed her appetite for adventure higher and higher as they penetrated into lower and still lower purlieus, until reason and desire cried aloud within her that a climax was overdue.

At first she had been filled with fears that Ridenour might trick her, show her tourist sights, take her back to the hotel, and then slip out to the real thing in the unsafe streets of the wee hours, but as she grew to know him better she looked back with shame at that time of doubt. From the first he seemed no less eager for her companionship than she for his, and she was at a loss whether to ascribe his interest to a growing personal regard or to a highly developed sense of the piquancy of playing bulldog to her charms.

She had offered to change her attire to suit his fancy, to give up powder puff and parasol, look dowdy, and, if need be, smoke cigarettes and at least appear to play the part that hotel lobby gossip doubtless ascribed to her, but Ridenour had only smiled, shaken his head, and said hurriedly:

"No, no. I like you just as you are, please. Let them stare but not touch, blast their eyes!"

He taught her two words in Spanish to say to any fifi, any slicked street worm, who might accost her while his back was turned, and after having occasion to use them several times and note their telling effect she teased him into translation.

"These idiomatic expressions aren't easily put into English," said Ridenour, "but the words mean, more or less, 'senile and decrepit old fool.' Said as you say them, they are better than a slap in the face. They lead not to combat, but retreat on the part of the enemy."

"I should say they do," murmured Miss Estes. "They work beautifully."

She thought over Ridenour's half explanation and felt an increasing respect for this man who hated to draw a complete map, who believed in letting you find things out at least in a measure for yourself. She had wondered more than once at his not whirling to meet with a blow in the good old provincial American style the forked whispers of some of the immaculate loungers who enlarged the slightest inattention of her escort into a chance for conquest. This was why. He had put a weapon into her own hands, a deadly weapon whose use need not lead to the soiling aftermath of a street row.

Thinking these thoughts as they sat at a small table in the crowded foyer of Sylvain's, her amazement can be imagined at feeling Ridenour's foot pressing hers meaningly under the cover of the board. She moved her foot; his pursued it, pressed it again with deliberate intention. Up to that moment he had never failed to embalm her in an atmosphere of absolute safety from himself; up to that moment she had trusted him blindly and had joyed in the semi-intimacies of a companionship stripped of every miserable convention, and yet kept clean and vibrant against some ineffable hour of fulfillment or disaster. She was no fool; she knew that there was no hope for an eternal impersonality between herself and Ridenour. They attracted each other too vitally for that. But to have the end come like this——

AN angry flush mounted to her cheeks. Ridenour saw it, snatched his foot away, turned red, arose, dropped a gold piece on the table, and said shortly, "come on."

He elbowed a way for her along the line of men crowded at the bar. They turned their heads without exception, smiled, murmured in her ear, but she gave them not the slightest heed; she was too intent on keeping pace with her escort.

As he emerged on the sidewalk he stopped to light a cigarette and blew the first full puff of smoke into the upturned face of a passerby, a face so peculiar that once seen it could not easily be forgotten. Its eyes were as long as pointed almonds, its eyebrows strangely slanted, but its cheeks were swarthy and the lips full. They were curved into a smile of amused cynicism. It was the face of a composition of the dregs of an assortment of races, but Miss Estes' attention was not riveted by any such involute deduction; it was fixed by the inscruable yet meaning glance which the almond eyes flung up at Ridenour, a glance which in itself was a strange mixture of derision, understanding, camaraderie.

It took but an instant for her to absorb this impression, but she had not had time to puzzle it out when Ridenour flicked the dead match, which he still held, over his shoulder in the general direction of a man who had followed them out of the restaurant. If the match was aimed, it was well aimed. It struck the stranger on the cheek.

"Are you suddenly determined to be rude to everybody?" demanded Miss Estes. "Your match hit that gentleman in the face."

"Did it?" murmured Ridenour coolly.

The stranger started at hearing English, glanced over his shoulder, but hurried on; the man of the almond eyes followed him; Ridenour kept his head down, his face hidden. Presently he dropped his cigarette in the gutter, shrugged his shoulders moodily, and walked on toward the hotel. For a moment Hildegarde hesitated, then she followed and joined him, but said nothing. She felt frozen within herself. She had heard of men who give way periodically to emotional and sensuous debauches as others to liquor, and, thinking only of the manner in which Ridenour had pressed her foot, she wondered if he could be one of these and if her prompt rebuff had induced his ill temper.

They walked in silence to the hotel, and on the following day Miss Estes excused herself by a note from accompanying him. She said she had a headache, but the truth was that she was by turns miserable and furious, unhappy at the thought that the royal road of vagabondage had dwindled so meanly, angry that this man with suddenly discovered feet of clay had established himself so deep in her regard and—yes, so near her heart—that she could not immediately dispossess him.

Still another day passed before she realized that intimacy in any degree has certain acquired rights, a realm of its own from which it cannot be expelled by the first vagrant doubt. She came to Ridenour a little wistfully as one who revisits the scene of a past happiness to look for remnants of hope. He glanced up from his morning paper, arose hurriedly, and drew her chair, but said nothing until she had ordered her breakfast; then he remarked:

"Well, I'm off. My man was nabbed this morning."

"At Laredo!" repeated the girl. Her eyes suddenly flashed. "Then you must have come on him over two days ago, when we—when we were together. Oh, why didn't you tell me? Why couldn't you?"

He smiled slowly at the accusation in her tones, then his face turned grave and he sighed.

"Heaven knows I tried to," he murmured absently. "I stepped on your foot, I blew smoke in the face of my ferret. I hit my quarry with a match. I was rude, if you will remember, very rude to a number of people."

Miss Estes' eyes opened wide. For a moment they held a vacant look; then a number of things poured into that void, flooded it brimfull and overflowing. Surprise, chagrin, self-scorn, and finally remorse and an aching tenderness tumbled one after the other into the dazed emptiness of her gaze and the sum of them looked uncommonly like an impending avalanche of tears.

"Oh!" she breathed with tremulous lips. "I was there and I didn't see it! I was worrying over a flea bite while I was being swallowed whole!"

The Daily Burgess Bedtime Story

The Little Prophet in the Tree

By Thornton W. Burgess

No privelege is quite so dear
As passing on a word of cheer.

"RAIN, rain, it is going to rain! Rain, rain, it is going to rain!"

Such a change as came over all those on the shore of the pond of Paddy the Beaver at the sound of that shrill voice! For a couple of minutes no one moved or spoke. Every head was turned in the direction from which that shrill voice came. In every face the look of dreadful fear gave place to one of hope.

Buster Bear was the first to move. He suddenly started off in a hurry in the direction of that shrill voice. Everyone but Paddy the Beaver and Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter followed. They were content to remain in the water, for of all the little people in the Green Forest they had the least cause to fear the Red Terror. They were even more at home in the water than on land, and they had known that the Red Terror could not reach them. So the glad news of that shrill voice meant less to them than to the others.

Buster Bear's twins, Boxer and Woof-Woof, followed close at Mother Bear's heels. They didn't understand what it all meant, for they had no idea whose voice it was; but somehow they felt less frightened. They saw that the others understood and were filled with hope, and so they felt better themselves.

They found Buster Bear standing up under a tree and looking up. From a branch a little above his head came that shrill cry: "Rain, rain, it is going to rain! Rain, rain, it is going to rain!"

"Are you sure of it?" asked Buster Bear. "If you are trying to fool us I'll climb up and shake you off that branch and that will be the end of you." Buster's voice was very deep and grumbly rumbly.

"Rain, rain, it is going to rain!" was the reply, and somehow there was such a joyous note in that shrill voice that there could be no doubt that it meant what it said.

The twins stared up at that branch with all their might, but they couldn't see anybody. It was just as if that shrill voice came from the branch itself. They stared and stared and stared, but nobody could they see. And still that voice continued to cry. "Rain, rain, it is going to rain!"

Then for a few minutes that voice was still. Suddenly the twins saw what had looked like a part of the branch come to life and make a flying leap to another branch, and at once that shrill voice repeated the glad news.

"Why—why—whyee, it is a little Frog!" exclaimed Boxer, rubbing his eyes to make sure that nothing was the matter with them. "Who ever heard of a Frog in a tree?"

"It is Stickytoes the Tree Toad," growled Mother Bear. "He really belongs to the Frog family, but he is commonly called a Toad, a Tree Toad. He ought to be called Tree Frog, for that is what he is. He lives in the trees."

Such a funny expression as there was on the faces of the twins when they heard this. They thought they knew all about Frogs, and had never seen a Frog more than two or three good jumps from the water. How could a Frog be up in a tree? They couldn't understand it at all. They couldn't understand how a Frog could live in a tree any more than they could understand how he could know it was going to rain. They fairly ached to ask questions.

But Buster was speaking again. "Are you sure, absolutely sure?" he asked.

"Sure, absolutely sure. Rain, rain, it is going to rain!" shrilled the funny little prophet in the tree.

Another Disillusioned "Red"

UNCOMMON SENSE

—BY—JOHN BLAKE

THE COVER SELLS THE MAGAZINE.

After that he may buy it for what is inside it. But unless the cover attracted him, he would probably never learn anything about the contents.

It may occur to you that in this respect you are considerably like a magazine.

You sell on your cover. After you are bought, or engaged, if you think "bought" is an offensive term, you can show the stuff you have got in you.

BUT you have got to make the first sale of yourself if you are hunting a job. If you are a salesman, or any sort of a business man, you have got to make repeated sales. All business and most of life is selling.

And every time the cover counts.

By cover we do not mean merely clothes, although clothes are of very material help.

We mean your manner, your adaptability, your personality, all that you have that appeals to people, and gives them faith in you.

If you shuffle into a man's office, refuse to look him in the eye and state your proposition in an uninterested fashion, you have a poor cover, and won't sell.

If you look well-dressed, clean-shaven, and can put up a straight, convincing talk, you have every chance of selling.

Devote your attention to your cover. Make it interesting and attractive, and a large part of your selling campaign will be accomplished.

Fully 60 per cent of the visitors last year at Yellowstone National Park were women and the greater number of these were unescorted. To look after the unescorted ones the park service has arranged for competent women attendants at the hotels and the camps, whose social duty it is to look after the welfare of the women visitors.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

OUR GEORGE.

When 'Arriet and 'Arry go
A-walking down the Strand,
Her handsome bowler-hatted beau
A-holding of her hand.
They see a sight that makes him grin
And sets her mouth ajar,
And that is Colonel Harvey in
His new Ford car.

When 'Arriet and 'Arry sit
Of evenings in Hyde Park,
By way of having just a bit
Of what they call a lark,
They see a flivver past them spin
And she says, "Wot is that?"
And he says, "Colonel Harvey in
'Is 'igh silk 'at!"

We may not have Ambassadors
With whiskers two feet long,
Long-winded, tedious, pompous bores—
That isn't where we're strong.
But we've the lads who've made us win
And put us where we are,
And one is Colonel Harvey in
His new Ford car.

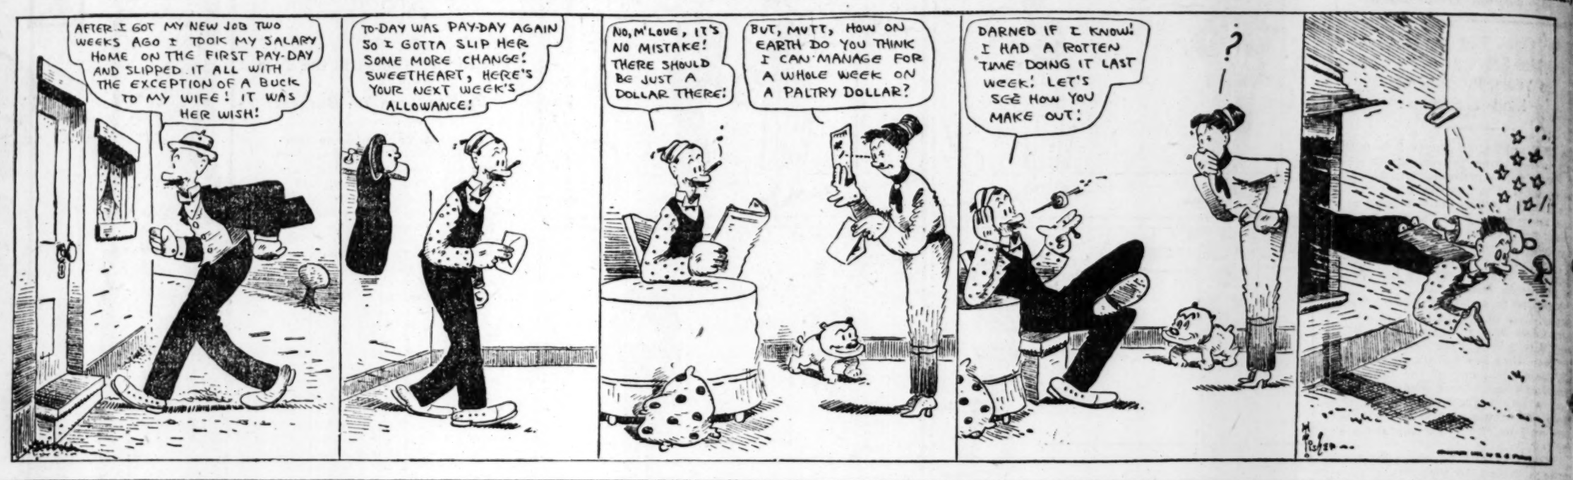

We may not have persuasive gents
To talk in foreign courts,
Who wield tremendous influence
And wear the pants called "shorts,"
But though we lack in clothes and "chin"
We have one diplomat,
And that is Colonel Harvey in
His high silk hat!
